This book is published in order that the State Societies whose limited membership prevents them from issuing a State Register may have a representation before the American public equal to those State Societies having a more numerous membership.

It is hoped that the wide distribution of this work will be the means of inducing its readers to become members of the Society which it represents.

While it is in no wise a complete history of the Society or its aims, it does contain the entire list of the membership of the National Society to December 31, 1901, including deceased members, with their line of descent from their Revolutionary ancestors. This alone will make the work a valuable one, and it will be used as a standard book of reference for many years to come.

DEDICATION

To the members of the National Society Sons of the American Revolution this book is dedicated, with the hope that it will instill in them a desire to live up to the patriotic principles the Society represents, and lead other eligible men to become members of the Society.

WALTER SETH LOGAN.

PRESIDENT GENERAL NATIONAL SOCIETY S. A. R.

WALTER SETH LOGAN, son of Seth Savage and Abigail Serene Hollister Logan, was born April 15th, 1847, at Washington, Litchfield County, Connecticut. Mr. Logan is connected, directly or indirectly, with all the prominent early families of Connecticut, as these families frequently intermarried.

John Logan, the founder of the Washington family, was descended from a long line of Scotch barons, deriving their name, Celtic in origin, from the ancestral home, Logan, in Ayrshire. He came from the North of Ireland with the Gordons, Kassons, Keigwins, Parkes, Wylies, and other Scotch Presbyterians, under the leadership of the Reverend Samuel Dorrance, a graduate of the University of Glasgow. Their party, after experiencing a great many unusual difficulties, came from Marblehead Harbor and Boston to Connecticut, and, buying up the Volunteer grants at Voluntown, formed the nucleus of the Presbyterian Church at Ekonk Hill.

Matthew Logan, Jr., the grandson of this John Logan, born at Washington, married Laura Sanford, daughter of Sergeant Strong Sanford, a soldier of the Revolution and the son of a soldier of the Revolution, as well as of the Colonial Wars, Elihu Sanford.

The name of Seth Savage Logan, the father of the subject of this sketch, is traced back to Seth Grant, of Hartford. His wife, Abigail Serene Hollister, is descended from several Revolutionary heroes, being the daughter of Sherman Hollister, son of Captain Gideon Hollister (4), the son of Captain Gideon (3), son of Captain Stephen (2), son of Lieutenant John (1) Hollister, Sherman Hollister's wife being Patty Nettleton, with two descents from the Baldwin family of Old Milford, and one each from Burwell, Whitmore, etc.

Mr. Logan also has double descent from the Rev. Thomas Hooker, the fighting preacher, founder of Hartford, Connecticut, and Rev. Roger Newton, of Farmington. Through Joanna Treat, the wife of Lieut. John Hollister, Mr. Logan is descended from Richard Treat, one of the original settlers of Wethersfield, Connecticut, who represented that town in the first General Court of 1637, and in the Royal Charter of Charles II. was named as one of the patentees. He is also descended through Rebecca Sherman, the wife of Captain Gideon Hollister, Sr., from the Sherman family, of which Roger Sherman, one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, and General and Senator Sherman were distinguished members.

Walter Seth Logan was prepared for college in the Suffield Institute and the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute. He was graduated from Yale in 1870, from Harvard Law School in 1871, and Columbia Law School in 1872, in which year he was admitted to the New York Bar. Entering the law office of James C. Carter, he became the assistant of Mr. Carter and Charles O'Conor in the famous Jumel will case, thus beginning under the most favorable auspices a career as a lawyer that has been full of successes and honors. He has been prominent in Mexican as well as in State and National legal disputations, and is readily recognized as one of the foremost men in his profession.

In addition to his professional labors he has found time to devote to literary work on economic, historical and other popular subjects. Among his essays and addresses are "The Siege of Cuautla, the Bunker Hill of Mexico," "An Argument for an Eight-Hour Law," "Nationalism," "Peonage in Mexico," "A Mexican Law Suit," "Saxon and Latin Courts," "A Permanent International Tribunal," "Needed Modifications of the Patent Laws," "The Limitation of Inheritances," and "A More Socialistic State."

Mr. Logan has been a leading spirit in the several reform movements of New York City, and was Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Ballot Reform Association of New York State in 1887-1889, whose work has resulted in the present improved condition of our ballot system, greatly reducing the frauds so prevalent under the old system. An ex-president of the New York State Bar Association, he is a prominent member of the American Bar Association, chairman of one of the most important committees, and at present a vice-president of the association. A member of the Manhattan, Democratic, New York Yacht and many other clubs and organizations, legal, social and literary, and a liberal patron of the arts and sciences, he has also been active in the various patriotic societies of the land, participating in many of their celebrations as an orator. A member of the Society of the Colonial Wars, of the Founders and Patriots, and President of the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, he counts as one of the greatest honors he has received his recent election as President General of the National Society.

He was married in 1875 to Eliza Preston Kenyon, of Brooklyn, New York. They have three children, Hollister (Yale, 1900; Columbia Law School, 1902); Janette (Smith, 1905); and Walter Seth Logan, Jr.

Fraunce's Tavern, where the National Society, S. A. R., was organized, April 30, 1889.

HISTORY

OF THE

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

THE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION is a patriotic organization composed of the lineal descendants of those colonists who took part, on the American side, in the Revolutionary War against the British. Its purposes are to perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men who achieved American Independence, by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution, and the publication of its results; the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries; to carry out the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people 'to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the diffusion of knowledge,' thus developing an enlightened public opinion, and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens; to cherish, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom; to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for all mankind the blessings of liberty.

Membership in the Society is limited to lineal adult male descendants of ancestors who participated in the Revolutionary War against the British, either in a military, naval or civil capacity.

There is a National Society, and within it, and under its direction and control, are the various State Societies. The National Society came into existence only after a number of State Societies had been organized. It is their creature. As the original States existed before our Federal Union was formed, so the various State Societies came into being before the formation of the National Society. It grew out of their desire for a more perfect union.

The Sons of Revolutionary Sires was the first of the modern State patriotic Societies. It was planned and instituted October 22, 1875, at San Francisco, Cal., three thousand miles away from the scenes of the struggles for American Independence. Composed exclusively of lineal descendants from heroes and statesmen of the American Revolution, its constitution provided for "auxiliary" branches, coequal Societies, and a national representative body. Copies of this constitution were sent out all over the United States, together with circulars and bulletins of its proceedings. This California Society was the pioneer of the modern hereditary, patriotic Society, and its influences led to the formation of all of them.

Some of these constitutions, with the circulars and bulletins of the California Society, were sent, year by year, to residents of New York City. The California movement excited interest in the East, but California was a long way off, and had never been even heard of at the time of the American Revolution, and there were those who felt that Societies of this class should not be formed in the East as the child of a Society in California.

In 1883, however, a few men in New York City met and organized an independent Society there, called "Sons of the Revolution." Thus the seed planted by California had sprouted at last in the metropolis. The new Society was small in membership, and at first intended to be purely local, but finally it also adopted a constitution providing that Societies might be formed in other States, each of which should be an "auxiliary" branch. That expression, "auxiliary branch," adopted from the California Society's Constitution, was an error of judgment, now at last confessed, but long persisted in. It was that word "auxiliary," and that alone, which led to the creation of two sets of Societies. A Society of Sons of the Revolution was organized in Philadelphia in 1888, although refusing to be "auxiliary" to New York.

This movement of 1883 awoke fresh interest in the subject of patriotic Societies in the East, but the word "auxiliary" prevented gentlemen in New England and others of the original thirteen States from organizing Societies of their own. Massachusetts, Connecticut, and other States each supplied far more men for the American Revolution than New York. A natural pride prevented those States from being "auxiliary" to New York. For about five years, therefore, these two Societies in the East and the pioneer Society in California were all there were of these modern Societies.

In 1888 a few New Jersey members of the New York Society of the Sons of the Revolution proposed to form a New Jersey Society. The New York Sons told them they would be recognized as an "auxiliary" Society, and not otherwise, and, further, that they had better join either the New York or Philadelphia Society anyhow, and not have one of their own. These patriotic and enterprising Jerseymen then went to work. In the spring of 1889 they organized, by correspondence and personal visits, State Societies of Sons of the Revolution in New Hampshire, Vermont, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, Arkansas, South Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee. The object was to organize a National Society—mark the name—of Sons of the Revolution, in which each State Society should be a coequal sister organization, and none of them "auxiliary" to any other. They never dreamed of forming a new organization. Their whole purpose was to bring sufficient influence to bear to induce New York to repeal the "auxiliary" article in her constitution.

If, when the New Yorkers heard of this movement, they had promptly met and repealed the "auxiliary" article, there never would have been two sets of Societies. No one wanted two sets of Societies; no one thought of it. But what did the New Yorkers do? They actually met and adopted a new constitution, in which the "auxiliary" article was made more explicit, and more binding, thus ignoring the patriotic sentiment and natural pride of every sister State, and declaring war upon any movement having for its object the equality of the different State Societies. By making all the other States "auxiliary" to New York, the annual election of national officers would have to be held in New York, and would always have been controlled by the local members.

A National Convention was called, to which every existing Society was invited, and delegates attended from thirteen out of the twenty, including the original one in California, with persons present from New York and Pennsylvania. The convention assembled in the historic "Long Room" of Fraunce's Tavern, where Washington, on the 3d day of December, 1783, had said farewell to his brother officers of the Revolutionary Army.

Mr. McDowell, of New Jersey, called the meeting to order. After a permanent organization had been effected by the election of Mr. McDowell as chairman, and Lieutenant James C. Cresap, United States Navy, as secretary, remarks were made by several gentlemen present, all in favor of the organization of a National Society. Various influences and considerations suggested the necessity of such an organization to those present. To be sure, the various State Societies had come into existence for patriotic purposes. But these patriotic objects could be best furthered and carried out under a national organization. The ancestors, whose deeds were to be commemorated, did not belong to any special State or section of the country, but were claimed by the nation as a whole. A Congress, made up of delegates from all the Colonies, had drafted and promulgated the Declaration of Independence; an army composed of patriots from all the Colonies had carried out the sentiments of that Declaration and achieved American Independence, and a union of all the American Colonies, under a central government, had preserved the rights so secured. A motion was made to proceed with the organization of a National Society, and that a committee be appointed on constitution and by-laws, and to nominate permanent officers to consist of one delegate from each State. While this motion was being debated, the Pennsylvania delegates took the floor and urged that all the Societies should become "auxiliary" to New York. This was debated for a long time. Pennsylvania was asked if her Society was "auxiliary" to New York. She replied "No." The convention then refused point blank to agree to the "auxiliary" relation to New York. Not one State in that whole convention would agree to that proposition. The New Yorkers refused, for their part, to recognize the others as "sister" Societies, and both Pennsylvania and New York took no further part in the proceedings. The question, What shall be done? then arose. The convention was there, in actual session, acting in behalf of eighteen States, including the original Society in California. The delegates felt deeply the injustice of an attempt to impose an un-American style of organization upon a Society which should be pre-eminently American in all its sentiments, objects, and framework, and especially to try to control, in this manner, a movement which New York had not even originated. After discussion, before adjournment, the convention organized as a National Society, taking the name of Sons of the American Revolution. Our national organization thus began its existence with eighteen State Societies, while the Sons of the Revolution had only two; and every one in the eighteen soon thereafter adopted the title Sons of the American Revolution.

Now, after twelve years, the members of the National Society may well contemplate its progress with pride. It is composed of men of various political opinions; men in army and navy life, men eminent as statesmen, jurists, merchants, bankers, preachers, and in every honorable walk of life; all of the men who take pride in their descent from those Revolutionary sires who, by the sacrifice of energy, wealth, and even life itself, founded this great Republic. Among its distinguished members are our late President, William McKinley; the President of the United States, Theo. Roosevelt; the Commanding General of the Army, Nelson A. Miles; the Admiral of the Navy, George Dewey; Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, David J. Brewer; the United States Ambassador to France, Horace Porter; the late United States Ambassador to Spain, Stewart L. Woodford; ex-Vice-President, Levi P. Morton; United States Senators, Chauncey M. Depew, John W. Daniels, Marcus A. Hanna, Henry C. Lodge, Orville H. Platt, and Redfield Proctor. Also, Generals Simon B. Buckner, Frederick D. Grant, A. W. Greeley, Chas. King, Thos. M. Anderson, Wm. R. Shafter, J. C. Breckinridge, and Joseph

Wheeler. On May 1, 1901, the organization consisted of thirty-nine different Societies in the United States and France, with the following membership:

Arizona	26	Minnesota	300
Arkansas	24	Missouri	114
California	323	Montana	27
Colorado	110	Nebraska	79
Connecticut	993	New Hampshire	280
Delaware	55	New Jersey	408
Dist. Columbia	427	New York	1,205
Florida	35	Ohio	425
France	30	Oregon	116
Hawaii	58	Pennsylvania	314
Illinois	522	Rhode Island	255
Iowa	149	Tennessee	81
Kansas	152	Texas	36
Kentucky	80	Utah	57
Louisiana	44	Vermont	267
Maine	365	Virginia	60
Maryland	180	Washington	119
Massachusetts	1,400	Wisconsin	227
Michigan	356	Total	9,909

The phenomenal growth and progress of the Society has been due to the fact that at the very beginning it was organized upon the broad American principle of one National Society, divided into coequal sister and State Societies, and the latter subdivided, to some extent, into local branches or chapters; and to the further fact that the Society was the only one that admitted no man to membership unless he was a lineal descendant of a patriot of the American Revolution. The wisdom of these provisions has been so apparent that the Sons of the Revolution have, since the events of 1889, repealed the "auxiliary" article in their constitution, and still later have abolished their long-cherished provision for admitting collateral descendants. Because of the strict requirements for membership, and spirit of our members, an exceedingly large number of men of high social position and national reputation have joined our Society in all parts of the country. Our application blank has been adopted by all the different Societies of Sons and Daughters of the Revolution.

MOVEMENTS TOWARD UNION.

Almost immediately after the adjournment of the first National Convention, the board of managers of the Sons of the American Revolution took active measures looking to a union of the New York and Pennsylvania Societies of the Sons of the Revolution with our National Society. Committees were appointed, headed by John Lee Carroll of the Sons of the Revolution, and President General Horace Porter of the Sons of the American Revolution; a basis of union was agreed upon, and the conference committee's report of December 22, 1892, was unanimously signed by every member of that committee. In accordance with that report, a joint meeting was held on February 16, 1893, in the city of New York, at which it was expected that the union of the two Societies would be perfected. To the surprise of the Sons of the American Revolution, at the last moment the Sons of the Revolution refused to accept the report, and the plan of union failed.

The failure of the congresses of 1893 to bring about a union did not, however, put an end to the movement. The cordial relations existing between individual members and individual State Societies of the two general Societies gave evidence of the hearty sentiment still existing in favor of an amalgamation, and the belief entertained by the Sons of the American Revolution that the action of the Sons of the Revolution, on February 16, 1893, did not represent the prevailing sentiment of that Society, led them to make another attempt at a union. At a meeting of the Sons of the Revolution, held in the city of Savannah, on the 20th of April, 1896, a resolution was passed inviting a conference for the purpose of effecting a union.

This action of the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution was followed by the Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, at its meeting in the city of Richmond, April 30, 1896, which passed a resolution accepting the invitation of the Sons of the Revolution to this conference. The action of the two congresses in 1896 resulted in a correspondence conducted by the general officers of both Societies, but to no purpose, and the scheme for union was again postponed.

Matters remained in statu quo until April 19, 1897, when the General Society, Sons of the Revolution, at its meeting in Philadelphia, adopted resolutions appointing a committee of five to act with a like committee, which they requested should be appointed by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. The resolutions provided that "these two committees of five each shall constitute together the above-named joint committee of conference on basis of union, which shall consider the constitution and plan of union of 1893, and all proposed changes thereto, and come to an agreement, if possible, respecting a new general constitution, and a plan of union between the Societies. Each constituent committee of five shall report to its own general assembly the results of the conference, together with its own recommendations respecting them." They provided for an adjourned meeting of their assembly, to be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, October 12, 1897, and requested the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution to appoint a similar committee, and to hold a meeting of its congress in Cincinnati, Ohio, on October 12, 1897, at which time the reports of the joint committee should be received by the respective bodies. A committee was accordingly appointed by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the joint committee, thus appointed, worked assiduously during the next few months, and when the two national bodies met in different rooms in the Grand Hotel in Cincinnati, October 12, 1897, the constituent committees presented to their respective national bodies and recommended a plan for union and a form of constitution for the new Society, which was signed by all the members of the committee representing the Sons of the American Revolution, and by four of the five members of the committee representing the Sons of the Revolution. The convention of the Sons of the American Revolution, after a full discussion of the plan, adopted it by a rising and unanimous vote at their morning session. The Sons of the Revolution, after a vigorous discussion, which lasted all day, adopted the plan by a close vote, six of the general officers voting "no."

The plan adopted provided that it should be submitted to the various State Societies for approval, and should go into effect when adopted by a majority of the Societies of each organization. Thirty-two of the State Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution voted in favor of ratifying the plan. One rejected it; one did not take any action at all, and no reports were received from four. The Sons of the Revolution rejected the plan by the following vote: Seventeen against union, six in favor of it, and two not voting. Accordingly, the proposed union failed for the third time to become effective.

GROWTH AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

The history of the Sons of the American Revolution as a National Body begins with the convention held at Fraunces' Tavern, in New York City, on April 30, 1889. By the constitution then adopted the National Society was to be made up of the presidents of the State Societies and delegates elected by such Societies.

CONGRESS OF 1890.—The first year of the Society's organization numerous meetings of the board of managers were held, and the work of instituting State Societies was taken up and prosecuted with such vigor that at the meeting of the first congress at Louisville, Ky., April 30, 1890, ten new State Societies had been organized, making a total of twenty-eight, with a membership of twenty-five hundred. The constitution was revised, and after being engrossed, was signed by all the delegates present. The session of this congress closed with a banquet, in honor of the delegates present, given by the Kentucky Society, and presided over by Governor Buckner.

CONGRESS OF 1891.—On the 30th day of April, 1891, the second annual congress of the National Society was held at Hartford, Conn. The attendance was large, and the delegates were full of enthusiasm. Governor Buckley welcomed the delegates at the opening of the congress. Full and interesting reports were received from the State Societies and from the officers of the National Society. The question of unity with the Sons of the Revolution was considered, and such steps taken as led eventually to a conference of committees of both Societies looking to a union. At the close of the congress the Connecticut Society entertained the delegates with an elaborate banquet, at which many eloquent and patriotic addresses were made.

CONGRESS OF 1892.—The third annual congress met on April 30, 1892, in the Governor's room in the City Hall in New York City. The use of this room was secured to the Society by special permission of the city authorities; it was decorated appropriately for the occasion. Eighty-nine delegates were present, representing twenty-two States. The report showed thirty State Societies, with a membership aggregating three thousand five hundred and three. The reports of the officers and of the State Societies showed that the order was in a prosperous condition, and that its influence was not only increasing, but that its methods were becoming better understood, and its records and those of its members were being perfected to a degree scarcely to have been expected when it was organized. The usual amount of routine business was transacted, and upon the adjournment of the convention a banquet was served at Delmonico's by the Empire State Society, at which the Honorable Chauncey M. Depew acted as toast-master.

CONGRESS AND CONCLAVE OF 1893.—Early in 1893 the National Society received an invitation from Illinois State Society to hold its annual congress and the first Triennial Conclave of the general membership at Chicago, on June 16th and 17th of that year. In order that the constitution should not be violated, the board of managers, on April 30th, held a pro forma session in New York City, at the office of General Horace Porter, Pres. Gen., and then adjourned to meet at Chicago on the 16th day of June. At this pro forma session certain constitutional amendments were proposed and referred to the special committee on revision of the constitution, appointed in 1892.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

On the 16th day of June, 1893, the adjourned session of the congress met in the Art Institute in the city of Chicago. There were present eighty-five members and a large number of compatriots from Illinois and other State Societies, as well as a number of Daughters of the American Revolution. Twenty-nine State Societies were represented. The reports of the various officers showed that the Society was in a prosperous condition, and that its membership had increased to four thousand one hundred. After the election of officers for the ensuing year, the congress adjourned to become the guests of the Illinois Society at a banquet given at the Union League Club at Chicago, at which the Honorable Henry M. Shepard, President of the Illinois Society, presided and welcomed the congress to Chicago. Various other toasts were responded to by prominent members of the Society.

First Memorial Conclave.—On the following day a thousand or more of Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution assembled at the Music Hall on the Exposition Grounds to celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill. The members of the congress were seated on the platform. Gen. Horace Porter presided and delivered the opening address, after which addresses were made by Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, and William Wirt Henry, of Virginia. Adjournment was then had to the Casino for lunch. In the afternoon a spirited meeting was held by the Daughters of the American Revolution in the Woman's Building. At this meeting addresses were made by Gen. Porter, Hon. Henry M. Shepard, and also by several of the more prominent Daughters of the American Revolution, after which refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned.

Congress of 1894.—The fifth annual congress of the Society convened in the city of Washington on the 30th day of April, 1894. Twenty-seven State Societies were represented. The report of the registrar-general showed that the Societies had been organized in Iowa and Pennsylvania during the year, and that the membership of the Society had increased to four thousand five hundred and ninety-two. During the noon recess the delegates marched in a body to the White House, where they were received by President Cleveland in the East Room, each delegate being presented to the President by General Porter. In the evening the District of Columbia Society tendered a reception to the delegates and their ladies and others, in the parlors of the Arlington Hotel. General J. C. Breckinridge, President of the District of Columbia Society, welcomed the guests, and during the evening addresses were made by General Porter, Judge Whitehead, of New Jersey; Senator Hill, of Connecticut; Judge Good, of Virginia; Mr. Weeks, of Pennsylvania, and others.

Congress of 1895.—The sixth annual congress met in the old South Meeting-house, in the city of Boston, on May 1, 1895.

Twelve hundred new members had been added to the rolls. A committee on National Legislation was appointed to take charge of all business, both of the National and State Societies, requiring action in the United States Congress. It was also resolved to try to secure the publication in book form, by Congress, of the records of service, which were then being indexed at Washington, and also to request the various State Societies to take steps for the general observation of Flag Day, June 14th, in the several cities and municipalities within their respective jurisdictions.

In the evening the members of the congress were the guests of the Massachusetts Society at the Hotel Vendome. After a reception in the parlors of the hotel, two hundred and fifty Sons of the American Revolution marched to the dining-hall and enjoyed a repast of marked excellence. The day following was devoted to an excursion to the battle-fields of Lexington and Concord.

Congress of 1896.—The seventh annual Congress was held at the city of Richmond, Virginia, on April 30, 1896, President General Horace Porter presiding.

The registrar-general's report showed a total membership of seven thousand seven hundred and eighty-three. Various routine business was transacted, and in the evening a banquet was tendered by the Virginia Society at the Hotel Jefferson, at which William Wirt Henry, President of the Virginia Society, presided.

Congress of 1897.—The eighth annual congress was held October 30, 1897, at Cleveland, Ohio. Edward S. Barrett, Vice-President-General, presided. The reports showed that the number of State Societies had increased to thirty-six, with one Society in Hawaii, and that the total membership of the order had increased to eight thousand nine hundred and ninety-six. In the evening the Western Reserve Society banqueted the delegates at the Hollenden Hotel. At this banquet James M. Richardson, president of the Ohio Society, presided. On the following day the Daughters of the American Revolution tendered the delegates a reception at the Colonial Club.

Congress of 1898.—The ninth annual congress of the Society was held in Lafayette's rooms, adjoining Washington's headquarters, at Morristown, N. J., on the 30th day of April, 1898. The reports showed an average annual increase in the membership of the Society, after deducting losses by death and otherwise, during the nine years of its existence, of one thousand and twenty, and a total membership of nine thousand one hundred and forty-one. At the close of the congress the delegates were entertained at a banquet given by the New Jersey Society.

Congress of 1899.—Detroit, Michigan, was the meeting place of the tenth annual congress. The delegates assembled on May 1 and 2, 1899, in Philharmonic Hall, Vice-President-General Franklin Murphy presiding. A message of congratulation was cabled to compatriot George Dewey. The official reports showed that the membership of the order had increased to nine thousand six hundred and ninety. April 30 being Sunday, an evening church service was held, at which Chaplain Rev. Rufus W. Clark preached a sermon. On Monday afternoon Louisa St. Claire Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution tendered the delegates a reception at the Hotel Cadillic. On Tuesday evening a banquet was given at the Russell House, at which Thos. W. Palmer presided, and toasts were responded to by prominent members of the order present.

Congress of 1900.—The eleventh annual congress met at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, in New York City, April 30 and May 1, 1900. President-General Murphy presided. The reports of the various general officers were read, from which it appeared that the past year had been a generally prosperous one with all of the State Societies. A steady gain in membership had been made, the total active membership being nine thousand six hundred and seventy-one. Several amendments to the constitution were adopted. A banner for the Society was provided for. In the evening a banquet was given in the ball-room of the Waldorf Astoria, at which Hon. Walter Seth Logan acted as toast-master. Many patriotic and enthusiastic speeches were made by prominent and distinguished members present.

Congress of 1901.—The twelfth annual congress was held at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, on April 30 and May 1, 1901. President-General Breckinridge presided. From the reports of the general officers, it appeared that the State Societies had enjoyed great prosperity during the year, and that they had accomplished much good, patriotic work. The registrar-general's report showed that the total active membership of the Society was nine thousand nine hundred and nine, enrolled in thirty-nine State Societies; that during the year Maryland had printed a large quarto volume of muster rolls, and that some lists had been published by South Carolina. The National Flag Committee reported that they had secured the passage in six States of laws preventing the desecration of the national flag by using it for advertising purposes, and that such laws now existed in eighteen States.

The convention also determined to recommend that the Congress of the United States cause to be erected in Washington, D. C., such a memorial to the heroes of the Revolution as would give fitting recognition to the deeds of valor and self-sacrifice which characterized the early struggles of our ancestors to achieve independence and establish our republic. A resolution was also adopted providing that the board of managers shall proceed with the publication of the register without any expense to the National Society.

During the afternoon of May 1, 1901, the literary exercises were held in Carnegie Music Hall, at which addresses were delivered by prominent members. In the evening the delegates were the guests of the Pennsylvania Society at a banquet given in their honor in the ball-room of the Hotel Schenley.

Within the compass of this work it is possible to give but a brief account of the proceedings of the annual congresses of the Society. What the Society has accomplished can best be shown by the following extract from the address of President-General Horace Porter, at the annual congress in Boston, May 1, 1895:

"This Society has made so much progress throughout its existence that you may pardon me for alluding to some of the salient objects which have been accomplished.

"This Society secured from Congress a law under which the records of service in the Revolution in the Executive Departments in Washington have been indexed and placed in a fireproof building in the Smithsonian Institute. That is the very basis upon which we found the membership of this Society, the thorough search of these records giving the assurance that the credentials are ample for every compatriot that enters this organization.

"It has secured from Congress a law authorizing officers of the regular army and navy, who are members, to wear the badge of this Society on ceremonial occasions. That has a deeper significance than you may suppose. In France and other European countries the laws do not authorize any one to wear publicly any decoration or badge unless it is in some way authorized by the person's government, and we think that under this law this Society will be the only one entitled to wear publicly its badge.

"Some time ago we secured from the New Hampshire Legislature the construction and public dedication of the same statue of that grand old hero, General John Stark.

"It was this Society which originated the beautiful custom of Flag Day, setting aside June 14 as the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as our national ensign for such celebrations.

"It obtained from the New York Legislature the passage of a law forbidding the display of foreign flags upon public buildings unless the official representatives of a foreign power are guests of a city or the State; and the Governor, who promptly signed that law, is a member of this order.

"Its members promoted the construction and took the place of honor in the dedication of the great monument to the heroes of Bennington.

"In 1893 it took the most prominent part in the celebration of the laying of the cornerstone of the National Capitol, September 18, 1893, when William Wirt Henry, the grandson of the great Patrick Henry, was selected from this Society as the orator of the day.

"It has stimulated interest in the American Revolution by more than two hundred public celebrations of anniversaries of important events.

"It has preserved, as a permanent historical monument, the headquarters of Jonathan Trumbull, old brother Jonathan, in Connecticut.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

"It has initiated the movement, of which we must give the entire credit to our honored Massachusetts Society, of the plan of marking the graves of the patriots of the American Revolution with bronze and iron markers.

"It has advocated the passage of a law by Congress forbidding the desecration of the national flag for advertising purposes, and has promoted the general display of flags on public schools.

"It has promoted historical research, by offering to each of a large number of American colleges, for annual competition by the students, a large and handsome silver medal for the best essay upon 'The Principles Fought For in the War of the American Revolution'; also to schools a silver medal and a bronze medal to certain scholars.

"It has saved, by means of a law that has been passed by the New York Legislature, from desecration, the old historic building, known as City Hall, in New York City.

"It has built an expensive monument at Dobbs' Ferry, to commemorate the spot where Washington and Rochambeau planned the Yorktown campaign.

"It has presented national flags, portraits of Washington and prize medals to large numbers of schools and academies in different parts of the country.

"It has contributed, by the energetic efforts of its members, to the appointment of April 19 as Patriots' Day in Massachusetts, in the place of the old Fast Day.

"It has secured appropriations from the Legislature of Maryland and private individuals for a splendid monument in Baltimore, to the men of the American Revolution.

"These are only some of the steps which have been taken by this Society."

From the various annual reports of the registrars-general, various other work that the Society has accomplished appears. Through the Society's efforts the government has compiled from the musters and pay-rolls and records found in the various departments, and so indexed as to render them readily accessible, the records of nearly 350,000 Revolutionary soldiers. These records have been supplemented by copies of additional rolls in the possession of original States. It is proposed to print these as soon as the search for lost rolls is completed. This work has been done by the Record and Pension Office of the War Department, and that office will promptly and gladly give, upon application, the record of any individual soldier found there.

State officials have discovered many most valuable records, supposed to be irretrievably lost. In the New York State archives at Albany, original rolls have been discovered, containing many thousand names, which go to show that that colony furnished upward of 43,500 soldiers for service in the Revolution. The names of these soldiers have been printed in a volume issued by the State Comptroller. Many rolls have been discovered in Maryland, and Massachusetts is, at the present time, publishing a record, in detail, of the service of each and every one of her Revolutionary soldiers. This Society's archives, which are in the registrar-general's office, are of very great genealogical importance. They contain over 12,000 application papers, filed since this Society was founded. In these papers are recorded the names of more than 50,000 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of more than 20,000 of the active participants in the Revolutionary War, from whom the members of this Society claim descent. Here, too, the deeds of those soldiers and patriots are told in a more complete and graphic manner than in the muster-rolls or pay-rolls. The result is that many whose deeds of bravery and daring were almost forgotten, now live in the active memory of their descendants in this great American patriotic organization.

OBJECTS OF SOCIETY.

THE objects of this Society shall be . . . to carry out . . . the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American People."—Article II. of the Constitution of the Empire State Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

"The Unity of Government, which constitutes you one people, . . . is a main pillar in the edifice of your real independence. . . . The name of AMERICAN, which belongs to you in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discriminations. . . . In contemplating the causes which may disturb our Union, it occurs as matter of serious concern that any ground should have been furnished for characterizing parties by geographical discrimination—Northern and Southern, Atlantic and Western. . . . . To the efficacy and permanency of your Union, a government for the whole is indispensable. . . . The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitution of government; but the constitution which at any time exists, until changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all. . . . Resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles. . . . Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party. . . . The habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another. . . . If, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the constitution designates; but let there be no change by usurpation. . . . Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. . . . Promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. . . . As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. . . . Observe good faith and justice towards all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all. . . . Inveterate antipathies against particular nations and passionate attachments for others should be excluded. . . . Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake. . . . The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible. . . . Taking care always to keep ourselves, by suitable establishment, on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies. . . . The duty of holding a neutral conduct (in case of war between foreign nations) may be inferred from the obligation which justice and humanity impose on every nation, in cases in which it is free to act, to maintain inviolate the relations of peace and amity towards other nations."—Washington's Farewell Address to the American People.

CHARTER OF ..... CHAPTER, No. .....

OF THE

.....STATE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Libertas et Patria.

To (Insert names of Charter members.)

Members of the ..... State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, Greeting:

Whereas, In pursuance of and according to Article IV., Section 3, of the Constitution of the NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, and also in accordance with Article .. of the Constitution of the said ..... STATE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, you have made application to the Board of Managers of said State Society for authority to form a Chapter, to be called and known as (Insert name of Chapter), to be located at ..... in the County of ....., and of which you are to be members; and,

Whereas, The Board of Managers of this Society, by resolution passed, at a meeting of said Board, on the ..... day of ....., 190...., granted said application,

Now, therefore, know ye, that reposing especial trust and confidence in your patriotism, the ..... STATE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION does by these presents authorize you to form a Chapter of this Society within the territory of the County of ....., to be known as ..... Chapter, No. ....., of the ..... STATE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION; and we do further authorize and empower you to associate with yourselves such other members of this or of any other State Society as may now, or hereafter, reside within the said territory; and, as a Chapter, to adopt such Constitution, By-Laws, and Regulations as do not conflict with the Constitution and By-Laws of the National Society or of this Society. All members of this or of any State Society residing within the territory aforesaid shall be eligible to membership in this Chapter; but any member who shall be suspended, expelled, or in any way lose membership in the State Society, shall thereupon cease to be a member of this Chapter, and no person shall be admitted who is not a member of a State Society of THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

It is your sacred duty to revive and keep alive, especially within your territory, the spirit of pure and unselfish patriotism, which inspired the Fathers of the Republic, and diligently to promote the lofty aims and objects of this Society, as set forth in the Constitutions of the National Society and of the ..... STATE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, to the end that our country may be preserved free, independent, and united; that enlightened constitutional government may be maintained, and that peace and happiness, truth and justice, liberty and fraternity may be established among us for all generations.

{ L. S. } Given under the seal of this Society, this ..... day of ..... in the year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and ....., and of the Independence of the United States of America the One Hundred and .....

INSIGNIA OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

MADE BY TIFFANY & CO., NEW YORK.

INSIGNIA.

AUTHORITY has been given by Congress to the officers and men of the United States Army and Navy to wear the Insignia of the "Society of the Sons of the American Revolution," "Society of the Cincinnati," "Sons of the Revolution," "Society of the War of 1812," "Aztec Society," "Loyal Legion," "Grand Army of the Republic," etc.

The joint resolution of Congress is as follows:

1. Joint Resolution granting permission to officers and enlisted men of the army and navy of the United States to wear the badges adopted by Military Societies of men who served in the War of the Revolution, War of 1812, the Mexican War, and War of the Rebellion.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the distinctive badges adopted by Military Societies of men who served in the armies and navies of the United States, in the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, and the War of the Rebellion, respectively, may be worn upon all occasions of ceremony by officers and enlisted men of the Army and Navy of the United States, who are members of said organizations in their own right.

Approved, September 25, 1890.

On November 18, 1890, the above was published to the United States Army in General Orders, No. 133, and on April 25, 1891, the following decision of the Acting Secretary of War was made public:

"Officers of the Army who are members by inheritance of any of the societies referred to in the act of September 25, 1890, published in General Orders, No. 133, of November 18, 1890, from this office, are entitled to wear the badges adopted by such societies on occasions of ceremony."

The Insignia, suspended from a heavy blue and white and buff watered silk ribbon, is conceded to be the handsomest military badge in America. It is made by Tiffany & Co., of gold, with blue and white enamel, of one size only, and may be had upon application to the Registrar.

INCORPORATION OF NATIONAL SOCIETY S. A. R.

On January 17, 1890, the National Society was incorporated in the State of Connecticut, through the efforts of its first President, Judge Deming. The national character of the order having made its incorporation by the national government desirable, identical bills were introduced into Congress on April 9th, 1890, by Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, and on the 10th by Congressman McAdoo of New Jersey, for that purpose. They were referred to the Committee on the Library, which promptly reported back to both houses in favor of its passage. The bill is as follows:

A BILL TO INCORPORATE THE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Be it enacted, etc., That David D. Porter of the District of Columbia, William H. Arnoux and James Otis of New York, William Seward Webb and Theodore S. Peck of Vermont, Timothy Dwight, Lucius P. Deming and J. Coddington Kinney of Connecticut, Rutherford B. Hayes and Wilson L. Gill of Ohio, Wade Hampton of South Carolina, Simon B. Buckner of Kentucky, John B. Gordon of Georgia, Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, Robert S. Green and William O. McDowell of New Jersey, Edwin S. Barrett and Luther L. Tarbell of Massachusetts, John G. Morris, James C. Cresap and W. Francis Creager of Maryland; A. S. Hubbard and Charles J. King of California, Charles Edward Cheney of Illinois, William H. English of Indiana, Charles H. Denison of Maine, William H. Brearley of Michigan, John B. Sanborn of Minnesota, D. B. Francis of Missouri, Hiram E. Hall of Washington, Atwood Violett of Louisiana, Edmund de La Fayette of France, Zebulon B. Vance of North Carolina, William D. Hoard of Wisconsin, Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia, James A. Beaver of Pennsylvania, John J. Jacobs of West Virginia, Elisha B. Andrews of Rhode Island, H. K. Slayton of New Hampshire, Joseph E. Johnston and Goldsmith Bernard West of Alabama, Samuel W. Williams of Arkansas. Lyman E. Knapp of Alaska, H. R. Wolcott of Colorado, A. J. Woodman of Delaware, William B. Allison of Iowa, L. Bradford Prince of New Mexico, George L. Miller of Nebraska, W. F. Wheeler of Montana, Charles E. Hooker of Mississippi, William Kapus of Oregon, George Pettigrew of South Dakota, their associates and successors, are hereby created, in the District of Columbia, a body corporate and politic, by the name of the Sons of the American Revolution, to perpetuate the memory and the spirit of the men who achieved American Independence, by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results, the preservation of documents and relics and of the records of the individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries; to carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion, and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens; to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom; to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty. Said association is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the District of Columbia so far only as may be necessary to its lawful ends to an amount not exceeding $500,000; to adopt a constitution, and to make by-laws not inconsistent with law. Said association shall have its principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia, and may hold its annual meetings in such places as the said incorporators shall determine. Said association shall report annually to the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution concerning its proceedings. Said secretary shall communicate to Congress the whole of such reports, or of such portion thereof as he shall see fit. The regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said association to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum, at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

A MOVEMENT FOR UNION

OF THE

TWO SOCIETIES, S. A. R. AND S. R.

The committees of THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION and the Sons of the Revolution, who were appointed by their respective Societies to confer together upon the subject of union of the two Societies, beg leave to report jointly for the consideration of each Society the result of their labors.

First: They were profoundly impressed by evidences of a universal sentiment favoring union reaching them from members of both National Societies, as well as with the cordiality and harmony inspiring the members of the Committees, who approached the difficult and delicate task assigned them with great deliberation and with a deep sense of responsibility.

Second: The two Committees met, on the call of their respective Chairmen, in a joint conference on basis of Union, and after a careful consideration of the Constitution and Plan of Union of 1893, and proposed changes thereto, unanimously decided upon and do now recommend the adoption of the following Basis of Union:

BASIS OF UNION.

1. The members of the two National Societies unite in forming the National Society of the American Revolution by the adoption of the Constitution hereinafter following and the election of officers as provided therein, at a meeting to be held jointly in the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, October 12, 1897.

2. The General Board of Managers shall designate the Colors, Seal and Insignia and direct a rule or rules for wearing Insignia and use of Colors.

3. The Insignia of either or both existing Societies may be worn on ceremonial occasions with the Insignia of the United Society or alone.

4. The State Societies of both existing Societies shall report the adoption of a Constitution in accordance with the new National Constitution, to the Secretary General promptly on that action being taken, or united State organization effected.

5. The Treasurer-General of each existing National Society shall turn over to the new Treasurer-General when he shall be duly qualified, all balances in their respective treasuries, taking his vouchers therefor.

6. The Registrars-General of the two existing Societies shall turn over all records and documents in their respective offices to the new Registrar-General when he shall have been duly qualified, taking his voucher therefor.

7. The Constitution recommended herein shall become operative by virtue of its ratification by the delegates of a majority of the States of each National Society voting at the joint meeting of the two National Societies contemplated.

CONSTITUTION

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

PREAMBLE.

We, the lineal descendants of Revolutionary Sires, inspired by the heroic deeds of a liberty-loving ancestry, in order to form a more perfect union of patriotic men, to foster true patriotism and love of country; to cherish and maintain the institutions of American freedom, do ordain this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

The name of the Society shall be "THE SOCIETY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION."

ARTICLE II.

The objects of this Society are, to perpetuate the memory of the men who, in the military, naval or civil service of the Colonies and of the Continental Congress, by their acts or counsel, achieved the Independence of this country; to further proper celebrations of the anniversaries of the birthday of Washington, and of prominent events connected with the War of the Revolution; to collect, publish and secure for preservation the rolls, records and other documents relating to that period; to mark by appropriate monuments historic places; to impress upon the present and future generations the patriotic spirit which actuated our ancestors in establishing the Republic of the United States, and to promote the feeling of friendship among its members.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. Any male person above the age of twenty-one years, of good character, and a lineal descendant of an ancestor who shall be proven by official record or other equivalent evidence to have served as a military, naval, or marine officer; soldier, sailor or marine, in actual service, under the authority of any of the thirteen Colonies or States, of the Continental Congress, or Vermont, or a lineal descendant of one who signed the Declaration of Independence, or of one who, as a member of the Continental Congress, or of the Congress of any of the Colonies or States, or as an official appointed by or under the authority of any such legislative bodies, actually assisted in the establishment of American Independence by overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain during the War of the American Revolution, prior to the declaration of peace, in 1783, shall be eligible to membership in the Society.

Provided, That when the claim of eligibility is based on the service of an ancestor in the "minute men" or "militia," it must be satisfactorily shown that such ancestor was actually called into the service of one of the thirteen original States, or Vermont, or United States, and performed military duties; and

Provided further, That when the claim of eligibility is based on the service of an ancestor as a "sailor" or "marine," it must in like manner be shown that such service was other than shore duty and regularly performed in the Continental Navy, or the Navy of one of the original thirteen States, or Vermont, or on an armed vessel, other than a merchant ship, which sailed under letters of marque and reprisal, and that such ancestor of the applicant was duly enrolled in the ship's company, either as an officer, seaman, or otherwise than as a passenger; and

Provided further, That when the claim of eligibility is based on the service of an ancestor as an "official," such service must have been performed in the Civil Service of the United States, or of one of the thirteen original States, or Vermont, and must have been sufficiently important in character to have rendered the official liable to arrest and imprisonment, the same as a combatant, if captured by the enemy.

In the construction of this article, the Volunteer Aides-de-Camp of General Officers in the Continental Service, who were duly announced as such and who actually served in the field during a campaign, shall be comprehended as having performed qualifying service.

No service of an ancestor shall be deemed as qualifying service for membership in THE SOCIETY OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION where such ancestor, after assisting in the cause of American Independence, shall have subsequently either adhered to the enemy, or failed to maintain an honorable record throughout the War of the Revolution.

No person shall be admitted unless he be eligible under one of the provisions of this article, nor unless he be of good moral character and be judged worthy of becoming a member.

SECTION 2. That every member of the Society of the Sons of the Revolution and of THE SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION in good standing at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, who has been admitted to either of these Societies under their respective constitutions and the by-laws of their respective National Societies, shall be enrolled as a member of this Society; subject, however, to the approval of the Joint Committee on Revision of Membership Rolls.

SECTION 3. Applications for membership shall be made to any State Society, in duplicate, upon blank forms prescribed by the General Board of Managers, and shall in each case set forth the name, occupation and residence of the applicant, his line of descent, and the name, residence, and service of his ancestor or ancestors in the Revolution, from whom he derives eligibility. The applicant shall make oath or affirmation that the statements of his application are true, to the best of his knowledge and belief. Upon the approval of an application by the State Society, to which it is made, one copy shall be transmitted to the Registrar-General of the National Society, who shall examine the same and upon approval notify the Secretary of the State Society. If satisfied that the application is not properly made out, he shall return it for correction. No election of a new member shall be valid, unless his eligibility shall be approved by the Registrar-General.

ARTICLE IV.

NATIONAL AND STATE SOCIETIES.

SECTION 1. The National Societies shall embrace all the members of the State Societies now existing, or which may hereafter be established under this Constitution.

SECTION 2. Whenever in any State or Territory, in which a State Society does not exist, or in which a State Society has become inactive or failed for two years to pay its annual dues to the National Society, fifteen or more persons duly qualified for membership in this Society may associate themselves as a State Society of the [War for American Independence*] American Revolution, and organize in accordance with this Constitution; they may be admitted by the General Board of Managers of the National Society as The ——— Society of the American Revolution, and shall thereafter have exclusive local jurisdiction in the State or Territory, or in the District in which they are organized, subject to the provisions of this Constitution; but this provision shall not be construed so as to exclude the admission of members living in other States.

SECTION 3. Each State Society shall judge of the qualifications of its members

*The above amendment was for the correction of a typographical oversight, and has an interesting history. In the preliminary negotiations of the conference committees, the Sons of the Revolution had proposed the name "Society of the Revolution" and THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION proposed the name "Society of the American Revolution." When it appeared that the SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION would tenaciously adhere to the word "American" and the Sons of the Revolution as tenaciously oppose it, Lieut. Gov. Woodruff of the latter proposed as a compromise the title "The Society of American Independence." Mr. Warren, of the SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION proposed the insertion of the words "the War for," making the title, "The Society of the War for American Independence." This title was regarded as cumbersome by both committees, but seemed to be the best that could be agreed upon and was printed in the report which it was proposed to submit to the two conventions on October 12, 1897. On October 11, however, Messrs. Pugh and Hunt of the Sons of the Revolution informed Mr. Richardson of the S. A. R. committee that the S. R. were willing to accept the title proposed by the S. A. R., and at a joint meeting that evening, the title "Society of the American Revolution" was adopted. In the reports hastily reprinted for submission the following day, the title was not corrected in the above instance.

and of those proposed for membership, subject to the provisions of this Constitution, and shall regulate all matters pertaining to its own affairs. It shall have authority to establish local chapters within its own jurisdiction and to endow the chapters with such power as it may deem proper, not inconsistent with this Constitution. It shall have authority, after due notice and impartial trial, to expel any member, who, by conduct unbecoming a gentleman, shall render himself unworthy to remain a member of the Society.

SECTION 4. Each State Society shall submit to the Annual Congress of the National Society a report, setting forth, by name, the additions, transfers and deaths, and any other changes in the membership and progress of the State Society during the preceding year, and make such suggestions as it shall deem proper for the promotion of the objects of the whole Society.

SECTION 5. Whenever a member, in good standing in his Society, changes his residence from the jurisdiction of the State Society of which he is a member, to that of another, he shall be entitled, if he so elects, to a certificate of honorable demission from his own State Society, in order that he may be transferred to the State Society to whose jurisdiction he has changed his residence; provided, that his membership shall continue in the former until he shall have been elected a member of the latter. Each State Society shall, however, retain full control of the admission of members by transfer.

SECTION 6. Whenever the word "State" occurs in this Constitution, it shall be held to include within its meaning the District of Columbia and the Territories of the United States.

SECTION 7. A Society may be formed in any foreign country by fifteen or more persons who are eligible to membership under this Constitution, which shall bear the same relation to the National Society as a State Society, subject to the provisions of this Constitution.

ARTICLE V.

OFFICERS AND MANAGERS.

SECTION 1. The General Officers of the National Society shall be, President-General, five Vice-Presidents-General, Secretary-General, Assistant Secretary-General, Treasurer-General, Assistant Treasurer-General, Registrar-General, Assistant Registrar-General, Historian-General, Chancellor-General, and Chaplain-General, who shall be elected by ballot by vote of the majority of the members present at the annual meeting of the Congress of the National Society, and shall hold office for one year and until their successors shall be elected.

SECTION 2. The General Officers shall constitute the General Board of Managers of the National Society, which Board shall have authority to adopt and promulgate the By-Laws of the National Society, to prescribe the duties of the General Officers, to provide the seal, to designate and make regulations for the issue of the insignia, and to transact the general business of the National Society during the intervals between the sessions of the Congress. Meetings of the General Board may be held, after not less than ten days' notice, at the call of the President-General, or, in case of his absence or inability, at the call of the Senior Vice-President-General, certified by the Secretary-General. Meetings shall be called at the request of seven members. At all such meetings seven shall constitute a quorum.

SECTION 3. An Executive Committee of seven, of whom the President-General shall be the Chairman, may be elected by the Board of Managers, which Committee shall, in the interim between the meetings of the Board, transact such business as shall be delegated to it by the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE VI.

DUES.

Each State Society shall pay annually to the Treasurer-General to defray the expenses of the National Society, twenty-five cents for each active member thereof. All such dues shall be paid on or before the first day of April in each year, for the ensuing year, in order to secure representation in the meetings of the National Society.

ARTICLE VII.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

SECTION 1. The annual meeting of the National Society for the election of the General Officers and for transaction of business, shall be held on the 19th day of April of each year, unless the same falls on Sunday, when it shall be held on the 20th The time, hour and place of such meeting shall be designated by the Board of Managers.

SECTION 2. Special meetings of the Congress may be called by the President-General, and shall be called by him when directed so to do by the Board of Managers, or whenever requested in writing so to do by at least three State Societies, on giving thirty days' notice, specifying the time and place of such meetings and the business to be transacted.

SECTION 3. The following shall be members of all such annual or special meetings of the Congress and shall be entitled to vote therein:

(1) All the officers and ex-Presidents-General of the National Society.

(2) The President and Secretary of each State Society as delegates at large.

(3) One delegate from each State Society for each one hundred members of the Society within a State, and for a fraction of fifty members or over.

AMENDMENTS.

This Constitution may be altered or amended at any meeting of the National Society, when the same shall have been recommended by a State Society. A notice of the proposed amendment or alteration shall be sent by the Secretary-General to the President of each Society sixty days in advance of such meeting. An affirmative vote of two-thirds of the States present shall be necessary for their adoption.

ARTICLE IX.

This Constitution shall take effect when ratified by a majority of the [States of each National Society voting in Joint Meeting] State Societies of each National Society.

We would respectfully recommend that in the event of the adoption of our report by the two National bodies to whom it is submitted, that they immediately meet together in joint session for the purpose of completing the organization herein provided for.

For the Sons of the Revolution:
ACHILLES HENRY PUGH,
Chairman,
TIMOTHY L. WOODRUFF,
HORACE KENT TENNEY,
GAILLARD HUNT.

For the Sons of the American Revolution:
JAMES M. RICHARDSON,
Chairman,
GEORGE H. SHIELDS,
NATHAN WARREN,
EBENEZER J. HILL,
SAMUEL EBERLY GROSS.

"Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to communicate the action of this General Society of the Sons of the Revolution to THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, which has been taken upon the question of the union of the two Societies, and upon the question of the adoption of the new Constitution, and that said Committee be empowered to request similar action upon the part of THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION. And, further, to agree upon a time and place of meeting of the Joint Committees of the two Societies, for the purpose of fully perfecting the union of the two Societies in the event of a majority of the State Societies approving of the action of the General Society."

"Resolved, That each State Society of the Sons of the Revolution and THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION shall submit the papers of their respective Societies to the Registrar of the other Society for examination. That after such examination shall be had each Registrar shall certify to the eligibility of each member of the other Society under the National Constitution of the Society of which he is a member. In case any doubt shall arise as to the correctness of any paper, then such doubtful paper shall be submitted to the Joint Committee on Revision of Membership Rolls. In case there is any jurisdiction in which there is only one Society, such papers shall also be submitted to the said Joint Committee on Revision of Membership Rolls."

"Resolved, That the Committee on the Revision of Rolls, appointed under the resolution adopted April 19, 1897, be and is hereby continued in office, and is authorized and directed to at once proceed, in conjunction with the Committee appointed for that purpose by THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, to examine, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution as amended, reported by the joint conference, the rolls of the members of THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION and the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any member in either Society is not in fact entitled to membership therein. And upon the report of the Joint Committee thus formed all members not found to have been entitled to membership in their respective National Societies, under their own Constitution and By-Laws, be held not to be entitled to membership of the Society of the American Revolution, but stricken from their rolls, unless within such reasonable time as shall be approved by said Committee such members shall prove their rights to such membership."

1141. 1. PERRY, HATCH. L. F. S., Oct. 22, 1923. I am not able to give you the information desired, but in this connection would like to ask if you have any information of the birth and parentage of one Fullam Perry who married, in Woodstock, Windsor County, Vermont, ——, 1818, Chloe Darling, born in Hartland, Windsor County, Vermont, Oct. 29, 1791, daughter of Seth (4) (Thomas 3, Benjamin 2, Denice 1), and Chloe (Marsh) Darling of Mendon, Mass., and Hartland and Woodstock, Vt. Fullam and Chloe (Darling) Perry had six children, and moved to Ohio, where he disappeared, she living to a good old age and dying Aug. 17, 1877, in Toledo, Ohio. Chloe (5) Darling's sister Prudence (5) Darling married, in Woodstock, Vt., 1815, Henry Phelps, and her only son was Winslow Phelps. Has this name Winslow anything to do with that of Winslow Perry whom you give as one of the sons of Josiah and Mary (Kinsley) Perry? Any data concerning Fullam Perry will be very much appreciated. I have life-size oil portraits of both Fullam Perry and his wife Chloe (Darling) Perry.

C. P. D.

(2054.) 1. PERRY, HATCH. Josiah Perry, born Oct. 18, 1709, Sandwich, Mass., died Sept. 27, 1784, in Arlington, Vt., married Mary Kinsley of Easton, Mass., lived in Norwich, Conn. Did he sign the Test Oath in Vermont, or give military service during the Revolution? His four sons, Rufus, Philip, Winslow and Ensign Josiah were Revolutionary soldiers. Ensign Josiah Perry married Hamral Yeamans. Can someone give her ancestral lines and her father's Revolutionary service? Their children were: Lemuel, married Polly; Eunice, married, first, Calkins; second, Elijah Hawley. Lydia (?) married Asa (?) Hatch. Wanted, dates of birth and marriage of this Miss Perry and Mr. Hatch, with correct given names.

2. HATCH. Asa Hatch (mariner), born 1741 in Scituate, Mass., lived in Harwich, also in Shaftsbury, Vt., died 1813 in Brutus, Cayuga County, N. Y. He is said to have been a soldier of the Revolution. Proof wanted. His wife was Lucy Warner of Harwich. Children: Polly, married Oliver Whipple; Lydia, married —— Welch; Fannie, married —— Todd; Betsey married Silas Bascom; Joanthan married —— Warner ——; a son married —— Perry; family tradition says his name was Asa and that his wife's name was Lydia Perry. Dates of this marriage and given names desired. They moved to Ohio early in 1800. He is buried in Loudonville and his wife in Nashville, O. So grateful for any history of this family.

JOHN CHARLES CURRIER, Member of Publication Committee from California, was born at Auburn, N. H., September 19, 1842, the son of David Currier and Lydia Richardson (Melvin) Currier. His father was a banker at Derry, N. H. His ancestors came from Leslie, Scotland; grandfather in War of Revolution. His father and mother were strict Congregationalists in religion. Educated at public schools and at Pinkerton Academy, Derry, N. H. After leaving school he enlisted in the Eleventh New Hampshire Volunteers; was appointed second lieutenant July, 1862; engaged in battles of Fredericksburg, December, 1862; Vicksburg, July, 1863; Jackson, July, 1863; Siege of Knoxville, winter of 1860-'63-'64; battle of Wilderness, May, 1864; Petersburg and Poplar Spring Church, September, 1864. At the close of the war, was appointed second lieutenant in the Twenty-first United States Infantry; brevetted captain for gallant and meritorious services at battles of Wilderness and Poplar Spring Church; resigned in 1870 and engaged in farming in California. Was appointed United States Pension Agent for Pacific Coast in 1890; served four years and three months. He is connected with the Columbian Banking Company (director and secretary), treasurer Veterans' Home of California since 1893. He belongs to the following clubs and societies: Union League Club, Masons and Odd Fellows, Loyal Legion. Married in 1869 to Nataline B. Smith, of Manchester, N. H.; had two children, a son, Charles Waterman Currier (died in 1893), and Harriet Nataline Currier. Past Commander California Commandery, M. O. L. L., U. S.; Past President California Society S. A. R.; was severely wounded in the face at battle of the Wilderness, Virginia, May 6, 1864, and again at battle of Poplar Spring Church, September 30, 1864, when his jaw was shattered by a bullet which incapacitated him from further service.

STANFORD E. CHAILLE, A.M., M.D., LL.D., Member of Publication Committee from Louisiana, Professor and Dean of the Medical Department of the Tulane University of Louisiana, at New Orleans; Professor since 1868, Dean since 1885. Great-grandson of Col. Peter Chaillé, of the Eastern Shore of Maryland, a notable patriot of the American Revolution. Through his ancestresses of the Handy, Dashiell and other families, Dr. Chaillé is a descendant of several other revolutionary patriots. Col. Peter Chaillé was the grandson of Dr. Pierre Chaillé, a distinguished Huguenot Refugee from France. The family was a notable one of Poictiers, and its historical record extends back to the fourteenth century.

Dr. Chaillé's father and mother emigrated from Maryland to Natchez, Miss., where Dr. Chaillé was born, July 9, 1830, and he has lived in New Orleans since 1851, the year he was graduated at Harvard College.

Dr. Chaillé is a member and an honorary member of numerous societies, has contributed frequently to medical literature, and has filled very many official positions, among them Surgeon and Medical Inspector of the Army of Texas of the ex-Confederate States, President of the Havana Yellow Fever Commission (1879) of the United States National Board of Health, etc. His only male descendants, entitled to become Sons of the American Revolution, are his two grandsons, Stanford Chaillé Jamison and David Jamison Chaillé.

OTIS GRANT HAMMOND, Concord, N. H., Member of the Publication Committee from New Hampshire, was born in Manchester, N. H., May 4, 1869; educated in the public schools of Concord, N. A. R.

DUNCAN T. BACON, Member of the Publication Committee from Indiana, was born at Ogdensburg, N. Y. Great-grandson of Jacob Bacon, who, in the capacity of a private soldier, at the battle of Concord and Lexington, was wounded, and in the same battle, his uncle, Lieutenant John Bacon, was killed. At the battle of Bunker Hill, was a member of Captain Knowlton's Connecticut Company. Was on pension roll from July 20, 1832, until his death in 1844, for twelve months fifteen days' actual service in Connecticut troops.

WILLIAM HENRY BAILY, Member of Publication Committee from Iowa, son of Presley G. Baily (descendant of Joel Baily, who settled in Cluster County, Pa., about 1682) and of Harriet C. Clark (descendant of Hugh Clark, who settled at Watertown, Mass., about 1640), was born in Clayton County, Iowa, April 5, 1850. His father was a farmer, and his boyhood was that usual to farmers' boys. He graduated Ph.B. in the University of Wisconsin in June, 1873, and LL.B. in the Iowa State University in June, 1875. Was admitted to the Bar of the Supreme Court of Iowa in June, 1875; and has been continuously engaged in the practice of law until the present time; 1875-1876, at Independence, Iowa; 1876-1888, at Spirit Lake, Iowa, and since then at Des Moines, where he now resides. He has been successful in his profession, and has been engaged in many important cases, and for several years has been at the head of one of the leading law firms in Des Moines. He has taken a lively interest and prominent part in the State Bar Association and in the affairs of his home city.

He married, in September, 1878, Alice A. Crawford, who graduated B.S., University of Wisconsin, in 1875. They have one son, Robert William, senior in West Des Moines High School.

He is a descendant of three Revolutionary soldiers, all of whom marched April 19, 1775, on the Lexington Alarm, viz., William Clark, who fought at Bunker Hill; Captain Norman Clark, who commanded a company at the Surrender of Burgoyne, and Captain Micajah Gleason, who was killed at the Battle of White Plains. He joined the S. A. R. March 24, 1898; was one of the Board of Managers of the Iowa Society, 1898-1899; was First Vice President, 1899-1901, and became President of the society in February, 1901.

C. H. WELLS, of Denver, Colo., Member of Publication Committee from Colorado, Registrar Colorado Society, S. A. R., was born in Watertown, Wis., December 30, 1860; removing to Colorado at ten years of age, where he has since resided. Was one of the first students to enter the State University when it was opened in 1887. At present floor manager of the Denver Dry Goods Company. Mr. Wells had two great-grandfathers in the battle of Long Island, under General Washington; father and son, aged respectively, thirty-six and sixteen years; both served as privates in the same battle.

Massey, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; counsel and trust officer of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company of Portland since January 1, 1901; secretary and treasurer Waverly Golf Club; president University Club of Portland, Ore.; secretary Oregon Society S. A. R., February 22, 1896, to February 22, 1900.

CHARLES SUMNER LOBINGIER, Nebraska's Member of the National Committee on Publication, was born in Lanark, Ill., April 30, 1866. He is the son of George and Ada (Stewart) Lobingier. His paternal ancestors, who were German and Swiss Palatines, settled in Pennsylvania early in the eighteenth century. One of them, Capt. John G. Muller, served with distinction in the French and Indian War, and another, Christopher Lobingier, great-great-grandfather, was a colleague of Benjamin Franklin, in the convention which framed the first constitution for the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The subject of this sketch removed, with his parents, to Hebron, Neb., in 1878, attended the high school of that place, graduating in 1881, and thereafter taught in the local schools for three years. He entered the University of Nebraska in 1884, and graduated in 1888 with honors, being elected to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and chosen as one of the commencement day orators. Graduating with the degree of A.B., he received the degree of M.A. from the academic department in 1892, and that of LL.M. from the Law Department in 1894. Immediately after graduation, Mr. Lobingier was appointed assistant State Librarian and Supreme Court Reporter, which position he held for three years and a half, being, meanwhile, admitted to the Bar. In 1892 he opened a law office in Omaha, where he has ever since been engaged in the active practice of his profession. In addition to his practice, Mr. Lobingier has been engaged in legal authorship, and has written a number of well-known works, including articles in encyclopedias and magazines. He is also Professor of Law in the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Lobingier has been a member of the Nebraska Society, S. A. R., since 1896, is now one of its vice-presidents, and edited Volume I. of its Year Book, recently issued. His wife, Ella B. Lobingier, is a member of Omaha Chapter, D. A. R., and traces her ancestry to Peregrine White, the baby of the Mayflower. Mr. Lobingier is also a thirty-second degree Mason, and is an officer in a number of Masonic bodies, being Master of St. John's Lodge, at Omaha, and Grand Orator of the Grand Lodge in 1901. He is also Vice-President of the Nebraska State Historical Society, member of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences and of the State Bar Association.

ORLANDO WESLEY ALDRICH, Member of Publication Committee from Ohio, was born in Clarence, N. Y., March 30, 1840. HARRY FERDINAND BARRELL, the New Jersey Member of the Committee on Publication of a National Register, was born in the town of Warwick, Orange County, N. Y., on Dec. 6, 1858; the oldest son of Henry F. Barrell and Elizabeth Wisner. Mr. Barrell has resided in Essex County, N. J., at East Orange and Short Hills since 1860. He entered Columbia College in 1878, graduating from the School of Arts of said College in 1882, with the degree of B. A., taking his degree of M. A. in 1884, and the degree of Ph. D. from the Columbia College School of Political Science in 1885, and also the degree of LL. B., cum laude, from the Columbia College Law School in 1885. In 1887 Mr. Barrell entered the law office of the Hon. John R. Emery (now one of the Vice-Chancellors of New Jersey), and remained his managing clerk until 1895, when he was appointed Vice-Chancellor. Mr. Barrell was licensed as an attorney by the Supreme Court of New Jersey in June, 1889, and admitted as counsellor in June, 1892, since which time he has practiced his profession in Newark, N. J., with success. Mr. Barrell has also been admitted to practice in the United States Courts.

He is a life member of the Alumni Association of Columbia College, a member of the Φ B K Society, Vice-President of the Society of the War of 1812 in the State of New Jersey, Registrar and Councillor of the New Jersey Society of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America, member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, and of the New Jersey Society of the S. A. R., and an active member of the Society of the War of 1812 in the State of Pennsylvania. Mr. Barrell is unmarried.

Mr. Barrell's great-grandfather, on his father's side, George Leaycraft, was a Lieutenant in Colonel Lamb's famous Artillery of New York all through the Revolutionary War, and after the war became a member of the New York State Society of the Cincinnati. Mr. Barrell's great-great-grandfather, on his mother's side, Henry Wisner, of Orange County, N. Y., was a Lieutenant-Colonel in the War of the Revolution, fighting all through the war, and afterward becoming a member of the New York Legislature. Another Henry Wisner, uncle of the last-mentioned Henry, was a member of the Continental Congress from New York State, and actively engaged in the manufacture of gunpowder for the use of the Patriot Army, in his mills at Phillipsburg, N. J., and other places. Mr. Barrell is descended from many prominent families of the Colonial period, on both his father's and mother's side.

THOMAS WYNNE, Member of Publication Committee from Pennsylvania, was born in Blockley Township, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, September, 1849.

Mr. Wynne has been connected with the George Institute Library, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as Librarian for several years. He entered the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution on the record of Lieutenant Thomas Wynne of Pennsylvania Militia, a great-grandson of Dr. Thomas Wynne; also on the record of Nicholas Newlin of Chester County, Pennsylvania, and Delaney Sharpe of Cumberland County, New Jersey.

Mr. Wynne is a lineal descendant of Dr. Thomas Wynne, who accompanied William Penn to Pennsylvania on the ship "Welcome" in the Autumn of 1682, and who was the first Speaker of the first House of Representatives in Pennsylvania and a well-known Quaker preacher. Dr. Thomas Wynne received a land grant of 5,000 acres in Blockley Township; part of this domain is now included in the West Fairmount Park, and part is still in possession of the family.

The Wynne family is of Welsh origin.

HENRY LEONARD STILLSON, Member of Publication Committee from Vermont, editor of the Bennington (Vt.) Banner, is the son of Eli Bennett Stillson, a well-known farmer, and Eliza Ann Leonard, and was born in Middle Granville, Washington County, N. Y., September 19, 1842. His mother's maternal grandfather, John Porter of Connecticut, was Artificer on the staff of George Washington, during the Revolutionary War. The Stillson family settled originally in Newtown, Conn., and still occupies the ancient homestead, which has stood since the seventeenth century, when it was first built. The Leonards were early settlers of Boston, Mass.

He is the author of several books of standard history, namely: History of Free Masonry and Concordant Orders; History of Odd Fellowship—The Three-Link Fraternity; Bennington Monuments, and has been appointed by the Governor as historiographer of Vermont. He is one of the best-known Masons and Odd Fellows in the country. He is a member of the Lichenor Club, chairman of the Committee on History of the Bennington Battle Monument and Historical Association, a member of the American Historical Association of Washington, D. C., and Registrar (since 1889) of the Vermont Society Sons of the American Revolution; also President of the Ethan Allen Branch, at Bennington.

DR. EDWARD WELDON YOUNG, Member of Publication Committee from Washington, President of the Washington State Society, is a Western man, having been born in Minnesota in 1869. He was educated in the public schools of Minnesota and graduated from the University of Minnesota in the class of 1889, moving to Seattle the same year, where he has been in the active practice of medicine ever since, being associated with his father, Compatriot Thomas Miles Young.

The doctor comes of soldier stock, his father and grandfather being both commissioned officers in the Civil War, serving in the Fourth Minnesota; three great-grandfathers were soldiers and officers in the War of 1812, and his great[2]-grandfather was Captain and afterward Assistant Quartermaster-General in the War of the Revolution.

Compatriot Young was one of the organizers and charter members of the Washington State Society and was elected its first Registrar, subsequently serving as Vice President, and is now serving his second term as President. In politics he is a Republican.

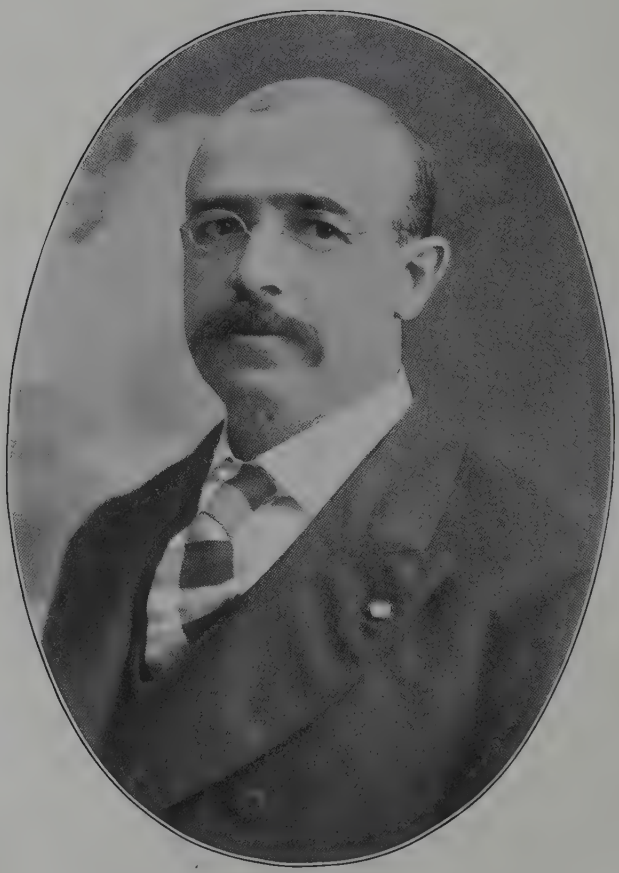
He is a member of all the influential clubs of his adopted city: Vice President of the Mazamas, the largest and most noted Alpine club of the Pacific Coast, having climbed more lofty mountain peaks than any other club in America, among them Mts. Ranier, St. Helens and Hood; he is also a member of the Sierra Club, of San Francisco; of the American Alpine Club, of which he is one of the founders, and of the National Geographic Society.

In fraternal circles he has long been prominent as a Past Grand Chancellor and now Supreme Representative of the Knights of Pythias; he is a Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. In patriotic organizations he is a member of the General Society War of 1812, and is a Past Division Commander and a Past Surgeon-General of the Commandery-in-Chief, Sons of Veterans, U. S. A. The doctor is a member of numerous county, State and national medical societies, President of the Medical Examining Board, Seattle Civil Service Commission, and is recognized as one of the leading homœpathic physicians and surgeons of the Pacific Northwest.

TEUNIS D. HUNTTING, Member of Publication Committee from New York, registrar of the Empire State Society S. A. R. since 1897, and registrar-general of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America, is a well-known genealogist and member of historical and patriotic societies.

THE SPIRIT OF '76

DEVOTED TO THE PRINCIPLES INCIDENTS AND MEN OF '76 AND COLONIAL TIMES



Louis H. Cornish.

Editor and Publisher "The Spirit of '76,"

Official Organ of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

LOUIS H. CORNISH.

LOUIS H. CORNISH, the editor, publisher and proprietor of "The Spirit of '76," the official organ of the National Society "Sons of the American Revolution," was born at Hartford, Conn., May 23, 1855, the son of Grove Horton Cornish and Electa Catherine Adams, who were both born in Simsbury, Conn., and whose ancestors were among the first settlers of the town.

James Cornish, the paternal ancestor from Windsor, settled in Simsbury in 1688, and was the first clerk of the Congregational Church at that place. His father had been a school teacher in Windsor, and removed with him when Simsbury was settled. James Cornish bought what is now the town of Granville, Mass., from Toto, an Indian chief, for the sum of sixteen (16) brass buttons and an old musket.

Daniel Adams, the maternal ancestor, settled in what was then Simsbury, in 1647, and the same homestead has been in the Adams family ever since.

Mr. Cornish has traced his ancestry to the following emigrants to this country, which shows him to be by blood very much an American:

William Spencer, Cambridge, Mass., 1631; John Case, Windsor, 1650; John Bissell, Ipswich, 1673; James Eno, 1647; John Griffen, Windsor, 1647; John Bancroft, Lynn, 1632; Michael Humphry, Windsor, 1647; Matthew Grant, Windsor, 1636; John Pettibone, 1664; Begat Eggleston, 1643; Ralph Shepard, Dedham, 1635; John Sill, Cambridge, 1637; Samuel Greenhill, Cambridge, 1634; Edward Shepard, 1648; Thomas Butler, Hartford, 1640; William Thrall, Windsor, 1640; Thomas Gunn, Windsor, 1636; Joseph Loomis, Windsor, 1638; Robert White and Bridget Allyar; Thomas Scott; Thomas Holcomb, Windsor, 1657; Thomas Sherwood; William Phelps, Dorchester, 1630; Edward Griswold, Windsor, 1637; John Ellsworth; William Locke; William Clarke; John Roberts, Windsor, 1608; Richard Sexton, Windsor, 1658; John Tidd; Francis Kendall; John Russell; John Champney; Rene Cosset, and Palmer; Whipple; Beaman; Woodford; Kelsey; Pinney; Fitch families.

Mr. Cornish is the Secretary of the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He has prepared an illustrated lecture on Colonial life among the Puritans, which he has delivered before the Patriotic and Historical Societies, and for the Board of Education lectures to the people. Two new lectures, "Colonial Life Among the Dutch Around Manhattan" and "Colonial Life Among the Cavaliers of Virginia and Maryland," will be ready for the coming winter course.

HON. FRANKLIN MURPHY, LL.D.,

GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY.

MR. MURPHY is descended on his paternal side from Revolutionary ancestry, and, on the maternal, from one of the first settlers in Newark, N. J. His great-great-grandfather was Robert Murphy, an Irishman, who emigrated from England and settled in Fairfield County, Conn. His son, also named Robert, was born in Fairfield in 1759, but removed in early youth to Jersey City, then called Paulus Hook, in New Jersey. He was but a youth only seventeen years old when the contest between the Colonies and the English King culminated in war. He enlisted early in the Revolutionary Army, in Colonel Theunis Dey's regiment, made up mostly, if not entirely, of Bergen County men, and served in the companies of Captains Marinus and Van Cortlandt, and afterward in General Nathaniel Hurd's regiment of Jersey troops. He was in the eventful campaign on Long Island and fought in all the battles of that disastrous period of the war. This patriot's son was William Murphy, whose son, the Hon. William H. Murphy, was the father of Franklin William Murphy, the grandfather, who served in the war of 1812.

Franklin Murphy was born at Jersey City in June, 1846, but removed with his father very early in life to Newark, where he has ever since resided. The patriotic instincts of his ancestors survived over to Franklin, for when the Civil War began, although he was barely seventeen years old, younger even than was his Revolutionary ancestor when he enlisted, he enlisted as a private in Company A, of the Thirteenth New Jersey Regiment of Volunteers. He saw very active service, and was engaged in many of the great battles of the war, especially Antietam, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. He went with Sherman in his memorable march through the Southern States, and was mustered out of the service at the close of the war as First Lieutenant. He had then served three years and was still a youth in years, having not then attained his majority.

Mr. Murphy's maternal ancestor was Henry Lyon, who subscribed the "Fundamental Agreements," with other inhabitants of Guilford and Branford, on the twenty-fourth of June, 1667.

The exact time when Henry Lyon came to Newark cannot well be ascertained. It is possible that he came among the first settlers in 1666, although he did not sign the agreements until June, 1667. The division of the land in the new colony into town lots was made February 6, 1667, and he then drew a lot of about eight acres, running from Washington Street to High Street, at the corner of William. Whenever he did come he immediately impressed himself on his fellow colonists, by whom his abilities were at once recognized. The first mention made of him in the records of Newark was at the town meeting held September 10, 1668, when he was put at the head of a committee to look after such colonists as were delinquent in their attendance, or came late, at these town meetings, or were disorderly. From that time until March, 1715, there were few town meetings in which he did not take a prominent part. In September, 1668, he was elected Treasurer of the Colony, which office he held continuously for several years, being elected from year to year.

When the Civil War was ended Franklin Murphy, then only nineteen years old, embarked in the manufacture of varnish. He had no capital, but he had practical common sense, and a judgment remarkably mature for his years. These two qualifications, added to a native shrewdness, indomitable energy and persistent perseverance, enabled him to conquer the difficulties which surrounded him, and finally to establish a business which many years ago led the market in its lines. This business has been conducted by a corporation bearing the name of its founder, and always President, whose wares are sold all over the world. The business of this corporation, in all its details, including various methods of the manufacture of its products, has been conducted under the personal supervision of its founder and President. The care exercised in the preparation of its manufactures has been so minute and systematic, that the entire confidence of the purchasing community has been secured, and all that is required to inspire confidence is the brand of the manufacturer.

While thus succeeding in his business ventures, Mr. Murphy has been mindful of the duty he owed as a citizen to the community in which he lived. With that community he had identified himself, always ready to yield to its proper demands. He served as an Alderman from his ward in the Common Council of Newark, and while acting in that capacity was wise and zealous in his exertions to promote the interest of the ward and city. Later on he became a member of the Assembly of his State. While holding these representative positions he was fearless and independent in voice and vote, always striving for the right.

For several years he was at the head of the State Executive Committee of the great political party to which he had given his allegiance. In this position he gained laurels, which gave him such a prominence in the State and among the men of his party, that in 1901 he was unanimously nominated for Governor. His nomination was an event unequalled in the political history of New Jersey. It seemed when the Gubernatorial Convention met that it was a foregone conclusion, in the mind of every delegate, that Franklin Murphy should be the nominee of that convention. No other candidate was named, and he was nominated with an unbounded enthusiasm. The election which followed was one of the most remarkable ever conducted in the State. Not a voice was raised against the integrity of Mr. Murphy, or dared asperse his character in any respect. Not a newspaper, in its columns, ever hinted a charge against him which affected his private course. His opponent was one of the most popular men in his party, but Mr. Murphy was elected by a triumphant majority, and has entered upon the office of Chief Magistrate of his State apparently with the good wishes of all. The people believe in him and they trust him.

At the formation of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, Mr. Murphy's patriotic soul was fired by the possibilities of such an organization, and he threw himself into its work with all his vigor. He was made Vice-President of the Society, then Secretary-General of the National Society, which office he held for three years. During that period he gave to the performance of his duties much of his time, and made large drafts upon his purse to aid in the furtherance of the interest of the association. He then became President-General, and carried into that position his usual pertinacity of purpose in the performance of every duty. The General Society, the different State organizations, will not soon forget the debt of gratitude they all owe to Mr. Murphy for the many kindnesses done by him while in office as Secretary and President-General.

The loss of a noble son, just graduating from college, has saddened his life, but two children, another son, who bears his father's name, a worthy son of a worthy sire, and a daughter, recently married to William Burnet Kenney, Esq., a descendant of Dr. William Burnet, Surgeon-General of the Revolutionary Army, still bless him by their love.

In the prime of his life, with an ample fortune, surrounded by admiring, appreciative friends, who have been endeared to him by his many excellent traits of character, respected by all, honored by the citizens of his native State, he has a future of possibilities which none can foresee, but in which his friends can catch glimpses of future and more exalted honor.

Mr. Murphy is a member of several societies, patriotic and otherwise. Lafayette College, at Easton, Pa., has lately conferred on him the degree of LL. D.

JOSEPH CABELL BRECKINRIDGE.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL AND INSPECTOR-GENERAL, U. S. A.—LATE MAJOR-GENERAL, U. S. VOLUNTEERS.

GENERAL BRECKINRIDGE was elected President-General, National Society Sons of the American Revolution, at the Congress in New York City, May 1, 1900, and served as such until April 30, 1901.

Vice-President-General 1892, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99. Member of the Flag Committee and Association; Charter Member of the District of Columbia Society and of the Sons of the American Revolution in the Orient. Was President of the District of Columbia Sons of the American Revolution, 1893 and 1894, and Vice-President, 1892.

Major-General Joseph Cabell Breckinridge, U. S. V., and Brigadier-General and Inspector-General, U. S. Army, was born at Baltimore, Md., Jan. 14, 1842, during his father's pastorate in the Second Presbyterian Church; son of the eminent theologian and Kentucky Union man, Rev. Robert Jefferson Breckinridge, D.D., LL.D., and Ann Sophonisba Preston, of Virginia; and grandson of John Breckinridge (U. S. Senator from Kentucky and Attorney-General in Jefferson's Cabinet) and Mary Hopkins Cabell; maternal grandfather, General Francis Preston; and great-grandfathers, Colonel William Preston, of the Virginia line; Colonel Robert Breckinridge, of Botetourt County, and Dr. Joseph Cabell, of Sion Hill, and General William Campbell, "the hero of King's Mountain," whose wife was a sister of Patrick Henry, all of Virginia. General Breckinridge was educated at Transylvania University and Centre College, Kentucky, and the University of Virginia. He has held all positions, from Second Lieutenant to Major-General, and is a veteran of the Civil War and the War with Spain. His only votes for Presidents of the United States were for Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, and William McKinley.

In August, 1861, he abandoned the study of law in the office of General Boyle, at Danville, Kentucky, joined the Union Army at the first camp in Kentucky and acted as Assistant Adjutant-General under General William Nelson (who was tragically slain in Louisville) and subsequently as General George H. Thomas' Aide-de-Camp; was in the first Union victory of the civil war at Mill Springs, Ky., Jan. 19, 1862, so warmly recognized by Secretary Stanton, where Zollicoffer was overthrown, receiving mention from General Thomas for gallantry in action, and in the campaign through Nashville and Columbia, to Pittsburg Landing, Tenn. At Corinth he received a commission dated April 14, 1862, in the Second Artillery, U. S. A., from President Lincoln, as a reward for gallantry at Mill Springs; was with his battery at Forts Pickens, Barrancas and Pensacola, and joined the Army of the Tennessee on the Atlanta compaign, with the last light battery of regulars with the Army at the front (Light Battery "F," Second Artillery), which was captured on July 22, 1864, at the time and place General McPherson was killed in General Hood's sortie in front of Atlanta. He was placed with other officers, under the fire of our guns, in Charleston, S. C.—one was celebrated as "The Swamp Angel." He was exchanged under the Sherman-Hood special field cartel; and being temporarily broken in health, served as mustering officer a few months. He accompanied his regiment, the Second Artillery, to California, in 1865; and served at various stations, as duty called, from Fort Monroe to San Francisco, commanding Light Battery "A" and being selected as Adjutant of the Artillery School and for other duties. Was brevetted Captain July 26, 1864, and Major March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious conduct in front of Atlanta," and "for gallant and meritorious service during the War." Captain of Battery "B," Second Artillery, June 17, 1874. Assigned to command of the defenses of the Potomac River in 1879, of the Artillery troops in Washington. In January, 1881, promoted Major and Assistant Inspector-General, U. S. A. Served on the Pacific Coast with Generals McDowell, Schofield and Pope, visiting every military station from the British to the Mexican borders. Spent nearly a year, in 1884 and again in 1889, in foreign travel and the study of the armies of Europe, from Russia to Italy. Promoted Lieutenant-Colonel and Colonel in the Inspection Corps, and in 1889 was made Inspector-General of the Army, with the rank of Brigadier-General, by President Cleveland.

When war with Spain was declared, General Breckinridge asked immediately for service in the field, and was made Major-General of Volunteers on May 4, 1898; was ordered to inspect the several mobilized camps; accompanied the expedition to Cuba, from the embarkation at Tampa to the surrender of Santiago, July 17, 1898; was with Lawton's Division, on the right, during the fight at El Caney, July 1, and on the 2d, near San Juan, when his horse was shot under him. At General Wheeler's headquarters, July 2, and General Shafter's headquarters, July 3, advising strongly against falling back. Accompanied General Lawton along his entire front, frequently under fire during hostilities, and was thanked and commended by him for his services. Submitted a report of events, July 27, 1898, and was assigned to the command of the separate army of forty-four thousand men at Camp George H. Thomas, Ga., preparatory to expected assault upon Havana. The immediate improvement in camp, equipment and military instruction there and in the new camps where the soldiers were distributed (as at Knoxville, Tenn., and Lexington, Ky.), was almost phenomenal, and noted on all sides until they were pronounced to be models. What he did for the lives, military training and welfare of the men under his command will not be easily forgotten by those who rendered the best service there. Receiving the command with an epidemic prevailing, he turned it over to his successors, Major-General James H. Wilson and others, fit and trained for any military duty. After the breaking up of Camp Thomas, General Breckinridge commanded all the First Army Corps within the United States. Peace with Spain being formulated, he was mustered out Nov. 30, 1898, and resumed the duties of Inspector-General of the Army. In February and March, 1899, he made the first complete inspection of the United States troops in the eight Military Departments of Cuba and Porto Rico, visiting every considerable station occupied by soldiers, and looking especially after the sick and supplies and soldierly training. His reports were published in the professional papers, and attracted particular attention. Colonel Wagner, the distinguished military author, speaks in his report from personal observation of the gallant bearing of General Breckinridge during the Santiago Campaign.

General Breckinridge's tour of duty took him last to Alaska, and he now is engaged upon a tour of inspection to the Far East, which involves travel of possibly thirty thousand miles, and embraces the scenes of the operations of the American army in China and to a view of the Great Wall and the Grand Canal and the Sacred City at Pekin, and an inspection of the Philippine Islands, through their length and breadth, among their various tribes and religions—Mohammedan, Pagan, and Christian, whether Negrito, Moro, Viscayan or Tagalog. It was during this tour that the names of some of the charter members were collected of the first Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in the Orient, of which he was made the preliminary President—probably our most remote Society, and the latest to crown the admirable work of President-General Walter Seth Logan's most successful administration, in which we all rejoice.

General Breckinridge is also a member of the District of Columbia Commandery Loyal Legion of the United States; the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War; the Military Order of Foreign Wars of United States, Pennsylvania Commandery; the Society of the Army of the Cumberland; the Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba, and Senior Vice-Commander-General, Society of American Wars, and Vice-President of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee.

CORNELIUS AMORY PUGSLEY.

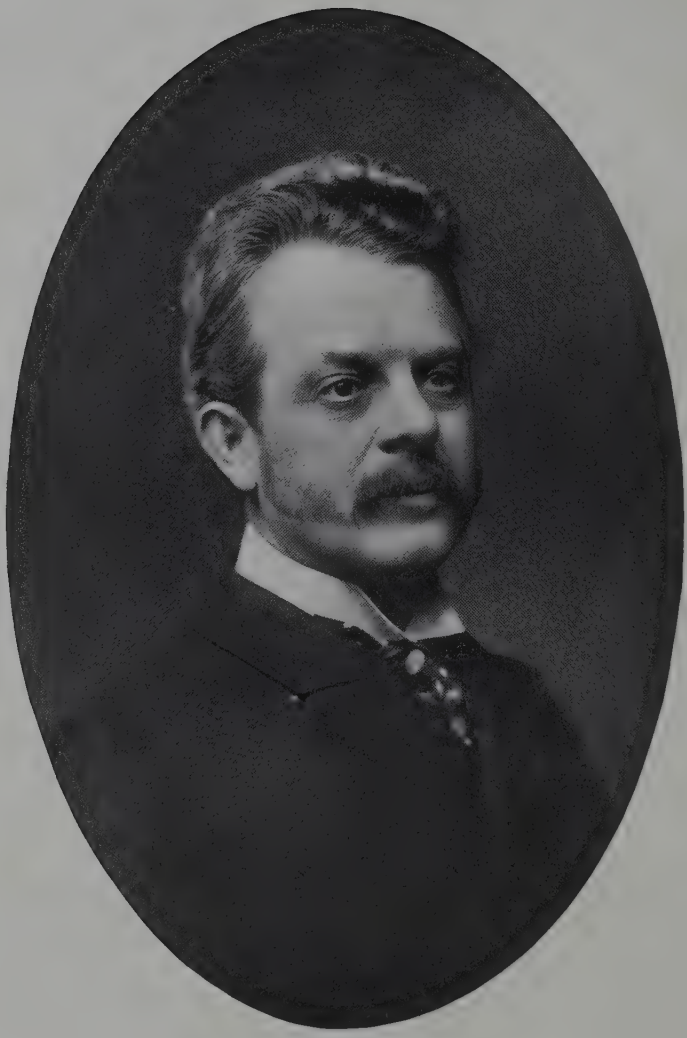
CORNELIUS AMORY PUGSLEY, son of Gilbert T. and Julia (Meeker) Pugsley, was born on the homestead farm, not far from the village of Peekskill, a thriving town of New York even in the days of the Revolution, when it was a base of supplies and a center for the mobilization of troops for the Continental Army. His maternal grandfather was Cornelius Meeker, a son of Benjamin Meeker, a soldier of the Revolution, and descendant of William Meeker, a founder of the town of Elizabeth, N. J., who was supposed to have come to Massachusetts Bay about 1630, while his father's American ancestor was James Pugsley, who came from England about 1680. James Pugsley left a son, John, of Pelham Manor, whose son Samuel, the great-grandfather of Mr. Pugsley, married Elizabeth Drake, daughter of Jeremiah Drake, a brother of Colonels Samuel and Gilbert Drake, of the Continental Army, in which Samuel also served.

Mr. Pugsley grew to boy and manhood on the homestead farm, and acquired, in the public schools of the village, and by private instruction, an education that was largely supplemented afterward by travel and extensive reading. Then, at seventeen, he began his business career as a clerk in the village post office, but resigned, shortly after being promoted assistant postmaster, to accept a position in the Westchester County National Bank, one of the oldest institutions of the State. Here he rapidly developed as a banker, became cashier in 1879, Vice-President in the spring of 1897, and President in the fall of the same year, the bank, under his administration, becoming one of the soundest in New York. In banking circles he also steadily grew in esteem, was made the first Chairman of Group VII. of the New York State Bankers' Association when it was organized, and, in 1896, when The American Bankers' Association, by an amended constitution, made it possible for the State Bankers' Association to elect a member to the Executive Council of The American Bankers' Association, was the first chosen from New York, being elected for a term of three years.

Mr. Pugsley enjoys a reputation that is steadily extending, as an orator and after-dinner speaker, and on a number of occasions, of late years, has been the orator of the day at prominent commemorative celebrations. While always interested in politics, he was never a candidate for office until the fall of 1900, when he was elected to the Fifty-seventh Congress from the Sixteenth District of New York. Upon the convening of that body in December, 1901, his ability was fully recognized by the Speaker of the House, and he was honored with an appointment on the Banking and Currency Committee.

Besides being a member and Treasurer-General of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, Mr. Pugsley is a member of the Empire State Society, S. A. R.; of the New England Society; the Harlem and Patria Clubs, and the Chamber of Commerce of New York. He is also President of the Board of Trustees of the Field Library, Peekskill; Trustee and Treasurer of the Field Home, Yorktown; Trustee and Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the Peekskill Military Academy, and an elder of the First Presbyterian Church, at Peekskill.

On April 7, 1880, Mr. Pugsley married Emma C., the only daughter of John H. Gregory, a retired New York banker. They have one son, Chester De Witt, a young man now in the preparatory schools of New York City.



Historian-General National Society, S. A. R., 1901.

GEORGE WILLIAMS BATES.

HISTORIAN-GENERAL, SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

BORN in Detroit, Mich., November 4, 1848. His parents, Samuel Gershom Bates and Rebecca Williams, were natives of Connecticut. His ancestors came from England and were a part of the Puritan settlement of Massachusetts Bay Colony. The original ancestor was James Bates, who settled at Dorchester in 1634 and was a brother of Clement Bates, of Hingham, and Edward Bates, of Weymouth, from whom the Bates family of this country are descended. Robert Bates, the son of James, went with the Connecticut contingent under the leadership of the Rev. Thomas Hooker and became one of the landed proprietors of Wethersfield, where he remained until 1640, when he joined the colony that settled Stamford. As a descendant of Robert Bates, he is related to William Cross, a soldier in the Pequod War, and who participated in the Narragansett Swamp fight and subsequently represented Wethersfield in the General Court at Hartford. He is also connected with Robert Chapman, one of the founders of Saybrooke, a Deputy to the General Court, a Commissioner and one of the largest landowners of Saybrooke; also, with Gershom Lockwood, a soldier, Judge and legislator, of Greenwich; also, with Jonathan Selleck, a brave Indian fighter, a liberal churchman and a sagacious legislator; also, with the Golds and Richard Law, a distinguished jurist of early Connecticut; also, with David Smith, of Greenwich, a noted soldier under Washington, and also, of the Weeds, of Connecticut and New York. Through the Bucknam family he is connected with Nicholas Stowers and Captain John Sprague and Lieutenant Ralph Sprague, the first Selectman of Charlestown, 1630. Through his mother, Rebecca Williams, of Saybrooke, as the descendant of Roger Williams, a cousin of Roger Williams, of Rhode Island, he is related to the Rev. John Robinson, pastor and founder of the Pilgrim Church at Leyden, Holland, 1606, the parish church of the Pilgrim Fathers; also, with the Lathams, of Connecticut; the Hamlins, of Haddam; the Weeks, of Dorsetshire. Roger Williams, of Connecticut, landed in America in 1635, first a Selectman, then a Deputy, also a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston, and Deputy representing Windsor at General Court, in Hartford.

Mr. Bates is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and holds the degree of M.A. Admitted to the bar in December, 1874, and has since continued to practice law in Detroit. He has been actively concerned in politics and in social, moral and educational matters. He is identified with many of the leading social, Masonic and educational organizations of Detroit. He is President of the Detroit Archæological Society, one of the Councillors of the American Institute of Archæology, Registrar of the Michigan Society, and Historian-General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and is the Commissioner from Michigan for the Promotion of Uniform Legislation. He married Miss Jennie Marie Fowler, April 26, 1887, and his children are Stanley Fowler Bates and Virginia Williams Bates.

ETHELBERT DUDLEY WARFIELD.

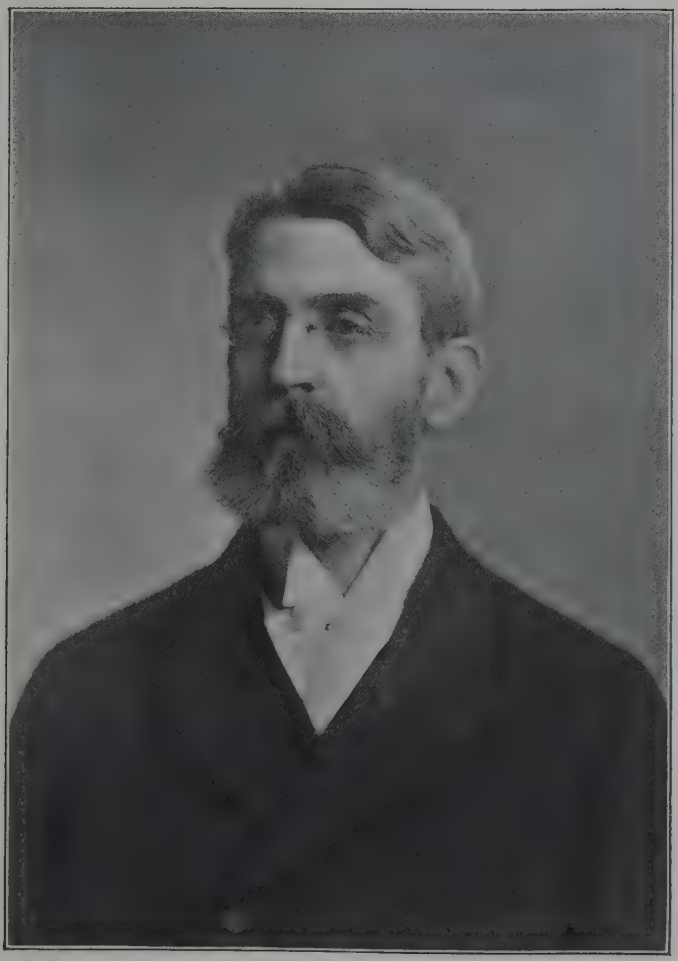
ETHELBERT DUDLEY WARFIELD was born at Lexington, Ky., March 16, 1861. His father, William Warfield, was descended on the paternal side from the Puritan families who formed the settlements at Annapolis and South River, Md., about the middle of the Seventeenth Century. Among his ancestors Judge Edward Dorsey, General William Burgess, and Colonel Nicholas Greenberry, acting Governor, 1693, played important rôles in the old colony days, and Elisha Warfield and Joseph Burgess rendered services in the epoch of the Revolution; on the maternal side he was descended from Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish stock, his grandfather, William Caldwell, serving in the Pennsylvania Line, and losing an arm in the War of the Revolution. His mother, Mary Cabell Breckinridge, was descended from well-known Virginia families, prominent in Colonial and Revolutionary times, four ancestors, General William Campbell, Colonel William Preston, Colonel Joseph Cabell, and Attorney-General John Breckinridge, rendering services in council and in camp in the struggle for Independence. Not only loyal in '76, the family was intense in its loyalty to the Union in '61. His paternal grandfather, Benjamin Warfield, a Captain of Riflemen in 1813, a strong emancipationist and Union man, died before the war broke out. His maternal grandfather, Rev. Robert J. Breckinridge, D.D., LL.D., was one of the foremost leaders of those who kept Kentucky true to the Union. His father, William Warfield, received a commission from President Lincoln, and served on the staff of General William Nelson for a time, and subsequently in civil employment.

Educated at Princeton College, Wadham College, Oxford (England), and Columbia College (New York) Law School, Ethelbert D. Warfield began the practice of the law in New York City, but very soon returned to Lexington, Ky., and in July, 1886, formed a partnership with Watts Parker, Esq., subsequently judge of the Circuit Court. He met with success in the practice of his profession, but a strong taste for literary work manifesting itself in frequent publications, he was invited to assume the Presidency of Miami University (Ohio) in 1888. He occupied this position from September, 1888, till June, 1891, when he was elected to the Presidency of Lafayette College (Pennsylvania). In both positions he combined the professorship of history with the Presidency.

In 1891 he was chosen an elder in the Brainerd Presbyterian Church; in 1894 a director in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, and in 1899, a strong leaning toward religious work found final expression in his ordination to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church. In May, 1900, he was elected Chaplain-General of the Sons of the American Revolution, and in 1901 re-elected to that position.

President Warfield has published several volumes and numerous pamphlets on historical and educational topics; of these the following are most noteworthy: "The Kentucky Resolutions of 1798, An Historical Study," "Joseph Cabell Breckinridge, Jr. A Brief Biography," "Our Debt to the Pioneer," "Christopher Columbus," "The England of the Westminster Assembly," "John Wycliff," "Christian Education," 'The Place of Athletics in College Life," "At the Evening Hour, College Addresses."

President Warfield has been twice married, (1) to Miss Sarah Lacy Broalas, of St. Louis, Mo., and (2) to Miss Eleanor Frances Tilton, of Natick, Mass. By the second marriage he has five children.



Rev. Ethelbert D. Warfield, LL.D.,

Chaplain-General, National Society, S. A. R., 1900-1901.

JAMES DENTON HANCOCK.

JAMES DENTON HANCOCK was born in Wyoming Valley, Pennsylvania, in the vicinity of Wilkes Barre, June 9, 1837. The name of his father was James, and that of his mother, Mary Perkins Hancock.

His primary education was obtained in the common schools and the Academy at Wilkes Barre, and afterward in the Wyoming Seminary, where he prepared for college. From the last-named institution he went to Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio, where he graduated in 1859. From there he went to Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, at first occupying the position of Tutor and afterward of Professor of Mathematics in the Western University of Pennsylvania. While he was teaching he also studied law under the instruction of William Bakewell. He was admitted to the bar in 1861, and practiced his profession in Pittsburg until January, 1865, when he removed to Franklin, Venango County, Pennsylvania, where he has since resided and, until the last few years, has engaged in the active practice of his profession.

In 1877 he was appointed Solicitor of the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company. In 1878 he also became Solicitor for the Buffalo, New York and Philadelphia Railroad Company, holding these positions until 1888, when he was appointed General Solicitor of the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad Company. During this period he was adopted by the Seneca Nation of Indians under the name of "Nya Gua Hai" or "Grizzly Bear," and during this period also served thirteen years as a Trustee, and part of the time as President, of the Board of Trustees of the State Hospital for the Insane at Warren, Pennsylvania.

In 1892 he was nominated for Representative in Congress for the Twenty-seventh District of Pennsylvania; in 1894 he was nominated for Congressman-at-Large in the State, and in 1896 was nominated by the Democratic party as Elector-at-Large, but subsequently declined on account of dissatisfaction with the Chicago platform, and became a Delegate to the Indianapolis Convention which nominated Palmer and Buckner.

In June, 1872, he delivered the oration before the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Kenyon College, of which society he was a member. In June, 1900, he delivered the Alumni Address at the same institution, and in June, 1901, Kenyon College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

He has written many essays upon historical and economic subjects, for one of which he received the silver medal of the Cobden Club, England.

He is an honorary member of the Cobden Club, a life member of both the Pennsylvania Civil Service Reform Association and of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, a member of the New York Reform Club, and a member of the American Economic Association.

CAPTAIN SAMUEL EBERLY GROSS.

SECRETARY-GENERAL SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Vice-President-General, 1897; Secretary-General, 1898-1902.

CAPTAIN SAMUEL EBERLY GROSS, who was elected Secretary-General at the National Congress held at Morristown, New Jersey, in 1898, and who has since occupied the office continuously to the present time, was born near Dauphin, Pennsylvania, on November 11, 1843. Prominent in his ancestry were the Huguenots and Holland Dutch. Six of Captain Gross' ancestors participated in the French and Indian Wars of the American Colonies, and five served in the War of the Revolution, among the latter Captain John Gross, his great-grandfather. Captain Samuel Eberly Gross served in the Civil War, first in the Forty-first Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and later in the Twentieth Pennsylvania Cavalry. For meritorious service in action he was promoted to the rank of Captain, and served until the close of the war. He graduated from the Union College of Law, Chicago, in 1866, and practiced his profession for some years, but for a long time past his large real estate operations have engaged his attention, and have been the largest and most successful in the history of Chicago.

He is a man of literary tastes, and possessor of one of the finest of libraries. He has written much verse of a high order, and is the author of a drama which has attracted wide attention, "The Merchant Prince of Cornville." He is a member of the principal clubs and societies of Chicago; is Historian-General of the Military Order of Foreign Wars of the United States, and was the first Commander of the Illinois Commandery of that organization; is a member of the Huguenot Society of America, President of the Holland Society of Chicago, one of the Governors of the Chicago Art Institute, a Director of the Chicago Relief and Aid Society, member of the U. S. Grant Post, 28, G. A. R., and is President of the Western Society Army of the Potomac. He has served as President of the Illinois Society Sons of the American Revolution, and as Deputy Governor of the Society of Colonial Wars. During the year 1897 he served as Vice-President-General of the National Society Sons of the American Revolution, prior to his election as Secretary-General.

The name of this Society shall be "The Sons of the American Revolution."

ARTICLE II.—Objects.

The objects of this Society shall be to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the war, as well as documents, relics and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the prominent events of the war; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom; and to carry out the purposes expressed in the Preamble to the Constitution of our Country and the injunctions of Washington in his Farewell Address to the American people.

ARTICLE III.—Membership.

Section 1. Any man shall be eligible to membership in this Society who, being of the age of twenty-one years or over, and a citizen of good repute in the community, is the lineal descendant of an ancestor who was at all times unfailing in his loyalty to, and rendered actual service in, the cause of American Independence, either as an officer, soldier, seaman, marine, militiaman or minute man, in the armed forces of the Continental Congress or of any one of the several Colonies or States; or as a signer of the Declaration of Independence; or as a member of a Committee of Safety or Correspondence; or as a member of any Continental, Provincial or Colonial Congress or Legislature; or as a civil officer, either of one of the Colonies or States or of the National Government; or as a recognized patriot who performed actual service by overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain.

Section 2. Applications for membership shall be made to any State Society, in duplicate, upon blank forms prescribed by the General Board of Managers, and shall in each case set forth the name, occupation and residence of the applicant, line of descent, and the name, residence and services of his ancestor or ancestors in the Revolution from whom he derives eligibility. The applicant shall make oath that the statements of his application are true, to the best of his knowledge and belief. Upon the approval of an application by the State Society to which it is made, one copy shall be transmitted to the Registrar General of the National Society, who shall examine further the eligibility of the applicant. If satisfied that the member is not eligible, he shall return the application for correction. And in case of such return the State Society shall, on failure to satisfy the Registrar General of the eligibility of such applicant, drop his name from membership.

SECTION 3. The official designation of the members of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution shall be "Compatriots."

ARTICLE IV.—NATIONAL AND STATE SOCIETIES.

SECTION 1. The National Society shall embrace all the members of the State Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution now existing or which may hereafter be established under this Constitution.

SECTION 2. Whenever in any State or Territory in which a State Society does not exist, or in which a State Society has become inactive or failed for two years to pay its annual dues to the National Society, fifteen or more persons duly qualified for membership in this Society may associate themselves as a State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and organize in accordance with this Constitution, they may be admitted by the General Board of Managers to the National Society as "The ——— Society of the Sons of the American Revolution," and shall thereafter have exclusive local jurisdiction in the State or Territory or in the District in which they are organized, subject to the provisions of this Constitution; but this provision shall not be construed so as to exclude the admission of members living in other States.

SECTION 3. Each State Society shall judge of the qualifications of its members and of those proposed for membership, subject to the provisions of this Constitution, and shall regulate all matters pertaining to its own affairs. It shall have authority to establish local chapters within its own jurisdiction and to endow the chapters with such power as it may deem proper, not inconsistent with this Constitution. It shall have authority, after due notice and impartial trial, to expel any member who, by conduct unbecoming a gentleman, shall render himself unworthy to remain a member of the Society.

SECTION 4. Each State Society shall submit to the Annual Congress of the National Society a report, setting forth by name the additions, transfers and deaths, and any other changes in the membership and progress of the State Society during the preceding year, and make such suggestions as it shall deem proper for the promotion of the objects of the whole Order.

SECTION 5. Whenever a member in good standing in his Society changes his residence from the jurisdiction of the State Society of which he is a member to that of another, he shall be entitled, if he so elects, to a certificate of honorable dismission from his own State Society, in order that he may be transferred to the State Society to whose jurisdiction he has changed his residence; provided, that his membership shall continue in the former until he shall have been elected a member of the latter. Each State Society shall, however, retain full control of the admission of members by transfer.

SECTION 6. Whenever the word "State" occurs in this Constitution, it shall be held to include within its meaning the District of Columbia and the Territories of the United States.

SECTION 7. A Society may be formed in any foreign country by fifteen or more persons who are eligible to membership under this Constitution, which shall bear the same relation to the National organization as the State Society, subject to the provisions of this Constitution.

ARTICLE V.—OFFICERS AND MANAGERS.

SECTION 1. The General Officers of the National Society shall be a President General, five Vice-Presidents General, a Secretary General, Treasurer General, Registrar General, Historian General and Chaplain General, who shall be elected by ballot by a vote of the majority of the members present at the annual meeting of the Congress of the National Society, and shall hold office for one year and until their successors are elected; Provided, that the President General and five Vice-Presidents General shall not be elected for a second consecutive term.

SECTION 2. The General Officers, together with the Presidents of the State Societies ex-officio, shall constitute the General Board of Managers of the National Society, which Board shall have authority to adopt and promulgate the By-Laws of the National Society, to prescribe the duties of the General Officers, to provide the seal, to designate and make regulations for the issue of the insignia, and to transact the general business of the National Society during the intervals between the sessions of the Congress. Meetings of the General Board may be held, after not less than ten days' notice, at the call of the President General, or, in case of his absence or inability, at the call of the Senior Vice-President General, certified by the Secretary General. Meetings shall be called at the request of seven members. At such meetings seven shall constitute a quorum.

SECTION 3. An Executive Committee of seven, of whom the President General shall be Chairman, may be elected by the Board of Managers, which Committee shall, in the interim between the meetings of the Board, transact such business as may be delegated to it by the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE VI.—DUES.

Each State Society shall pay annually to the Treasurer General, to defray the expenses of the National Society, twenty-five cents for each active member thereof, unless intermitted by the National Congress, provided that the National Board of Management may increase said dues at any time, not to exceed fifty cents in all, by a two-thirds vote, when the necessities of the National Society so demand. All such dues shall be paid on or before the first day of April in each year for the ensuing year, in order to secure representation in the Congress of the National Society.

ARTICLE VII.—MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

SECTION 1. The Annual Congress of the National Society for the election of the General Officers and for the transaction of business shall be held on the 30th day of April or on the first day of May in every year. The time, hour and place of such meeting shall be designated by the Board of Managers.

SECTION 2. Special meetings of the Congress may be called by the President General, and shall be called by him when directed so to do by the Board of Managers, or whenever requested in writing so to do by at least five State Societies, on giving thirty days' notice, specifying the time and place of such meeting and the business to be transacted.

SECTION 3. The following shall be members of all such annual or special meetings of the Congress, and shall be entitled to vote therein:

(1) All the officers and the ex-Presidents General of the National Society.

(2) The President and Senior Vice-President of each State Society.

(3) One delegate at large from each State Society.

(4) One delegate for every fifty members of the Society within a State and for a fraction of twenty-five or over.

SECTION 4. State Societies shall be represented at meetings of the National Society only by members of their own State Society, or by members of other State Societies who may be designated by the regularly appointed delegates from such State Society who may be present at any meeting of the National Society; and the delegates representing any State Society, as provided herein, shall be authorized to cast the entire vote to which such State Society is entitled, each delegate or representative present being authorized to cast his proportionate vote, or fraction thereof.

ARTICLE VIII.—AMENDMENTS.

This Constitution may be altered or amended at any meeting of the Congress of the National Society, provided that sixty days' notice of the proposed alterations or amendments, which shall first have been recommended by a State Society, shall be sent by the Secretary General to the President of each State Society. A vote of two-thirds of those present shall be necessary to their adoption.

BY-LAWS

OF THE

National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

ARTICLE I.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

All nominations of officers shall be made from the floor, and the election shall be by ballot. A majority shall elect. The nominations may be acted upon directly, or may be referred to a committee to examine and report.

ARTICLE II.—OFFICERS.

The duties of the General Officers shall be such as usually appertain to their offices, and they shall have such other duties as are hereinafter imposed. They shall report at the annual meeting, and at such other times as they may be required to do so by the General Board of Managers.

ARTICLE III.—PRESIDENT GENERAL.

SECTION 1. The President General, in addition to his general duties, shall be ex-officio chairman of the General Board of Managers and of the Executive Committee, and a member of every other committee.

SECTION 2. At each Annual Meeting he shall appoint the following Standing Committees:

Committee on Auditing,
" Correspondence,
" Credentials,
" Finance,
" Organization,
" Unfinished Business.

The duties of the above committees shall be such as usually pertain to committees of like character, and such as may be defined by the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE IV.—VICE-PRESIDENTS GENERAL.

SECTION 1. In the absence of the President General, the Senior Vice-President General shall preside at the Annual Meeting.

SECTION 2. In the prolonged absence or inability to act of the President General, the executive authority shall be vested in the Vice-President General first in order of precedence.

ARTICLE V.—SECRETARY GENERAL.

The Secretary General, in addition to his general duties, shall have charge of the seal, give due notice of all meetings of the National Society or General Board of Lieutenant J. C. Cresap, Deceased.

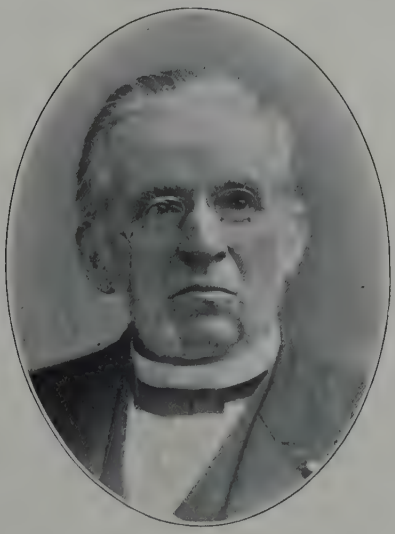
First Secretary-General National Society, S. A. R., 1889-90-91.



Luther L. Tarbell, Deceased.

First Registrar-General National Society, S. A. R., 1889-90.
Hon. Vice-President General National Society, S. A. R. 1901.

Managers, of which he shall be ex-officio a member. He shall give due notice to all general officers and State Societies of all votes, orders and proceedings affecting or appertaining to their duties. He shall distribute all pamphlets, circulars, rosettes and supplies, as directed by the General Board of Managers.

ARTICLE VI.—Treasurer General.

Section 1 The Treasurer General shall collect and receive the funds and securities of the National Society. He shall deposit the same to the credit of the "Sons of the American Revolution," and shall draw them thence for the use of the National Society, as directed by it or by the General Board of Managers, upon the order of the President General, countersigned by the Secretary General. His accounts shall be audited by a committee to be appointed at the Annual Meeting.

Section 2. He shall, if so required by the General Board of Managers or the Executive Committee, give bonds for the safe custody and application of the funds.

ARTICLE VII.—Registrar General.

The Registrar General shall keep a Register of the names and dates of the election, resignation or death of all members of the several State Societies, and shall have the care and custody of all duplicate applications for membership. He shall issue, upon the requisition of the Secretaries or Registrars of the several State Societies certificates of membership and insignia to every member entitled thereto, through such Secretaries or Registrars.

ARTICLE VIII.—Historian General.

The Historian General shall have the custody of all the historical and biographical collection of which the National Society may become possessed, and shall place the same in a fire-proof repository for preservation.

ARTICLE IX.—Chaplain General.

The Chaplain General shall be a regularly ordained minister, and shall open and close all general meetings of the National Society with the services usual and proper on such occasions.

ARTICLE X.—State Societies.

Every State Society shall—

(1) Notify the Secretary General of the election and appointment of all officers and delegates.

(2) Pay to the Treasurer General on the first day of March, or within sixty days thereafter, the sum of twenty-five cents for each active member thereof.

(3) Transmit to the Registrar General duplicate applications of all accepted members, and notify him of the resignation or death of all members thereof.

ARTICLE XI.—General Board of Managers.

Section 1. The General Board of Managers shall prepare and carry out plans for promoting the objects and growth of the Society; shall generally superintend its interests, and shall execute such other duties as shall be committed to it at any meeting of the National Society. It shall have charge of the printing of the Diploma and the manufacturing of the Insignia, and shall determine the price at which the same shall be issued.

Section 2. It shall have authority to admit or reorganize as a State Society any association of fourteen or more persons duly qualified for membership in the Society.

Section 3. It shall have power to fill any vacancy occurring among the General Officers, and an officer so elected shall act until the following annual election and until his successor shall be elected.

SECTION 4. It shall have authority to make, alter and amend the By-Laws as hereinbefore provided.

SECTION 5. The President General may call meetings of the General Board of Managers at any time he may deem necessary, and shall call such meeting upon the written request of any five members thereof, provided that not less than five days' notice of the time and place of such meeting shall be given.

ARTICLE XII.—EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The President General may call a meeting of the Executive Committee at any time, and shall call such meeting on the written request of three members thereof.

ARTICLE XIII.—SEAL.

The seal of the Society shall be two and three-eighths of an inch in diameter, charged with the figure of a minuteman, grasping a musket in his right hand, and surrounded by a constellation of thirteen stars, who shall be depicted in the habit of a husbandman of the period of the American Revolution, and as in the act of deserting the plough for the service of his country; the whole encircled by a band three-eighths of an inch wide, within which shall appear the legend, "National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, organized April 30, 1889."

ARTICLE XIV.—CERTIFICATES.

Every member of this Society, wherever admitted, shall be entitled to a certificate of membership duly attested by the President General, Secretary General and Registrar General, countersigned by the President, Secretary and Registrar of the State Society to which such member shall have been admitted.

ARTICLE XV.—INSIGNIA.

The insignia of the Society shall comprise (1) a cross surmounted by an eagle in gold, (2) a rosette.

SECTION 1. The cross shall be of silver, with four arms, covered with white enamel and eight gold points, same size as a Chevalier's Cross of the Legion of Honor of France, with a gold medallion in the centre bearing on the obverse a bust of Washington in profile, and on the reverse the figure of a minuteman, surrounded by a ribbon enameled blue, with the motto: "Libertas et Patria" on the obverse, and the legend "Sons of the American Revolution" on the reverse, both in letters of gold. The cross shall be surmounted by an eagle in gold, and the whole decoration suspended from a ring of gold by a ribbon of deep blue, with white and buff edges, and may be worn by any member of the Society on ceremonial occasions only, and shall be carried on the left breast, or at the collar if an officer of the National Society, or the President, active or past, of a State Society.

SECTION 2. The rosette shall be seven-sixteenths of an inch in diameter, of usual pattern, displaying the colors of the Society, blue, white and buff, and may be worn by all members at discretion in the upper left-hand buttonhole of the coat.

ARTICLE XVI.—INDEBTEDNESS.

No debts shall be contracted on behalf of the National Society. Every obligation for the payment of money, except checks drawn against deposits, executed in the name or on behalf of the National Society, shall be null and void.

ARTICLE XVII.—AMENDMENTS.

These By-Laws may be altered or amended by a vote of three-fourths of the members present at any meeting of the General Board of Managers, notice thereof having been given at a previous meeting.

ANCESTOR'S SERVICE.

"Any man shall be eligible to membership in this Society, who, being of the age of twenty-one years or over, and a citizen of good repute in the community, is the lineal descendant of an ancestor, who was at all times unfailing in his loyalty to and rendered actual service in the cause of American Independence, either as an officer, soldier, seaman, marine, militiaman or minute man, in the armed forces of the Continental Congress or of any one of the several Colonies or States; or as a Signer of the Declaration of Independence; or as a member of a Committee of Safety or Correspondence, or as a member of any Continental, Provincial, or Colonial Congress or Legislature; or as a civil officer either of one of the Colonies or States or of the National Government; or as a recognized patriot, who performed actual service by overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain."—Constitution of National Society S. A. R., Article III, Section 1, adopted June 16, 1893.

When the applicant derives eligibility of membership by descent from more than one ancestor, and it is desired to take advantage thereof, the history of each of said ancestor's services and the intermediate generations of the pedigree may all be written upon these pages; but it is desired that the history of each ancestor shall be written upon a separate blank when possible.

State fully such documentary or traditional authority as you found the following record upon, and also the residence of ancestors if known.

My ancestor's services in assisting in the establishment of American Independence during the War of the Revolution were as follows:

HOW TO BECOME A MEMBER

OF THE

SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

ANY person may be eligible to membership in this Society who is a male above the age of twenty-one, and is lineally descended from an ancestor who assisted in establishing American Independence during the War of the Revolution, either as a military or naval officer, a soldier or a sailor, an official in the service of any of the thirteen original colonies of the United Colonies or States, or of Vermont, a member of the Committee of Correspondence or of Public Safety, etc., or a recognized patriot who rendered material service in the cause of American Independence.

Blank forms for application for membership will be furnished by the Secretary of any State Society, S. A. R. The applications are to be made out in duplicate, or, if the applicant desires membership in a local chapter, in triplicate, and forwarded to the Secretary of the State Society, or to the Secretary of the local chapter.

In the application is set forth the line of descent from and the service rendered by the ancestor through whom eligibility is claimed, together with a memorandum of the authority for the statement of service and an affidavit as to the line of descent, etc. Supplemental application blanks are furnished when it is desired to claim eligibility through more than one ancestor, but no charge is made for filing supplemental applications.

Persons desiring to establish claims to eligibility for membership in this Society are frequently at a loss to know just how to proceed. Family records and the majority of town histories, while of the greatest value to those interested in them, are not accepted by the officers of the Society as authority for anything more than the line of descent. The military or civil services of an ancestor must invariably be certified to by the proper officials either of the State in whose service the ancestor was, or of the General Government, except in cases where the service can be found in such publications as will hereafter be mentioned. Occasionally original warrants for land granted for military service, commissions, discharges, muster-rolls, certificates of membership in the Order of the Cincinnati, etc., are available. Such papers, or duly certified copies, are accepted as proof of service.

In most instances the family records and traditions set forth the revolutionary services of ancestors, but it is frequently found that the family records contain nothing more than the names of ancestors and the intermediate generations. To assist in the work of certifying family records and to aid those who are investigating to ascertain whether or not their ancestors rendered service for the cause of Independence, the following suggestions are offered:

PENSIONS.

If the ancestor is supposed to have been a pensioner, address "The Honorable Commissioner of Pensions, Washington, D. C.," setting forth the facts or suppositions in the case. He will reply, usually within two or three weeks, and no charge is made for search or certificate. It must be borne in mind, however, that most of the records of pensions granted for the relief of those disabled in service, together with the rosters of soldiers that were on file in the War Department, were destroyed by fire in 1800 or burned by the British in 1814. The first laws were passed in 1818, granting pensions to those who had served not less than nine months in the Continental Line or the Navy. This did not reach the Militia or Minute-men. In 1820, Congress restricted this law to those who would prove that they were in needy circumstances, as eight thousand men had applied for pensions. The "Alarm Act" of 1820, as it was called, touched the pride of a great number of the pensioners to such an extent that they withdrew their names from the rolls. In 1832 an act was passed granting pensions to all survivors, providing they had served at least six months, either in the Line or the Militia. Thus those who had served less than six months were not entitled to the benefits of the act.

The widows of soldiers who had been married before 1853 were entitled to pensions, and through the papers of the widow on file in the Pension Office, many records can be found.

OFFICERS OF THE CONTINENTAL LINE.

If the ancestor were an officer in the Continental Line (the regular army of the Revolution) consult "Heitman's Historical Register of the Officers of the Continental Army," which contains the records of about nine-tenths of the officers of the Line and a few Militia officers.

CIVIL OFFICERS.

If the ancestor were a civil officer, Member of Legislature, Congress, State Council, Committees of Safety, Correspondence, Inspection, etc., during the War, consult authentic histories or address the Secretary of State of the State in which the ancestor resided.

STATE RECORDS.

In some States it is an easy matter to secure official information in regard to services of revolutionary ancestors, while in other States it is almost impossible to secure information of any description, owing to the failure to properly preserve the records or the loss of records by fire or other causes. The following is a list of States in which troops or seamen were raised for the prosecution of the war and some directions for securing information concerning their records:

CONNECTICUT.

A very complete list of nearly 28,000 names has been printed by this State. The volume is entitled "Connecticut Men in the War of the Revolution," and is to be found in many of the large libraries.

DELAWARE.

The records of this State are scant. Address the Secretary of State, Dover, Del., who charges two cents per line for copies and $1.00 for certificate.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

GEORGIA.

The Georgia Historical Society, of which William Harden, Savannah, Ga., is Secretary, owns many books and manuscripts referring to the Revolution. A small fee is charged for search.

MAINE.

Copies of records on file may be obtained, at typewriter charges, of the Bureau of Industrial and Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

MARYLAND.

The Commissioner of the Land Office, Annapolis, Md., will make a search in such records as are available, for 25 cents. Where the name is found a certificate is furnished for 75 cents. The Scharf Library at Johns Hopkins University contains one hundred muster rolls, etc.

MASSACHUSETTS.

This State has a magnificent "card system" of index to Revolutionary military service. The Secretary of the Commonwealth, Boston, Mass., charges $1.00 for certificate of service, but makes no charge if name is not found.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The Secretary of State, Concord, N. H., charges $3.00 for certificate of service, but where name is not found no charge is made for the search.

NEW JERSEY.

The Adjutant-General has compiled and printed the "New Jersey Register of Men in the Revolution." The book may be found in many of the large libraries.

NEW YORK.

Volume I of the Archives of the State of New York contains the names of some 40,000 officers and men, and is to be found in our large libraries.

NORTH CAROLINA.

All Revolutionary records appear to be lost. A few names of officers may be found in such publications as "Saffell's Records of the Revolution," "Heitman's Historical Register of Officers of the Continental Army," "Hammersley's Hundred-Year Register," etc., which are to be found in many libraries.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Hon. William H. Egle, M. D., the venerable historian of Pennsylvania, who is State Librarian at Harrisburg, Pa., makes a charge of $2.00 for search, and in case the name is found, adds a fee of $1.00 for the certificate. The Archives of Pennsylvania, available in many large libraries, contain many lists of Revolutionary soldiers.

RHODE ISLAND.

The Secretary of State, Providence, R. I., has charge of the Revolutionary records, and makes a charge of $2.00 for search, and in case the name is found, adds a fee of $1.00 for the certificate.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Same as North Carolina. "Gregg's History of the Old Cheraws" also contains the names of a few men from this State.

VERMONT.

The Adjutant-General, Montpelier, Vt., charges $2.00 for certificate of service, but makes no charge for search where name is not found.

VIRGINIA.

With the exception of the records of land warrants, and a few rosters given in "Saffell's Records of the Revolution," it is a very hard matter to secure information of Revolutionary service in this State. Mr. W. G. Stanard, of Richmond, Va., a professional geneaologist, charges $1.00 for searching such records as are at hand in the Capitol; and in cases where he finds the record, he secures the proper certificate for $1.50 extra.

WAR DEPARTMENT RECORDS.

Through the efforts of the Sons of the American Revolution, Congress passed a bill some time since providing for the gathering and indexing of all available Revolutionary records by the War Department. This work has been one of great magnitude, a large force of clerks having been kept at work for many months. The War Records Office in Washington now has a card index which is of inestimable value to this nation. A letter addressed to the "Chief of the Record and Pension Office, War Department, Washington, D. C.," will always meet with a courteous reply. The following extracts from a letter written by Colonel F. C. Ainsworth, U. S. Army, the present Chief of the Record and Pension Office, will show clearly to what extent inquiries should be limited:

"The Department is now prepared to answer all reasonable inquiries." * * * "Many of the requests that are now being received, however, are based upon such indefinite data, or involve the search of the records for so many different men, that it has been found impracticable to comply with them." * * * "The Department has therefore been compelled to limit its search in the case of any one correspondent to the names of not more than two ancestors, whose full names must be given, as well as the States of which they are supposed to have been residents."

CONSULT YOUR STATE LIBRARY.

Its thousands of volumes of National, State, County and Town Histories, Genealogies and Public Records offer rare inducements to persons searching for the military, civil or family records of their Revolutionary or Colonial ancestry.

Reference to any of the following books in the State Library will be accepted by the officers of the Sons of the American Revolution, without further certificate, as authority for service:

Archives of the State of New York. Volume I contains the names of some 40,000 soldiers from New York State.

Archives of Pennsylvania. The two volumes of this immense collection of Pennsylvania history, which contain the lists of the Revolutionary soldiers of the State, have been stolen from the library, but will be replaced upon the completion of another edition, now in hand.

Census of Pensioners, 1840.

Connecticut Men in the Revolution. Contains the names and service of nearly 28,000 soldiers from Connecticut.

Hammersley's Hundred-Year Register of the U. S. Army. Contains names of many officers of the Continental Line.

Heitman's Historical Register of the Officers of the Continental Army. Contains the names and service of about 10,000 officers, mostly of the Continental Line, a few names of officers of Militia and Minute-men, and the names and service of many of the French Allies.

New Jersey Register of Men in the Revolution. Compiled by Adjutant-General Stryker; a valuable roster of the officers and men of New Jersey who served in the Revolution.

Saffell's Records of the Revolutionary War. Contains the names of some 50,000 officers and soldiers of Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, etc., arranged by regiment and company, but not indexed.

United States Government Public Documents. Complete set. In these documents may be found all actions of Congress regarding Revolutionary claims, Pension Roll of 1835 (Volumes 12, 13 and 14, Senate Documents, 23d Congress, First Session), Census of Revolutionary Pensioners of 1840, etc., etc.

Whiteley's Revolutionary Soldiers of Delaware. A pamphlet, containing roster of Colonel Hall's Regiment, 1780, and several companies.

The various Historical Societies of the country have, during the past hundred years, gathered and preserved in print, a vast amount of history. There is no descendant of the Revolutionary or Colonial families of America who could not extend his knowledge of his ancestors or the localities in which they lived, by searching the Historical Collections in the State Library.

NUMBER OF TROOPS

FURNISHED DURING THE WAR OF THE REVOLUTION BY THE SEVERAL STATES.

(Copyright, 1892, by F. B. Heitman, Washington, D. C.)

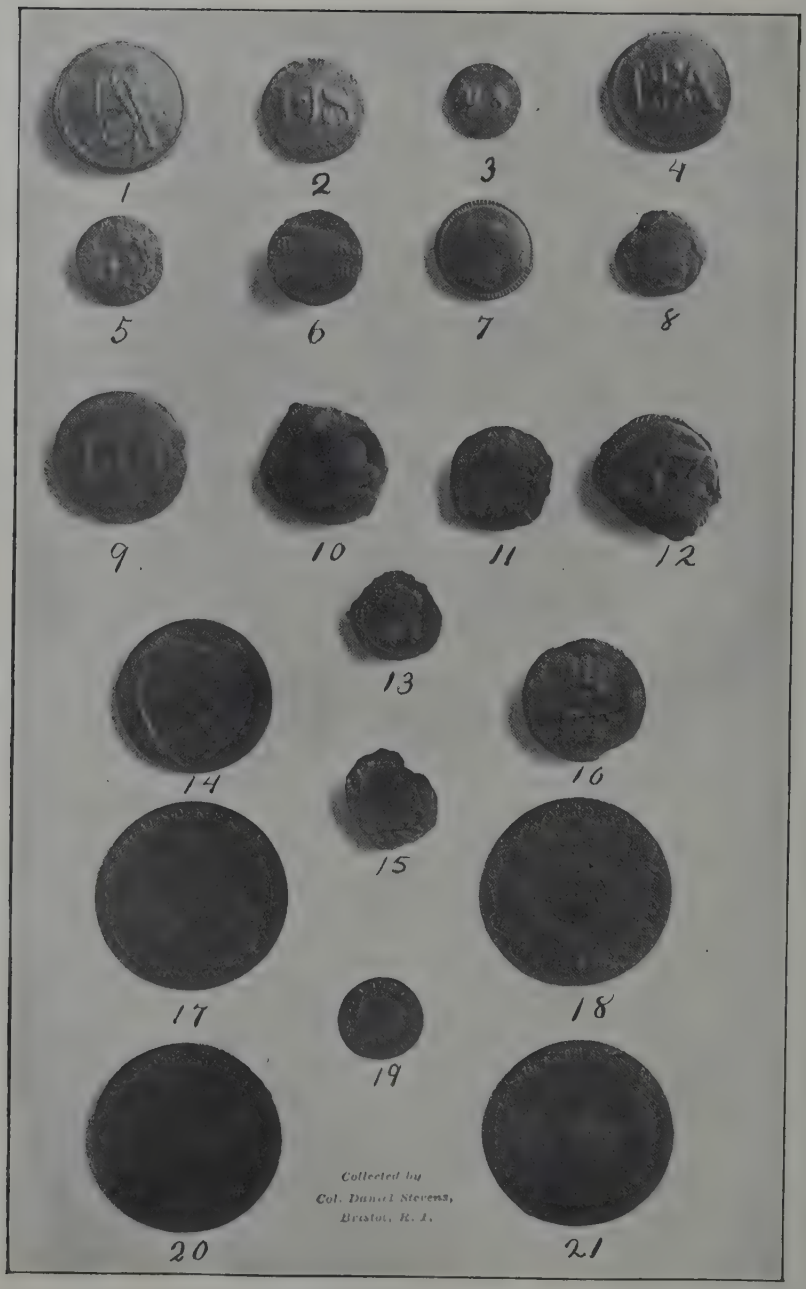
THE exact number of men in the Continental Establishment, furnished by each State in the War of the Revolution, is not known, but an approximate estimate, made by Colonel Pierce, Paymaster-General of the Continental Army, and the Treasury Accountants, in 1787, is as shown in the first column of this table. In addition, however, all the States furnished regiments, or independent battalions, or companies of State troops, militia, rangers, riflemen, etc., for brief services, who were called out to assist the Continental Army in emergencies, or were raised to protect and defend their own States, many of whom were in service at two or more different periods. The exact number thus furnished cannot be given, but upon examination of various estimates, I believe the figures shown in the second column of the table to be, in round figures, approximately correct:

	Continental Army.	State Troops, Militia, etc.	Total.
New Hampshire	12,497	4,000	16,497
Massachusetts	67,907	20,000	87,907
Rhode Island	5,908	4,000	9,908
Connecticut	31,930	9,000	40,939
New York	17,781	10,000	27,781
New Jersey	10,726	7,000	17,726
Pennsylvania	25,678	10,000	35,678
Delaware	2,386	1,000	3,386
Maryland	13,912	9,000	22,912
Virginia	26,678	30,000	56,678
North Carolina	7,263	13,000	20,263
South Carolina	6,417	20,000	26,417
Georgia	2,679	8,000	10,679
Total	231,771	145,000	376,771

The total here given is excessive as to the number that served in the army, for many served two, three and even four terms. Many of the men who entered the service in 1775 re-entered in 1776, and again in 1777, and again in 1780, and were, therefore, counted two, three or four times, and from the best information attainable it is fair to assume that the number of individuals actually engaged in the military service during the war did not exceed 250,000.



Buttons of the Revolution.

BUTTONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 are AMERICAN ARMY BUTTONS. No. 1 is wood, pewter-faced, with gutstring for a shank. Nos. 2 and 3 are pewter, with iron shanks, and No. 4 is entirely of pewter.

No. 5 is a pewter button of a noted TORY REGIMENT of the BRITISH ARMY known as the FIRST AMERICANS or QUEEN'S RANGERS.

No. 6 is a pewter button of the most despised TORY REGIMENT of the BRITISH ARMY, BUTLER'S RANGERS, who were engaged in the massacres of Wyoming and Cherry Valley.

No. 7 is a pewter button of the KING'S EIGHTH FOOT, a regular line regiment of the BRITISH ARMY, who saw much hard service on the Lakes during both the Wars of 1776 and 1812.

No. 8 is a pewter button of the THIRTY-FOURTH FOOT of BRITISH REGULARS. The flank companies were captured with Burgoyne.

No. 9 is a pewter button of the TENTH FOOT BRITISH REGULARS. They were in Boston at the commencement of the Revolutionary War and fought at Bunker Hill, Long Island, Brandywine, Germantown and in operations around New York.

No. 10 is a pewter button of the TWENTY-SECOND FOOT BRITISH REGULARS, who fought at Bunker Hill, Brooklyn, Rhode Island and in operations around New York.

No. 11 is a pewter button of the THIRTY-EIGHTH FOOT BRITISH REGULARS, who fought at Bunker Hill, Brooklyn and in operations around New York.

No. 12 is a pewter button of the FIFTY-SEVENTH FOOT BRITISH REGULARS, who were mostly engaged around New York, but one company surrendered at Yorktown.

No. 13 is a pewter button of the FORTY-FOURTH FOOT BRITISH REGULARS, who landed in Boston just after the battle of Bunker Hill and fought through the War of the Revolution, and were also very active in the War of 1812, being one of the regiments that captured Washington, D. C.

No. 14 is a brass button of the BRITISH ARTILLERY, who were engaged in almost every action during the war.

No. 15 is a pewter button of the FORTIETH FOOT of BRITISH REGULARS, a regiment particularly distinguished for its defence of the Chew House at the Battle of Germantown, and for which act of bravery they were awarded medals by the British Government.

No. 16 is a pewter button of the BRITISH ARMY and probably of a TORY REGIMENT, but its identity is not quite clear.

Nos. 17, 18, 19, 20 AND 21 are different types of WASHINGTON buttons, and probably none of them is military, but were used by gentlemen during Washington's administration as President, although Colonel Asa Bird Gardiner, in an article in the "Magazine of American History," published some years ago, claims No. 20 was used on the uniforms of officers of Washington's staff.

ARIZONA SOCIETY.

THE Arizona Society of S. A. R. was finally organized on the 13th of June, 1896, although its inception dates back to 1891, and through the efforts of Adjutant-General H. F. Robinson the organization of the society was perfected.

Charter Members—H. F. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, J. Frank Elwell, Shirley Christy, Charles B. Christy, George D. Christy, A. P. Walbridge, L. W. Coggins, J. Ernest Walker.

The annual meeting of the society is held on the 22d of February of each year unless the same shall fall on Sunday, in which case upon the day following. This meeting is followed by a banquet which has been very successful.

Flag Day is usually observed with appropriate exercises.

During the time that General H. F. Robinson was President of the society a flag bill was passed by the Legislature, to prevent the desecration of the national flag.

Through the instrumentality of the society during the year of 1900, the society of D. A. R. was formed with about fifteen members.

L. W. COGGINS, President.

RICARDO EDSALL MINER, Historian.

ARKANSAS SOCIETY.

A SPECIAL committee of the New Jersey Society requested Governor James P. Eagle to co-operate in the establishment of a Society in Arkansas. Governor Eagle, a descendant of the Revolution, issued commissions from his office under the seal of the State to several of the leading citizens authorizing them to institute a Society in the State of Arkansas. During the summer and fall of 1889, the Registrar prepared biographical sketches of persons who desired membership in the Society, and these sketches were printed in the newspapers of the Capitol of the State, creating popular interest in Revolutionary ancestors, and in this way added a number of new members to their rolls.

On February 11, 1890, the Society, having a membership of forty, adopted a permanent constitution and by-laws, and a set of officers was elected as follows:

President, Colonel Samuel W. Williams.
Vice-President, Hon. R. A. Edgerton.
Secretary and Registrar, Professor Josiah H. Shinn.
Historian, Fay Hempstead.
Treasurer, G. F. Rozell.

Delegates—Governor James P. Eagle, of Little Rock, and John M. Hill, of Fort Smith, a son of General D. H. Hill.

The Society, although small, has awakened public interest in Revolutionary memories, and is expected to prove a useful factor in promoting patriotic spirit in the State.

The death of the President of the Society was announced in the last annual year book.

CALIFORNIA SOCIETY.

IN 1876 the one hundredth anniversary of American Independence was celebrated in every prominent city in the United States. In earlier times during the annual celebration of the Fourth of July it had been the custom for surviving soldiers of the Revolution to join in the public parades. Before 1876 had arrived the veterans of the Revolution had passed away. To take their place in the celebration in that year in San Francisco, a resident of that city proposed the formation of a detachment of sons and grandsons of soldiers of the American Revolution, and from this celebration really sprang the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, as the following resolutions show:

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 14, 1900.

COLONEL A. S. HUBBARD, New City Hall, San Francisco:

I greet you as past President-General. LUCIUS P. DEMING.

WHEREAS, The Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was first organized in the State of California on the Fourth of July, 1876;

WHEREAS, To Colonel A. S. Hubbard, of the California Society, is due, in a large degree, the credit of organizing that Society, and, in still greater degree, the credit of maintaining that Society through trials which would have discouraged a less patriotic man; now, therefore,

Resolved, That in the publication of the names of the Presidents-General at the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the name of Colonel A. S. Hubbard be hereinafter included.

Resolved, That the Secretary-General be, and is hereby instructed to inform Colonel A. S. Hubbard of the honor which this Congress has conferred upon him.

A true copy.

COLORADO SOCIETY.

THE Colorado Society Sons of the American Revolution was organized July 4, 1896, with Joseph F. Tuttle, Jr., as President, and thirteen charter members; headquarters at Denver. It now has a membership of over 140, and is growing rapidly in strength and influence.

Regular monthly meetings have been held, at which a systematic series of papers have been read, covering the events of the Revolutionary War by years and by States, the lives and characteristics of the leading American and British officers, and other subjects of general interest.

No Revolutionary monuments have been erected, nor historic spots preserved in this State. At the birth of the nation Colorado was an unbroken wilderness; but when the soldiers of the Continental Army had been disbanded they turned their faces to the West, having vanquished an Eastern foe, and their descendants conquered the wilderness.

A sword was sent by the Colorado society to its President, General Irving Hale, who was serving in the Philippines. At the time of presentation of Spanish war medals and certificates, the society also presented to each of its members who served in that war a gold medal of special design.

Cash, books and magazines have been sent to the American Library of Manila for the benefit of the soldiers and sailors in the Philippines.

The society adopted appropriate resolutions upon the death of President and Compatriot McKinley, and participated in the memorial parade and services.

A flag law, drawn and advocated by this society, passed the last Legislature without opposition, and was promptly signed by the Governor. The placing of Colorado on the list of States which have adopted stringent legislation against the desecration of the flag was thus primarily due to the efforts of the Colorado Society Sons of the American Revolution.

The Old War Office of Governor Jonathan Trumbull, at Lebanon, Conn.

Preserved by Connecticut Society, S. A. R.

CONNECTICUT SOCIETY.

THE Connecticut Society has preserved the following historic landmarks in the State:

1. The Lebanon War Office, in which were held the meetings of the Council of Safety during the Revolution. This Council was appointed by the General Assembly of Connecticut early in the war, with power to forward troops, munitions of war and supplies, together with other powers, making the Council a substitute for the General Assembly when that body was not in session.

The building was restored and repaired by the Connecticut Society in 1891, is owned by that Society, and is now used as a public library and depository of revolutionary relics.

For further particulars see "The Lebanon War Office," published by the Society in 1892, and still for sale for the benefit of the Memorial Fund.

2. The Nathan Hale Schoolhouse, at New London. This building, in which Nathan Hale taught from May, 1774, to July, 1775, at which time he joined the army, has been purchased by the Connecticut Society, with the assistance of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It has been restored to its original condition and removed to public ground granted for the purpose. The building was dedicated, with appropriate ceremonies, on the 17th of June, 1901. It is now occupied as the headquarters of the Lucretia Shaw Chapter, D. A. R.

The bronze tablets erected by the society are the following:

June 29th, 1894.—On the elm tree in front of the Wadsworth Athenæum in Hartford, commemorating the first visit of Washington to Connecticut. See Year Book, 1895-6, p. 47.

July 5th, 1895.—At Beacon Hill, New Haven, commemorating the defense of New Haven at the time of Tryon's invasion, July 5th, 1779. The proceedings at this ceremony, with addresses in full, are recorded in a book published by the David Humphreys Branch of the Society.

June 17th, 1896.—In the Lebanon War Office, indicating the character of the building and recording the names of some of the prominent men of the Revolution who have been within its walls. See Year Book, 1897-9, p. 51.

June 17th, 1901.—In the Nathan Hale Schoolhouse at New London, commemorating the service and martyrdom of Nathan Hale, and indicating the character of the building. The proceedings at the unveiling of this tablet and at the dedication of the Nathan Hale Schoolhouse will be published in the next year-book of the Society.

In addition to these tablets the Society has issued, upon carefully attested applications, 720 bronze grave-markers, designating graves of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots in the State. These markers were designed by a member of the Society, and adopted for the purpose of marking the graves of Revolutionary patriots throughout the State.

The Society has, for five years, awarded prizes to the extent of one hundred dollars each year, for excellence in original essays on designated subjects connected with the American Revolution, by pupils in schools throughout the State.

The publications of the Society have been:

Year-book for 1891, 214 pages. Octavo.

Year-book for 1892. 274 pages. Octavo.

Year-book for 1893-4. 450 pages. Octavo.
Year-book for 1895-6. 614 pages. Octavo.
Year-book for 1897, '98 and '99. 701 pages. Octavo.
The Lebanon War Office, 1891. 96 pages. Octavo.

The David Humphreys Branch of the Society has also published Songs of the American Revolution, and the account of the ceremonies at Beacon Hill, New Haven, July 5th, 1895.

The Society has contributed to the preservation of the Putnam Wolf Den at Pomfret, Conn., which has now been acquired by an organization formed for the purpose of preserving this landmark in commemoration of the youthful heroism of General Israel Putnam.

GENERAL EDWIN S. GREELEY.

EDWIN SENECA GREELEY, born in Nashua, N. H., May 20, 1832, son of Seneca Greeley, grandson of Col. Joseph Greeley, who served as a private and sergeant in Capt. Wm. Walker's company, Second New Hampshire Regiment, from April 25, 1775, until October 28, 1777; was wounded at Bunker Hill, was in action at Bennington, Vt., marched on Fort Ticonderoga, and joined General Gates' army in time to participate in the action causing the surrender of General Burgoyne's army. Subsequently became Colonel of the Second Regiment New Hampshire Militia.

The subject of this sketch is seventh in line of descent from Andrew Greeley, who came to this country from Londonderry, Ireland, in 1640, and settled in the town of Salsbury, Mass. Andrew Greeley's father and mother were Scotch. Horace Greeley was a cousin of Seneca Greeley. Edwin S. Greeley was educated in the common schools and Crosby Academy in his native town. Worked on a farm and in a cotton mill when a boy. At seventeen learned machinist trade and worked at locomotive building until the War of the Rebellion broke out. Enlisted as a private August 31, 1861. Appointed First Lieutenant Tenth Regiment Connecticut Volunteers October 22, 1861; promoted to all intermediate grades to rank of Brevet Brigadier General United States Volunteers; mustered out of service August 25, 1865; honorably discharged September 5, 1865. Participated in all the principal engagements in Department of North Carolina under Generals Burnside and Foster; Department of the South under Generals Hunter and Gilmore; Army of the James, Department of Virginia, under Butler, Gilmore, Ord, Terry and U. S. Grant.

Entered mercantile life Nov., 1865, in railway and electrical supplies, under firm name of L. G. Tillotson & Co., later E. S. Greeley & Co. and The E. S. Greeley Co., which became the leading house in this country for railway and electrical supplies. Has been extensively engaged in furnishing supplies and building electric railways, electric light plants and telegraph lines. Is now a director in several manufacturing companies, President of the Ottenheimer Bros. Corset Co., vice-president of Yale National Bank of New Haven, vice-president and member of Prudential Committee of Grace Hospital, vice-president Connecticut State Soc. S. A. R., member of Executive Committee and chairman of Committee on Revolutionary Monuments Nat. Soc. S. A. R., member of Loyal Legion Commandery State of New York, also of Admiral Foote Post G. A. R., New Haven; member of Chamber of Commerce, Free Masons, Army and Navy Club and Congregational Club, Union League Club; life member of New Haven County Historical Society; member of Young Men's Institute. Is a loyal supporter of the Republican party, and has been prominent in its councils. Served two years on Board of Aldermen, and two years as member of Board of Charities and Corrections, but declined to consider nominations for political offices. A liberal supporter of religious and charitable work. Married Elizabeth A. Corey, daughter of Daniel Corey, of Taunton, Mass., February 20, 1856. Has one adopted child, Jennie E. Greeley. His residence on Trumbull Street, New Haven, in the beautiful City of Elms, is one of the most charming and attractive of its many handsome homes.

General Greeley is deeply interested in all public matters that pertain to the prosperity and advancement of the business and educational interests of his adopted city. He has been especially interested in the Manual Training School. The Scientific and Electrical apparatus for the laboratory was donated by him.

General Greeley is very much in earnest in his work for the Sons of the American Revolution, and can always be depended upon to put in an appearance at all the conventions and meetings.

COOCH'S BRIDGE, DELAWARE.

DELAWARE SOCIETY.

HON. HOWARD DE HAVEN ROSS, PRESIDENT.

THE 3d of September, 1901, was a red-letter day for the Delaware Society, Sons of the American Revolution. That memorable day to all patriotic Delawareans recorded one of the most notable events in the history of the State—the unveiling of the handsome flag memorial at Cooch's Bridge, Delaware, to mark the spot where the Stars and Stripes were first unfurled in battle, September 3, 1777. Our country's flag, moulded by Washington, fashioned by the hands of Betsy Ross, and at Cooch's Bridge first unfurled in battle, is there chiseled in Delaware granite to stand for all time upon its initial battlefield, as the token of our love and gratitude.

"Two babies' hands unveiled the stone,
Where first unfurled in battle shone
Our flag of thirteen bars,
Our flag of thirteen stars,
At Cooch's Bridge in Delaware,
And lo! defeated there;
For on that warm September third,
In Seventeen Seventy-Seven, was heard
No word of cheer for the thirteen bars,
No word of cheer for the thirteen stars,
Defeat, defeat, defeat alone,
Was all our dear flag knew;
When first unfurled in battle shone
Its red and white and blue.

"Two babies of our glorious land,
Two 'little soldiers,' heart and hand,
To live for freedom's cause,
In peace as well as wars;
In life's broad battlefield,
To right alone to yield.
'Twas fit that baby hands should raise,
The veil which hid the stone, whose praise
Tells where our flag in infancy
First floated to the breezes free;
Aspire, wee ones, to noble deeds,
And keep your wee hearts true;
In future action, future needs
Our country looks to you."

The monument at Cooch's Bridge was unveiled in beautiful ceremony by two little Blue Hen's Chickens of two Summers, descendants in the seventh generation from Revolutionary patriots. The one, Master Francis Allyn Cooch, Jr., is the lineal descendant of the head of the Cooch family, which still maintains in its estate the only historic battlefield on Delaware soil. The other, Master Howard De Haven Ross, Jr., life member of the Delaware Society and youngest member of the Sons of the American Revolution, is the lineal descendant of the De Haven family of Revolutionary fame, which gave material assistance to the cause of American Independence during the dreary Winter of the encampment of the patriot army under Washington at Valley Forge.

"Among the monuments that grace
Thy realm, and mark some storied place,
Make room, oh, Liberty!
For one plain stone, to tell the world
Where first in battle was unfurled
The banner of the free.

"The flag beneath whose graceful folds
Each man a crown and sceptre holds—
Each, king of this proud land;
But 'neath its white and crimson bars,
Its azure field of glittering stars,
Is felt no tyrant's hands.

"They little knew, our honored sires,
That kindled freedom's altar fires,
This flag came at God's call.
Nor dreamed they of a day to be
When it should float on land and sea,
High-thronèd over all.

"Come back, dear flag, with added stars,
Come, torn with storms of other wars,
Here was thy course begun.
High waving here 'mid loudest cheers,
And looking out across the years,
Review thy victories won.

"Come, spirits of heroic dead,
Who 'neath this banner fought and bled,
That this soil might be free;
Inspire us as we gather round
The stone set in this holy ground—
A shrine of liberty.

"God of our fathers, now let fall
Thy benediction over all
This land of ours, so fair;
Be with us while we dedicate
This sacred tablet to our State—
Beloved Delaware."

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA SOCIETY.

NOBLE D. LARNER, PRESIDENT.

THE story of the life, thus far, of the District of Columbia Society of the Sons of the American Revolution is brief and simple, but eminently satisfactory.

It has been strong and healthful, harmonious and influential, in promoting the objects enumerated in the Constitution.

Its growth has been steady, its meetings regular, well attended, and full of interest.

After several preliminary meetings a Constitution was adopted and the Society formally organized, with Admiral D. D. Porter as its first President, on July 25, 1890.

The first year it had a membership of 187. Since then the whole number of members has reached 763. On the roster to-day are 466 names.

Located in the Capital of our Country, the membership has been drawn from all parts of the Union, and many members have come and gone.

For the same reason we have had in our Society many men of note. The Army and Navy have been numerously represented, while the Supreme Court, the Senate and House of Representatives, the Departments, different Educational Institutions, and the different professions and business occupations of our country have contributed to our numbers and our reputation.

The Recruiting and Lookout Committees are still diligently at work, so that the increase for the present year is the largest for several years, a gratifying beginning of our second decade.

It is, therefore, permitted us, as compatriots, and as descendants of our Revolutionary ancestors, to look back upon the first decade of our Society with much of satisfaction, and to look forward to the coming decades and centuries with the hope that its membership may constantly increase and its influence ever become more potent in developing that spirit of patriotism so absolutely essential to the permanence of our Republic.

FLORIDA SOCIETY.

JOHN C. AVERY, PRESIDENT.

FLORIDA Society S. A. R. was organized March 14, 1896, with fifteen members. Lieutenant J. H. Bull, of the U. S. Navy, was elected President for the first year. He served for two terms, and until he was transferred from the Pensacola Navy Yard to other duty. Thereafter John C. Avery was elected to succeed him and has held the office of President ever since.

The Florida Society has not a large membership, but has become an institution in Pensacola, and may be regarded as permanent. Its present membership is thirty-five, comprising compatriots residing at various points in the State of Florida. Twenty-one of that number, however, live in Pensacola, where the meetings of the Society are held and its business transacted.

Annual banquets are given by the Society on February 22. Prominent citizens and officers of the Army and Navy and their wives usually participate in the enjoyment of those events.

The Florida Society owes most, if not all, of the success that it has achieved to Mr. W. O. H. Shepard, who has been its Secretary ever since its organization. His conscientious and intelligent work in performing the duties of his office has been and is invaluable, and entitles him to the esteem and gratitude of all his compatriots.

35 MEMBERS.

Organized March 14, 1896. Annual meeting on the 22nd of February, to commemorate the birthday of Washington.

SOCIETY IN FRANCE.

THE Society in France was organized September 16, 1897, at Paris, mainly through the efforts of Lieutenant Walter J. Sears, U. S. Navy. The Society stands well as an organization in France, by reason of having the Ambassador from the United States, General Horace Porter, as president.

In the past year a committee has been appointed to prepare a list of the French soldiers who fought in the Revolutionary War, and valuable assistance has been rendered the Society by the French Government, and it is expected that this list will soon be published. The Registrar of the Society, Colonel Charles Chaillé-Long, has the matter in charge, and hopes that this find may prove valuable in securing a large membership of the Society in France.

The past year has been a memorable one for the Society in France. At the tomb of Lafayette, on Decoration Day, General Horace Porter, United States Ambassador and President of the Society, presided at a most impressive ceremony. On June 4, he dedicated the monument of Rochambeau, at the city of Vendome, a large delegation of the Society attending. Nearly all of the members were present at the unveiling of the statue of Washington on July 3 and of the Lafayette monument on July 4. The most important work of the Society is the present immense task of research in the Ministries of War and Marine and in the National Archives for the names of all who served in the French army and fleet during the American Revolution. The membership is about thirty, among the later accessions being the Count du Chauffault and Count de Suzannet, whose great-grandfathers performed illustrious services as officers in high command in the French fleet. The Society in France has acknowledged the receipt of its charter from the National Society, issued in accordance with the resolution presented by Illinois, and adopted at the last annual congress.

HAWAIIAN SOCIETY.

THE Hawaiian Society was organized June 17, 1896, at Honolulu, and has taken an important stand in the social affairs of the island. The standing of its membership is such as to give prestige to anything American, and Hawaii is but a link in the spread of the Society in the far East. A temporary organization has been effected in Manila through the visit of Ex-President General Joseph C. Breckinridge.

During the past year the chapter has issued a very complete and handsome Year Book, and upon the anniversary of the Boston Tea Party a very enjoyable celebration was held at the residence of Secretary Atwater in Honolulu.

A great loss has been sustained by the Society by the death, on May 20, 1900, of the Hon. A. F. Judd, Chief Justice of the Sandwich Islands.

ILLINOIS SOCIETY.

(Extract from Annual Report of the Secretary made December 3, 1893.)

IN the spring of 1889, a movement was commenced in this State to form a Society of the Sons of the Revolution, at the time when the different States had been invited to organize a society to take part in the Washington Centennial of April 30, 1889, to be held in New York City. A number of gentlemen of Revolutionary ancestry met at the office of the Adjutant-General of Illinois at Springfield on the 9th of April and organized, with John Carroll Power as Chairman and Richmond Wolcott as Secretary. It was voted to form a society in this State, and Messrs. A. A. North, C. A. Pease and Richmond Wolcott were appointed a committee to draft a constitution after that of the State of New Jersey. Another meeting was held April 17, but the attendance being small no business was transacted, except the selection of Dr. Geo. B. Abbott, of Chicago, as a delegate to the convention of New York, to organize the National Society, at which convention he was present. No further proceedings took place until the following winter, when one of the Vice Presidents of the National Society visited Chicago, having been authorized by the National Society to form State societies. He at first visited Springfield, the capital of the State, but found that work would not rapidly progress there, and, therefore, came to Chicago and brought the project to the attention of representative citizens of that city.

On Wednesday evening, January 18—the celebration of Andrew Jackson's Day—the "Iroquois" Club of Chicago gave a reception, which was attended by Dr. J. C. Kelley, President of the Tennessee Society, S. A. R.; Governor Proctor Knott, of the Kentucky Society, S. A. R.; General Wheless, of Tennessee, representing Governor Robert L. Taylor, National Vice President, S. A. R.; Judge Patton, of Ohio, and William O. McDowell, representatives of S. A. R. This occasion gave an opportunity for bringing the proposal of the society before the club and many prominent men. The next evening the above gentlemen were received by the Union League Club, and it was decided to organize the Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution, a preliminary meeting to be held January 14. A meeting for organization was held in the club room of the Grand Pacific Hotel, at 11 A. M., January 14, 1890. General George Crook, of the United States Army, commanding military division of the Missouri, was elected Temporary Chairman. Dr. George B. Abbott was elected Secretary, thirty-four gentlemen being present. On motion, it was voted to organize those present into the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the names of those present were duly enrolled. A committee was appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year, and a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws. The meeting adjourned for one week and met again on the afternoon of January 21, when the several committees reported. Permanent officers were elected, and a constitution and by-laws adopted, Gen. George Crook being elected President.

The first President of the society (1890) was, as stated, General George Crook, U. S. A., the celebrated Indian fighter of the army. Then followed as Presidents these gentlemen in the order named:

Judge Henry M. Shepard.....1891—2—3
Josiah L. Lombard..... 1894
Geo. F. Bissell..... 1895

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

Henry Sherman Boutell	1896
Samuel Eberley Gross	1897
Colonel George V. Lanman	1898
I. S. Blackwelder	1899
James Harris Gilbert	1900
Judge Frank Baker	1901
Albert E. Snow	1902

The first Secretary of the society was Captain Richard Robins, who continued in office two years. In 1892 John D. Vandercook was elected Secretary, which office he has held since.

While Illinois is situated away from the principal scenes of the Revolutionary War, one event of far-reaching influence occurred on Illinois soil—that is, the capture of Fort Kaskaskia, on the Mississippi River, the result of the expeditions of George Rogers Clark and his band of Virginians, which are in many respects without a parallel in the history of the War for Independence. By the Treaty of Paris it was decided that all the territory "not now occupied by the British" should be understood as being a part of the United States. The capture of forts Kaskaskia and Vincennes, removing the occupation of the British, extended the lines west from the Allegheny Mountains. The Illinois Society has always been foremost in activity and in size. Its delegations to the National Congresses have been among the largest composing that body, and it has been honored by representation among the National officers.

The George Rogers Clark Monument.

"This bronze statue was erected by the State at Indianapolis. Its erection was proposed at the annual meeting of the Indiana Society, S. A. R., on February 25, 1892, by William H. English. Through his efforts and those of other members of the Society the monument was erected. The bronze tablet of inscription is his gift to the State."

INDIANA SOCIETY.

A PRELIMINARY meeting for the organization of the Society in Indiana was held on April 23, 1889, in the Indiana State House. The Hon. William H. English presided and David E. Snyder was secretary. The Hon. William H. English and Charles W. Merrill were appointed delegates to attend the organization of the National Society in New York City, April 30, 1899. On January 15, a meeting was held at the office of the Hon. Charles F. Griffin, Secretary of State of Indiana, for permanent organization. Colonel Samuel Merrill moved that those present organize, and upon motion of the Hon. Will E. English the proposed constitution and by-laws were adopted with amendments.

The first president elected was Colonel Samuel Merrill, of Indianapolis, and the Hon. Will E. English was recommended to the National Board of Managers as the Indiana member of that board.

March 15, 1890, Colonel Samuel Merrill resigned on account of his appointment as Consul General at Calcutta, and the vice-president, Hon. Will E. English, was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Indiana Society has been fortunate in numbering among its members the Hon. William H. English, a direct descendant of a Revolutionary hero of the Fourth Virginia Continental Line. Mr. English was the Democratic nominee for Vice-President of the United States with General Winfield Scott Hancock.

180 MEMBERS.

KANSAS SOCIETY.

THE Society was organized March 31, 1892, at Topeka, and while it has not increased in membership during the past year, it still retains its hold as an honorable organization in the State. Its members individually have done much toward the preservation of relics, and the Kansas Historical Society is famous for its progressiveness, and we think that the renewed feeling which is sweeping the country will be felt in the Society in the coming year.

KENTUCKY SOCIETY.

THE Society was organized April 8, 1889, at Frankfort, and was founded through the public spirited efforts of Governor Simon B. Buckner, one of the fighting generals of the Confederacy, a gentleman of distinguished presence and high character, a patriotic man, honored alike in the North and South. In compliance with the call issued by Governor Buckner, descendants of the Revolution met in the Senate Chamber of the State House, at Frankfort, Ky. Judge Lindsay was called to the chair and John W. Buchanan was made Secretary. Several speeches were made, and hearty interest in the proposed Society was manifested, and a resolution was adopted to form a Society of the Sons of the Revolution in Kentucky. Ladies were affiliated with the Society, but were exempt from the payment of initiation fees and annual dues. Thus was laid the foundation of an excellent and prosperous Society. The organizers were gentlemen of high position, many of them members of the oldest and finest families in the State. The heartiness with which they engaged in the patriotic labor of instituting the new Society in Kentucky proved that the Sons of the American Revolution was right in planning a national order in which sectional lines might entirely disappear and the real unity of feeling between American citizens North and South reveal itself chivalrously and generously.

LOUISIANA SOCIETY.

THE Louisiana Society was organized May 19, 1893, at New Orleans. Though few in numbers, patriotism abounds, so much so, that they have invited the National Congress to meet in their city. While for a time it has seemed apparently inert, it has now taken on a new lease of life, and looks forward to a bright future.

Death has invaded the ranks and has taken from Louisiana several of their distinguished and influential compatriots, Callender Irvine Fayssoux, John Quincy Adams Fellows, and Nicholas Henry Rightor.

President McKinley's visit to New Orleans had much to do with the revival and reorganization of the Louisiana Society, which was represented at the banquet tendered him by the city of New Orleans.

JOHN E. DE WITT.

MR. JOHN E. DE WITT, President Maine Society Sons of the American Revolution, met death at Chester, Mass., August 31, 1893, while en route from Chicago to Portland on the Boston and Albany Railroad.

He was the son of Cornelius W. and Charity H. (Van Gaasbeek) De Witt, and was born in Milford, Pa., August 4, 1839.

He passed the early years of his life in New York City, moved to Boston, Mass., in 1876, and from thence to Portland, Me., in 1881, where he continued to reside up to the time of his death, which occurred at Chester, Mass., on the 31st day of August, 1893, in consequence of an accident on the Boston and Albany Railroad.

He was also a member of the Maine Historical Society, President Portland National Bank, President Union Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Maine Genealogical Society; also a member of the Falmouth, Cumberland and Athletic Club, Portland; Algonquin Club, Boston; Union League, Lotus and St. Nicholas clubs, and the Holland Society, New York.

MAINE SOCIETY.

HORACE H. BURBANK, PRESIDENT MAINE SOCIETY S. A. R.

THE preliminary meeting for the organization of the Maine Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was held in Portland on the 21st of February, 1891. One week later a proposed constitution and by-laws were presented for consideration, and the same were adopted as the code of the Society on the 14th of March.

The first election of officers followed on the 28th of March, Hon. John De Witt (No. 6314 National Register) being the first President.

The charter members are those gentlemen whose names are borne upon the Register from numbers 6301 to 6341. The annual meeting and election of officers is held on the 22d of February, which is also made the occasion for a banquet and social gathering of the Society and friends. This first decade has been one of steady growth, until now the membership is approaching four hundred.

Of the valuable work accomplished by the Society may be mentioned contributions to Revolutionary history, compiled by its Historian, Mr. Nathan Goold, and published in pamphlet form, namely: History of Colonel Edmund Phinney's Thirty-first Regiment of Foot, of 54 pages; Falmouth Neck in the Revolution, of 56 pages; History of Colonel Edmund Phinney's Eighteenth Continental Regiment, of 62 pages; History of Colonel Jonathan Mitchell's Cumberland County Regiment; Bagaduce Expedition in 1779, of 60 pages; Colonel James Scamman's Thirtieth Regiment of Foot, and Captain Johnson Moulton's Company, 1775, of 74 pages.

Other members have contributed interesting and valuable papers which have been published with the annual proceedings of the Society, notably those relative to the life and services of General Knox.

EDWIN WARFIELD.

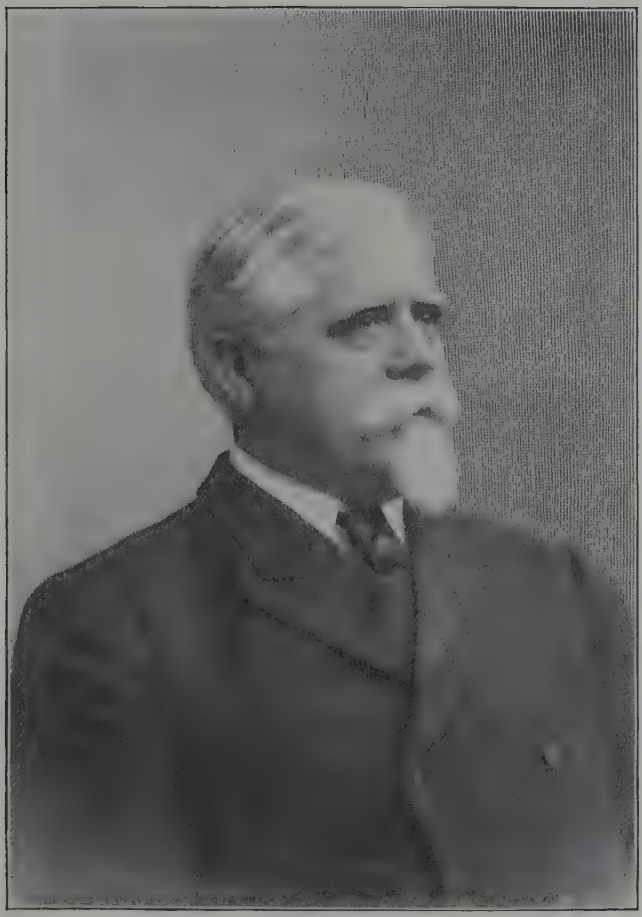
PRESIDENT MARYLAND SOCIETY S. A. R.

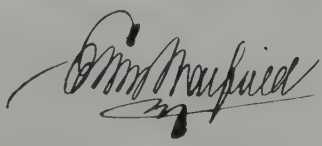
EDWIN WARFIELD, son of Albert Gallatin Warfield and Margaret Gassaway (Watkins) Warfield, was born at "Oakdale," Howard County, Md., May 7, 1848. Richard Warfield, the immigrant and progenitor of the Warfield family in America, came to Maryland in 1662 from Berkshire, England. The Warfields were prominent in Colonial affairs and participated in the patriotic movements which led up to the Revolution and the independence of the Colonies.

The subject of this sketch has descent from many other noted immigrants who settled in Maryland prior to 1700. Among them were Colonel Nicholas Greenberry, "Keeper of the Seal" and Acting Governor under Copley, 1692; Captain John Worthington, Member of "The Quorum," Member of the House of Burgesses, and Captain of Severn Militia; Colonel Nicholas Gassaway, Member of the Upper House of Lord Baltimore's Council and Deputy Governor; Colonel Henry Ridgely, Justice of the Provincial Court, Member of Lower House, Captain of "The Foote;" Matthew Howard, who was of the Norfolk Howards; John Bowie, Sr., progenitor of the Bowie family in Maryland; William Griffith, immigrant ancestor of the Griffiths of Maryland; Captain Thomas Claggett, Captain of British Navy; Major-General John Hammond, Justice of Provincial Court, 1667, Member of the Council, 1698, Member of the Court of Admiralty; Major John Welsh, Member of "The Quorum," 1671, High Sheriff of A. A. Co., 1676-1678; Colonel Edward Dorsey, Judge of High Court of Chancery, 1695, Member of House of Burgesses, and others. He has double descent from a majority of these immigrant ancestors.

Edwin Warfield's great-grandfather, Benjamin Warfield, was commissioned Captain of the Elkridge Militia in 1778. His mother's father, Colonel Gassaway Watkins, was a distinguished Revolutionary soldier, who served seven years and nine months in the "Old Maryland Line." He entered the army at Long Island in January, 1776, as Sergeant, and was mustered out at the close of the war in 1783 with the rank of Captain. He was in nearly every hard-fought battle of the war. In a sketch of his services, written by himself (the original preserved), he refers specially to Long Island, White Plains, Germantown, Monmouth, Camden, Guilford Court House, Second Camden, Ninety-Six and Eutaw Springs, and says he was toasted by General Greene at a public dinner on the High Hills of Santee for his bravery, and that he was frequently in the vanguard and was often sent by General Greene on important scouting tours. After the war he lived the life of a planter at "Walnut Grove," Maryland, but responded a second time to the call of his country during the War of 1812. He was then made Colonel and assigned to command at Annapolis. He was at the time of his death, July 14, 1840, President of the Maryland Society of the Cincinnati, and the last surviving officer of the "Maryland Line," "The Bayonets of the Revolutionary Army."

Edwin Warfield received only an academic education. His collegiate course was cut short by the Civil War, which resulted in the loss of his father's slaves and the means necessary for college expenses. He qualified himself for teaching, which he began at the age of eighteen years, and at the same time took up the study of law. He prosecuted both successfully, and found time to take an interest in public affairs.





President, Maryland Society, S. A. R.

In 1874 he was appointed Register of Wills of Howard County, to fill a vacancy, and in 1875 was elected for a full term of six years. This was one of the most responsible offices in the gift of the people of his native county. He declined a renomination and began the practice of law, and was, in 1881, elected State Senator. In 1882 he bought "The Ellicott City Times," which he edited in connection with the practice of law. He was re-elected to the Senate in 1883 and was made President of the Session of 1886. Mr. Cleveland appointed him Surveyor of the Port of Baltimore in 1886, which position he held until May, 1890, when he organized the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, of which he is still President. It is the largest Surety Company in the world.

He has always taken an interest in public affairs, and has been prominently identified with the Democratic party of Maryland; was a Delegate-at-Large to the National Convention in 1896.

Mr. Warfield is connected with many institutions in Maryland. He is a director of the Maryland Penitentiary, the Board of Trade of Baltimore, the Continental Trust Company, the Central Savings Bank, the "Daily Record" Company, the Maryland Dredging Company, the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, all of Baltimore; The City Trust Company of New York and the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery County, Maryland, and other business corporations in the City and State.

He is a member of many patriotic, professional and social associations, such as the Maryland Historical Society, the Maryland Society Sons of the Revolution, the Maryland Society S. A. R., the Society of the War of 1812, the American Bar Association, the Baltimore and Maryland Bar Associations, also a member of the leading social clubs and organizations in Baltimore.

He married, in 1886, Emma Nicodemus, a daughter of a leading merchant of Baltimore, whose ancestors settled in Cumberland Valley, Pennsylvania, about 1700. They have four children: Carrie, 1887; Louise, 1888; Edwin, Jr., 1891, and Emma, 1899.

MARYLAND SOCIETY.

THIS Society was organized April 20, 1889, as THE MARYLAND SOCIETY, SONS OF THE REVOLUTION. The meeting was held in the Senate Chamber at Annapolis. A second meeting was held at the same place on June 10, 1889, when changes were made in the constitution and the name altered to THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

The membership of the Society has not been as large in numbers as some of the other State Societies, due in part to the fact that the District of Columbia Society is located upon territory that, during the Revolutionary period, was one of the most populous sections of Maryland.

Although smaller in number of members, its work has been greater in extent of successfully carried out objects for which the organization was formed than any of the other State Societies, as often stated by such prominent members of the National Society as the President Generals, and among the other members of the National Congress the Hon. John Whitehead.

The annual meetings are held on "Peggy Stewart Day," October 19, being the anniversary of the burning of the brig "Peggy Stewart" and her cargo of tea in Annapolis Harbor.

The Society has since October 19 last been engaged in preparing, and has now in printers' hands, a book, showing in full the work it has accomplished, as follows:

The Resurrection of "Peggy Stewart Day,"
The Bronze Tablet Marking "Old Congress Hall."
The Monument to "Maryland's Four Hundred,"
The Monument to Major-General Wm. Smallwood.
The Maryland Revolutionary Monument.

This book contains a short, compiled history of Maryland from its settlement down to and with the causes of the Revolution, and a full account of "The Maryland Line," and its conspicuous bravery as "The Bayonets of the Continental Army."

The incorporators were: General Bradley Tyler Johnson, Hon. Edward White Le Compte, Lieutenant James Cephas Cresap, U. S. Navy; William Francis Cregar, John Richardson Dorsey, Francis Putnam Stevens and George Norbury Mackenzie. Messrs. Le Compte, Cresap and Cregar are dead.

The Presidents of the Society have been: Hon. Edward White Le Compte, General Bradley Tyler Johnson, Hon. Philip Dandridge Laird, Colonel William Ridgely Griffith, General Joseph Lancaster Brent and Hon. Edwin Warfield.

The Society since the dedication of "The Maryland Revolutionary Monument," on October 19, 1901, seems to have taken on a new growth, and many members are being added.

The officers of the Society for the years 1901 and 1902, unanimously elected on October 19, are as follows: President, Hon. Edwin Warfield; Vice-Presidents, Wm. Harrison Gill, James Davidson Iglehart and Colonel Arthur J. Pritchard; Secretary, J. Noble Stockett; Treasurer, R. Ross Holloway, and Registrar, Alfred D. Bernard.

The Association Test, Revolutionary War.

MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY.

THE preliminary organization of the Massachusetts Society was made under the name of the "Sons of the Revolution," April 19, 1889; after the organization of the National Society they took its present name. On the 17th of June, 1889, they adopted a constitution and by-laws, dined at the Parker House, Boston, and elected the following officers: President, Hon. Charles H. Saunders, of Cambridge; Vice President, Hon. William M. Davenport, of Marlboro; Secretary, Alfred B. Fry, of Boston; Treasurer, Colonel John L. Stevenson, of Boston; Registrar, Luther L. Tarbell, of Marlboro; Historian, Alfred A. Stockwell, M.D., of Cambridge, and Chaplain, Rev. Carlton A. Staples, of Lexington.

The Massachusetts Society designed, in 1893, a marker of either bronze or iron to be used to designate the graves of soldiers or patriots of the Revolution. In design it is a copy of the reverse side of the Insignia of the Society, without its eagle, and with the addition of the letters S, A, R, one on each of three of the arms, and the figures 1775 on the fourth arm of the cross.

The society has used its influence to induce most of the cities and towns in the State to purchase and place the markers; it also bought and placed many in Boston and contributed others placed elsewhere. Private individuals have also purchased and placed a large number. In all about 4,000 have been erected in Massachusetts; about 700 in other States of the Union and 8 in France.

They have placed markers bearing bronze tablets at the graves of Samuel Adams and James Otis. The burial place of Otis was discovered through researches made by one of their members, Mr. Henry A. May. The place of burial of the victims of the so-called "Boston Massacre," March 5, 1770, they marked by a bronze tablet. They have placed a marker bearing a bronze tablet at the place of burial of many soldiers buried in Dorchester whose names are unknown.

The publications of the society have been as follows:

Year-book for 1893, 172 pages, 8vo.

Year-book for 1894, 152 pages, 8vo (supplementary).

Year-book for 1897, 512 pages, 8vo.

Year-book for 1899, 294 pages, 8vo (supplementary).

Year-book for 1901, 185+68 pages, 8vo (supplementary).

"Soldiers, Sailors and Patriots, whose Graves are Designated by Markers," 68 pages, 8vo. The names of the persons buried therein are published in this volume, the names being arranged under the towns in which the graves are found.

"Old Suffolk" Chapter of the society published a Year-book for 1900, 106 pages, 8vo, handsomely illustrated. This chapter was instrumental in obtaining the historical tablets which were placed at the gate of the U. S. Naval Hospital and the Prattville School, Chelsea, and will erect a bowlder and tablet to commemorate the battle of Chelsea, May 27, 1775.

"George Washington" Chapter of the society on July 4, 1900, placed a bowlder and tablet at Benton Park, Springfield, marking the place of Shay's Rebellion.

The society has contributed to the preservation of Old North Church, from which the Paul Revere lanterns were hung April 18, 1775; to the preservation of the historic Hancock-Clarke House in Lexington; to the funds of the "Volunteer Aid Association," and to the Flag Committee of the National Society.

THIS TABLET DESIGNATES THE SITE OF AN ENGLISH FORT ERECTED IN 1778 BY MAJOR R. B. LERNOULT AS A DEFENSE AGAINST THE AMERICANS. IT WAS SUBSEQUENTLY CALLED FORT SHELBY IN HONOR OF GOV. ISAAC SHELBY OF KENTUCKY, AND WAS DEMOLISHED IN 1826.
THE EVACUATION OF THIS FORT BY THE BRITISH AT 12 O'CLOCK NOON JULY 11TH, 1796, WAS THE CLOSING ACT OF THE WAR OF INDEPENDENCE.
ON THAT DAY THE AMERICAN FLAG WAS FOR THE FIRST TIME RAISED OVER THIS SOIL, ALL OF WHAT WAS THEN KNOWN AS THE WESTERN TERRITORY BECOMING AT THAT TIME PART OF THE FEDERAL UNION.

MEMORIAL TABLET

TO THE

CONQUEST AND SETTLEMENT OF THE NORTHWEST TERRITORY.

THIS tablet was erected by the Michigan Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and other patriotic organizations, July 11, 1896, to commemorate the closing act of the War of Independence, when the British, July 11, 1796, evacuated this territory. Great Britain still controlled the several military posts of the Northwest, notwithstanding the Treaty of Paris, by which she had agreed to recognize the independence of the United States and all the territory south of the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes and west to the Mississippi as its possessions. She continued to hold this region for two years afterward, when the British finally evacuated Detroit. Thus all of the Western Territory became a part of the Federal Union. The story of the conquest of this territory is one of the most memorable in American history. It was the scene of the final struggle for dominion between the French and the English in North America, and after a long, bitter struggle it became British territory in 1756. During the Revolution the British and the Indians were allied together against the Americans, and were a source of great trouble to the United States. Washington had often desired to capture Detroit as a part of his conquest of Canada, and thus secure the gateway to the Northwest, but for lack of means he never attempted its conquest. The campaign of George Rogers Clark in 1778 was the first organized effort to capture it. His achievement at Vincennes, July, 1778, was the means of inducing Great Britain to recognize the claim of the United States to this region. It was not until General Wayne's victory at Fallen Timbers, Aug. 20, 1794, that the Indians ceded this territory to the United States, but formal possession was not taken of it until July 11, 1796, when a detachment of United States troops, under command of Col. John Francis Hamtramck, one of General Wayne's generals at Fallen Timbers, received the surrender of Detroit. The American flag was raised for the first time over this region at Fort Lernoult, Detroit, and symbolized the authority of the United States over this territory. This settled the destiny of the Great Northwest. Henceforth it was to become American soil. Out of it were carved the five imperial States, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. By the Ordinance of 1787, it was consecrated to absolute civil and religious liberty. It was this formal surrender of the territory that this tablet was designed to commemorate. It was placed on the Federal Building, Detroit, which was the site where this great historic event happened.

TO

MAJOR-GENERAL ANTHONY WAYNE.

THE erection of this tablet by the Michigan Society, Sons of the American Revolution, to Major-General Anthony Wayne, Oct. 19, 1901, was a fitting tribute to the memory of the man whose heroic services on the field of battle made the conquest and settlement of the Northwest Territory one of the most memorable events in American history. The tablet which was erected by the Michigan Society, July 11, 1896, commemorated the closing act of the War of Independence, when the British evacuated this region as the result of General Wayne's victory at Fallen Timbers. This tablet commemorates his services in the brilliant campaign which he waged against the Indians of this territory. General Wayne was an American officer in the Revolutionary War, born at Waynesborough, Pa., Jan. 1, 1745, and at the age of thirteen went with Washington to make the attack on Fort Duquesne. On the outbreak of the Revolution he joined General Sullivan in his campaign against Canada, when, as Colonel of a Pennsylvania regiment, he saved the army at Three Rivers. He commanded at Fort Ticonderoga, fought bravely at the battle of the Brandywine, and shortly afterward escaped from "the Massacre at Paoli," to take part in the battle of Germantown. He suffered with the army at Valley Forge, and bore the brunt of the battle at Monmouth. He planned and effected the capture of Stony Point, one of the most brilliant achievements of the Revolution. His courage and skill saved Lafayette in Virginia, and he aided in the siege at Yorktown and commanded in Georgia. However great his services in the Revolution, they cannot be compared, when the magnitude of the results is considered, with his campaign against the Indians of the Northwest. As Major-General of the United States Army, he raised his forces near Pittsburgh, and proceeded down the Ohio to Fort Washington, and thence to Fallen Timbers, in the midst of a wilderness inhabited by savages, covering a period of nearly two years. This march should rank as a military achievement with the retreat of the 10,000 under Xenophon and of Sherman's march to the sea. In this campaign he met a force of savage Indians twice as large as his own, engaged and crushed the confederacy of the Northwest, retrieved the disasters of Harmar and St. Clair, and opened a pathway for its civilization to the shores of the Great Lakes. He thus established the authority of the United States over the whole of this region, and made it possible for the American emigrant to occupy these lands. As a fitting culmination of his services in this region, he was made the first military governor of the territory, and on Aug. 15, 1796, formal possession was delivered to him. The great county of Wayne was then established, which took his name, and on Dec. 15, 1796, he died, with a reputation unequaled by any general of the Revolution for hard fighting, daring energy and personal courage; and in the settlement of the Indian warfare in the Northwest he displayed a judgment and skill, combined with extraordinary courage and daring, which place him in the front rank of the military heroes of his day.

James Pitts

JAMES PITTS.

JAMES PITTS, of Boston, was a distinguished patriot of the Revolution. He assisted in the creation of the spirit of independence, which finally resulted in the establishment of the American Republic. His English ancestor was Baruth Pitts, the mayor of Lyme Regis, in 1694. His son, John Pitts, the Puritan, settled in Boston, in 1694. James Pitts was born October 15, 1710. He married Elizabeth Bowdoin, the daughter of James Bowdoin, the councillor, October 26, 1732. The most cordial friendship existed between him and Samuel Adams. He was elected May 28, 1766, a member of the King's Council. At the same time, Samuel Adams, Thomas Cushing, James Otis and John Hancock were members of the House. October 27, 1768, he signed the address to General Gage to have the troops removed from Boston. Although the Council and the House were removed to meet at Cambridge, they still refused to do business. From thence to the final rupture with England, James Pitts was annually elected to the Council. Winthrop says that the course pursued by the Council and the House was of the greatest importance to the ultimate success of American independence. During the ten years of continual warfare with the Crown, James Pitts was inflexibly on the side of the people and against the royal prerogative. The removal of the troops from Boston resulted not only from the efforts of Samuel Adams, but equally from those of Tyler, James Pitts and Samuel Dexter, in the Council. Franklin conferred upon him the greatest mark of distinction when he directed that the Hutchinson letters, sent by him to Thomas Cushing, should only be seen by Bowdoin and Pitts, of the Council, and Dr. Chauncey, Cooper and Winthrop, as alone to be trusted with his confidence. His three sons, John, Samuel and Lindall, were associated with the Tea Party. The great question at this time was, says Winthrop, which should go under, British tea or American liberty. In the contest which followed, then it was that the cause of the Colonies was defended by James Bowdoin, James Pitts, Samuel Dexter, Artemus Ward and John Winthrop. The influence of James Pitts, doubtless, delayed the execution of the instructions of George III. to hang the leaders of the Revolution before any union of the Colonies. On May 6, 1774, Parliament passed the Act, which vested the nomination of the Council in the Crown, and took all executive power from the House. Thereupon the Provincial Council ceased to exist. The original fifteen councillors still declared their attachment to their rights and liberty, and on June 17, with locked doors and the key in Samuel Adams' pocket, and Secretary Flucker on the outside trying to prorogue the Assembly, the House elected five delegates to the Continental Congress. The first Provincial Congress of Massachusetts, which met at Salem, October 27, 1774, made him a member, as one of the constitutional councillors of the Province. He died January 25, 1776, one of the most trusted patriots of his day, having given the best years of his life to the cause of American independence.

THOMAS PITTS.

THE Revolutionary ancestors of Mr. Thomas Pitts, of Detroit, Mich., rendered conspicuous service in the War of Independence. One of them was Samuel Pitts, an officer of the Hancock Cadets in Boston, and a Son of Liberty. Another was James Pitts, of Boston, mentioned in John Adams' diary, Feb. 15, 1771, as a "warm, honest, frank Whig." He was a member of the Massachusetts Council from June 2, 1766, to June, 1774. When Franklin sent the Hutchinson letters from London in 1773 to Thomas Cushing, Speaker of the Massachusetts House, he enjoined upon him to show them only to Bowdoin and James Pitts, and pastors of the First Church and the Brattle Street Church, and to Dr. Winthrop, of Harvard University. James Pitts' house was a favorite meeting place for the Patriotic Clubs. Lendall Pitts, his youngest son, was the leader of one of the three detachments of citizens of Boston, disguised as Indians, which boarded the vessels loaded with tea in Boston Harbor, and threw it overboard. It is related that Admiral Montague, of the British fleet, who witnessed the affair from the window of a house belonging to one Coffin, a Tory, said to them as they returned from the destruction of the tea: "Well, boys, you have had a fine, pleasant evening for your Indian capers, haven't you? But mind, you have got to pay the fiddler yet." "O! never mind," shouted Pitts, "never mind, Squire, just come out here, if you please, and we will settle it in two minutes." Lendall Pitts' name appears in the original list of fifty-eight, those engaged in the famous "Boston Tea Party." A solemn pledge for the protection of those engaged in this affair was entered into by the Committee on Correspondence, of whom John Pitts, the brother of Lendall Pitts, was a member, when it was currently supposed that those who had borne a part in that daring performance would be arrested and executed for treason.

Mr. Thomas Pitts was born in Detroit, Oct. 11, 1841, and is the son of Samuel Pitts and Sarah Merrill. His father practiced law for twelve years, and subsequently engaged in the manufacture of lumber. His mother was a lineal descendant of Governor John Winslow and Governor William Bradford. Mr. Pitts was educated at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. He early associated with his father in the lumber business, and on his death organized the firm of Pitts & Cranage, dissolved in 1892, then organizing the firm of Pitts & Co., and in 1898 the firm of Pitts & Charlton, manufacturers of lumber in Canada. He is one of the trustees of the Detroit Museum of Art. Is a member of the leading social clubs of Detroit, the National Historical Society, Society of Colonial Wars, Vice-President of the Michigan Society, Sons of the American Revolution, a Vice-President-General of the National Society. He has traveled extensively in Europe. Studied art and French and German, and has collected a fine library especially bearing on these subjects. He married Miss Louise Strong, June 21, 1871, and has two children, Lendall Pitts and Mrs. Arthur M. Parker.

GENERAL RUSSELL ALEXANDER ALGER.

IMPELLED by love of liberty, the ancestors of General Russell A. Alger left England and came to Massachusetts in 1627. One of them served the colonial cause in many battles, while another responded to the Lexington Alarm, and became an active participant in the Revolution. He was born Feb. 27, 1836, in Lafayette, Medina County, Ohio, and at the age of eleven, owing to the early death of his father, became the arbiter of his own fortune. He farmed, taught school and later attended Richfield Academy. Was admitted to the bar in 1859, practiced in Cleveland until the following fall, when he removed to Grand Rapids, Mich., and engaged in the lumber business. In April, 1861, he married Annette H. Henry, and on Aug. 19, enlisted in the Second Michigan Cavalry, and was mustered in as Captain. His first military achievement was in the summer of 1862, when General Sheridan, with 917 men, overcame a force of 5,000 at Booneville, Miss. Captain Alger made a fierce attack on the rear of this force with only 90 men, and by prompt action threw them into great disorder. In his official report General Sheridan calls attention to Alger's "great gallantry." July 2 he was promoted to be Major of this regiment. In October he became Lieutenant-Colonel of the Sixth Michigan Cavalry, and in the early part of 1863 was transferred to the Fifth Michigan Cavalry as Colonel, and participated in the several charges at Gettysburg, where he was wounded. He took part in many other engagements, reflecting great credit upon his command. General Custer reports Alger as conducting a charge as "daring in the extreme." Sheridan speaks of the part taken by Alger in the cavalry engagement of June 12, 1864, as "by far the most brilliant one of the present campaign." He also refers to Colonel Alger's regiment as "gallantly" charging down the Gordonsville Road, capturing 1,500 horses and 800 men. In September, 1864, he resigned, and was honorably discharged. Was afterward brevetted Brigadier-General for gallant and meritorious service, and in June, 1865, was brevetted Major-General in the United States Volunteer Army. In the roster of the Army of the Potomac, Colonel Alger is reported in command of the Second Brigade, Kilpatrick's Division, Sheridan's Cavalry Corps. He participated in sixty-six battles and skirmishes during his term of service, and fairly won the honors bestowed upon him. On leaving the army he became a member of Moore, Alger & Co., and engaged in the lumber business. This firm was succeeded by Alger, Smith & Co., of which he now a head. He is the president of the Manistique Lumber Company. He is associated with many leading corporations, and among others, is a stockholder and officer of the United States Express Company. He has extensive lumber interests on the Pacific Coast and in the Southern States. In 1885 was elected Governor of Michigan. In 1888 was a candidate for the Presidency in the Republican Convention at Chicago. March 4, 1897, he became Secretary of War in President McKinley's Cabinet, and organized, equipped and transported to the field the great volunteer army in the Spanish-American war. The conduct of the great trust in this crisis was wise and brilliant, and has increased the country's obligation for patriotic, well-directed and sagacious services. He is of a charitable and hospitable disposition. Is a member of the Union League Club and Ohio Society. In 1889 was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Is a member of the Loyal Legion and of the Michigan Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. His living children are: Caroline Alger Shelden, Fay Alger Bailey, Francis Alger Pike, Russell Alexander, Jr., and Frederick Moulton.

JEROME HOLLAND BISHOP.

THE ancestors of Mr. Jerome H. Bishop have ever been associated with the early history of this country. Mr. Richard Bishop, of Monson, Mass., fought in the War of Independence. He is a direct descendant from Richard Bishop, of Salem, Mass., who came from Ipswich, England, with Governor Endicott in 1628. During the witchcraft craze in Salem, Mr. Bishop had an Indian servant who was possessed with a witch spirit. Bishop promptly gave him a good horsewhipping, and the spirit immediately left him. Mr. Bishop said that if they would allow him to treat the others in the same manner he could quickly suppress all witchcraft in Salem. For this he and his good wife were thrown into prison on the charge of exorcising witches. He is also connected through his mother with the late Leonard Jerome, of New York, whose daughter is Lady Randolph Churchill. One of the ancestors was Samuel Jerome, who was born in Wallingford, Conn., in 1728, and also served in the Revolution. His father, Timothy Jerome, was born in 1688 in the Isle of Wight, and settled in Wallingford, where he was a man of large property and influence. Betsy Ball, the wife of Aaron, the son of Samuel Jerome, was the daughter of Major Stebbins Ball, who was born in Springfield, Mass., Nov. 11, 1738; was Captain in Danielson's Massachusetts Regiment in 1775, and of the Third Continental Line in 1776; promoted to Major, and served until 1781. His wife was Thankful Stowe, of Middletown, Conn., a descendant of John Stowe, who came to Roxbury with Elliott, the Indian apostle, in 1634.

Mr. Jerome H. Bishop was born in Oxbow, Jefferson County, N. Y., Sept. 3, 1846; was educated at the Academy in Redwood, N. Y. He taught school at Chippewa Bay, St. Lawrence County, Redwood, Dyrenforth College, Chicago, and Decatur, and was principal of the public schools at Wyandotte in August, 1871. Here he became concerned in the business which has given him an established reputation as one of the leading manufacturers of the State. He organized the business of the J. H. Bishop Company, which manufactures skin rugs, sleigh robes and fur overcoats, and imports the goat skins direct from China. This company has the largest manufacturing plant of this line in the world. The Civil War found Mr. Bishop keeping books in Memphis, Tenn., and in 1864, although but seventeen years of age, he served as a member of the First Tennessee Militia. He is an abolitionist by birth, and a Republican in party politics. Was Mayor of Wyandotte two terms, President of the Board of Education, member of the Board of Control of Ionia House of Correction, and candidate for Congress from the Second Congressional District in 1898, is a trustee of Olivet College, is a Mason of high degree, and a member of the Michigan Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. His first wife was Jennie Gray, of Redwood, N. Y., who died in 1873, and left one daughter, Mrs. William J. Burns. In 1876 he married Ella M. Clark, and their children are Jerome Holland, Della, Mabel and Wallace Clark.

MICHIGAN SOCIETY.

THE Michigan Society was organized January 18, 1890, at Detroit, with ten members. It now has a membership of over 350. The growth of the Society has been rapid, and it now ranks in point of membership among the leading State Societies. A separate chapter was organized September 2, 1897, at Grand Rapids, with 26 members.

The State Society has celebrated with public banquets Washington's birthday, his inauguration as first President of the United States, the Lexington Alarm, the French Alliance, and the anniversary of Burgoyne's surrender. Its most notable achievement was the meeting of the Annual Congress at Detroit, in May, 1899. The banquet given at the Russell House to the officers of the National Society was the most elaborate and noted gathering ever held in the State. The list of speakers who were gathered to do honor to Detroit's chief citizen, Secretary of War Russell A. Alger, was as follows:

Chauncey M. Depew, General Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A., General Wesley Merritt, U. S. A., General Joseph C. Breckinridge, U. S. A., General Horatio King, Senator Thomas W. Palmer.

The decorations of the banquet hall were so attractive that they called forth words of commendation from the prominent speakers. The cordial spirit which prevailed made this meeting so conspicuous that it has been the aim of other Societies to equal Detroit's welcome to the national delegates.

Member Minnesota Society, S. A. R.

MINNESOTA SOCIETY.

THE Society was organized in the city of St. Paul, December 26, 1899, the anniversary of the Battle of Trenton, in the meeting room of the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was called to order by A. S. Tallmadge, and E. B. Smalley was made chairman, and Mr. Tallmadge secretary. The Honorable Albert Edgerton moved that those present who were eligible to membership should constitute themselves the Minnesota Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. General Sanborn moved the appointment of a committee of nine to organize, to report at the following meeting, and that Secretary Tallmadge act as secretary of the committee. The Society reassembled on January 4, 1890, and in accordance with the report submitted by the committee on organization, the following officers were elected:

President, Hon. Albert Edgerton, of St. Paul, Son of a Revolutionary soldier.

Vice-President, George K. Shaw, of Minneapolis.

Secretary and Treasurer, Alfred S. Tallmadge, St. Paul.

Vice-President of the National Society for Minnesota, General John B. Sanborn.

May 11th was designated as the date of the annual meeting. The constitution also provided that women of Revolutionary descent might become honorary members, but without a voice in business meetings.

The Society has taken a prominent part in the patriotic work of the State, and its Washington's Birthday Banquet has been of more than usual interest on account of its being attended by a large chorus of school children, as has been the custom of the Society for many years. The death of the Honorable Cushman K. Davis was a great loss to the Society.

MISSOURI SOCIETY.

WHEN Congress passed an act declaring the 30th day of April, 1889, to be a National holiday, in honor of the day, one hundred years before, when General George Washington took the oath of office as first President of the United States, a wave of enthusiasm spread over the States and was quickly responded to by the State of Missouri. April 4, 1889, the Sons of the American Revolution living in the State of Missouri received an invitation to organize a State Society and send a delegate to Fraunce's Tavern, in the city of New York, to aid in the establishment of a National organization on April 30. On April 23 over fifty representatives met and organized the Missouri Society, with Hon. Josiah Fogg as its first President, and sent Hon. Gaius Paddock as a delegate to the New York Convention. Missouri was honored at that convention by the election of its delegate as National Treasurer. Since its organization the Missouri Society has grown slowly but steadily along the line of strict adherence to historical records, and now numbers one hundred and thirty-nine. It has been singularly fortunate in the quality of its membership, their loyalty to each other and the order, and in the faithful discharge of duties by its officers. Its genealogical records show distinguished Revolutionary ancestry, and among its members are men of National and State honors. On March 4 each year, in commemoration of the taking effect of the Federal Constitution, the Society elects its officers, and on April 19 annually, in honor of the battles of Concord and Lexington, it holds its banquet. These banquets have always been the source of intellectual inspiration, and the fire of patriotism burns brightly on the hearth. The outlook for the Society is unusually hopeful. Its Presidents, in the order named, have been Hons. Josiah Fogg, Nathan Cole, E. C. Cabell, George E. Leighton, George H. Shields, E. O. Stanard and Clark H. Sampson.

April 19, 1896, the Kansas City Chapter of the Missouri Society was organized. Its Presidents have been, in the order named, Hons. D. S. Harriman, S. P. Twiss and N. P. Simonds. Its membership now numbers forty-five. The prospects for this Chapter are excellent.

CLARK H. SAMPSON, PRESIDENT; ASHLEY CABELL, SECRETARY.

MONTANA SOCIETY.

THE Society was organized June 5, 1894, at Helena. The Society has always endeavored to perpetuate the memory of our Revolutionary Fathers among the people of the far West.

The social meetings and celebration of the Evacuation of Boston created quite an interest in the Society and a desire for membership among the citizens, and many new members were added to the roll. The anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill and of the birthday of George Washington were fittingly celebrated, and arrangements have been made to establish a permanent S. A. R. headquarters.

Monument to General Stark, at Concord,

Erected by New Hampshire Society, S. A. R.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SOCIETY.

PURSUANT to a circular received from the New Jersey Society of Sons of the Revolution, a preliminary meeting for the formation of a New Hampshire Society was held in the Senate Chamber at the State House, in Concord, Wednesday, April 17, 1889, at 10 A. M. Edward Aiken, M.D., called the meeting to order and nominated Charles R. Morrison, of Concord, for Chairman, who was unanimously elected. Dr. Aiken was chosen Secretary. It was resolved to proceed with the formation of a society, and a committee on permanent organization was appointed, consisting of John M. Hill, General Howard L. Porter, Charles E. Staniels, of Concord; Leonard A. Morrison, of Windham, and Dr. Edward Aiken, of Amherst.

The society reassembled April 24 and adopted a constitution substantially like that of the New Jersey Society, as reported by the committee on permanent organization.

It was then signed by Thomas J. Weeks, of Hopkinton; Henry M. Fuller, John H. Hill, Charles E. Staniels, John M. Hill, Charles R. Morrison, Fred Leighton, of Concord; Hiram K. Slaton, George C. Gilmore, of Manchester; Isaac W. Hammond, Sylvester Dana, Lewis Downing, Jr., of Concord, and Edward Aiken, of Amherst. These gentlemen having organized as a voluntary association, then admitted as associates George W. Hill, of Concord; Worthen D. Whittaker, of Hinsdale; Rev. Samuel L. Gerould, of Hollis; General Howard L. Porter, Allan H. Robinson, of Concord; Moses French, of Manchester, and Leonard A. Morrison, of Windham. Officers were then elected.

The call from the New Jersey Society for the formation of a National Society was then read, and it was resolved as follows:

"That, we proceed to elect, by ballot, delegates as therein suggested, and that said delegates, when chosen, shall be authorized to unite with delegates from other societies, including the State of New Jersey, in forming a National Society in furtherance of the general objects for which this society has been formed, to be composed of delegates chosen from time to time by State societies, and to be organized under such name as shall be deemed expedient, but to have no legislative or judicial power over State societies beyond determining its own composition and procedure, and times and places of meeting."

President Charles R. Morrison, Hiram K. Slayton and Fred Leighton were chosen delegates to the convention, which was to be held in New York City, April 30, 1889. All three delegates attended and entered heartily into the proceedings for the creation of the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution. Their constituents at home did not, however, take any immediate action toward adapting the constitution of their society to that of the newly formed National organization; and, a sentiment having developed among the members in favor of the admission of women, the New Hampshire Society abstained from any further relations with kindred bodies and entered upon an independent corporate existence. The society was incorporated April 24, 1889, the day of its organization.

The first annual meeting was held in Concord, June 17, 1889.

At this meeting two committees were appointed. One was to procure the passage of an act for the erection of a statue of Major-General John Stark, and consisted of President Charles R. Morrison, of Concord; Joshua G. Hall, of Dover; James A. Edgerly, of Somersworth; William W. Bailey, of Nashua; George C. Gilmore, of Manchester; John M. Hill, of Concord; Colonel Thomas Cogswell, of Gilmanton, and Colonel Henry O. Kent, of Lancaster.

The second committee was instructed to report at the next annual meeting upon the part played by New Hampshire in the battle of Bunker Hill, and consisted of Albert S. Batchellor, of Littleton; James W. Patterson, of Hanover; George W. Nesmith, of Franklin; Joseph B. Walker, of Concord; Isaac W. Hammond, of Concord; Rev. Samuel L. Gerould, of Hollis, and Leonard A. Morrison, of Windham. Senator Patterson was authorized to call the first meeting of the committee.

The statue committee addressed a petition to the next Legislature, asking that the State erect a statue of Stark in Concord as a companion piece to that of Webster in the State House Park. The petition was favorably received, and a joint resolution was passed, largely through the earnest efforts of Oliver E. Branch, a member of the House of Representatives and of the society. It was approved by the Governor August 14, 1889.

The construction of the statue was immediately undertaken and soon completed. The model is by Conrads. The society was officially invited to participate in the ceremonies of dedication, and one of its members, James W. Patterson, formerly U. S. Senator, was the orator of the occasion.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers, held October 14, 1889, it was voted that the delegation from this society have full power to act in the matter of uniting with the National Society; and at another meeting, held May 13, 1890, it is recorded as the opinion of those present that more could be done toward elevating New Hampshire to her rightful place in history by continuing a separate society than by joining the National organization.

May 20, George C. Gilmore, of Manchester, was appointed a member of the Bunker Hill committee in place of George W. Nesmith, deceased.

The second annual meeting of the society was held in the Senate Chamber, June 17, 1890.

Up to this date no changes had been made in the constitution other than to alter the number of the Board of Managers from five to seven, which was done June 17, 1889. The constitution was now taken into consideration, and a few amendments were made.

The third annual meeting was held June 17, 1891, at which George C. Gilmore appeared as President, having been elected by the Board of Managers March 13, 1891, to succeed Charles R. Morrison, who resigned December 2, 1890, on account of dissatisfaction with the work of the committee on certificate and seal.

At this meeting some progress was made toward affiliation with the National Society. The society voted "that it is expedient for this society to join the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution," and also voted to change its name accordingly. On the 20th of April, 1892, the Board of Managers elected delegates to the National Convention to be held in New York, April 30; they were George C. Gilmore, of Manchester; John M. Hill, John Kimball and John C. Ordway, of Concord, and William W. Bailey, of Nashua; alternates, General Howard L. Porter and Fred Leighton, of Concord, and John F. Stark, of Nashua.

A delegation of nineteen members of the society attended the Bennington celebration at Bennington, Vt., August 18, 19, 20, 1891.

The Board of Managers, during the year 1893, turned their attention to perfecting a union with the National Society, taking their authority from the vote of the society of June 17, 1891; and, having finally accomplished the work, they reported the matter in full at the annual meeting of April 11, 1894. The society, after some debate, finally approved the action of the President and Managers, and, after five years of an independent and somewhat turbulent existence, took its place in that united sisterhood of societies which now includes nearly every State in the Union, besides France and Hawaii. The work of revising the constitution and by-laws to make them conformable to the provisions of the National constitution, was delegated to the Board of Managers, who were to report at the annual meeting of 1895.

At that meeting, held May 8, the present constitution and by-laws were reported and adopted. The rolls of the society were reformed to meet the approval of the Registrar-General, and the forms of blanks prescribed by the National Society were adopted and used.

In the latter part of 1894 Miss Annie M. Phelps, of Brookline, Mass., presented to the society a massive granite tablet bearing the names of thirteen Revolutionary soldiers buried in the Old Fort cemetery, in East Concord, one of whom is Joshua Thompson, an aide to the Marquis de Lafayette. This was dedicated with suitable and interesting ceremonies October 29, 1894.

In February, 1895, the society, through President Staniels, secured the passage of an act forbidding the display of foreign flags on public buildings in this State. The annual meeting of this year was particularly interesting and successful, on account of the presence of Rev. Samuel F. Smith, the author of "America."

In 1899, through the influence of the society, a law was enacted forbidding the desecration of the National or State flags in this State.

The society now numbers nearly 300 members, and is firmly established in the respect and esteem of the people of New Hampshire.

Surrender of Colonel Rall at Trenton, N. J.

SURRENDER OF COLONEL RALL.

By General James F. Rusling, Trenton, N. J.

(Historian N. J. Society S. A. R.)

THE Battle of Trenton was fought December 26, 1776. It was not much of a battle per se—more like a morning skirmish, as compared with our battles of the Civil War. But its results, in disheartening the British Ministry, and encouraging the Colonies, were incalculable. As Lord George Germain said in Parliament May 3, 1779, when defending Lord North and himself: "But all our hopes were blasted by that unhappy affair at Trenton."

The American forces engaged seem to have been about 3,000—partly militia; and the British and Hessians about 1,500—mostly good soldiers. The Hessians reported that there were 6,000 Americans, with fourteen cannon and two howitzers; but they included Washington's "sick and absent," as well as his "present for duty," and also troops that never crossed the Delaware. The losses on each side are noteworthy. General Washington, in his official report, says: "Our loss was only two officers and one or two privates wounded"—nobody killed or captured. In addition, some accounts say that "two officers were killed and two frozen to death," but this lacks official confirmation. On the other hand, according to General Washington and General Howe both, the Hessian loss was 918, in killed, wounded and prisoners—the rest escaping to Bordentown and Princeton. Of these, twenty-two were killed and eighty-four wounded—106 in all, as appears by official records. How could the disparity be so great? Subsequently, after their exchange, the Hessian officers were all courtmartialed, and their explanation was that the prevailing wind and sleet blew the priming out of their guns so they would not discharge, while this did not affect the Americans, because behind them. They also put the blame largely on Colonel Rall, of course, as a convenient scape-goat—being dead and absent.

The Hessian commander, indeed, does not seem to have been blameless, because not alert and vigilant, as well as having too much Christmas cheer. He was warned of the impending movement two or three days before, and advised to intrench or fortify a little, but despised the Americans too much. He was no coward, or imbecile, but a brave and skillful officer, and called the "Hessian Lion" by his British comrades. He was unquestionably a good battalion commander, but unfit for a brigade, as at Trenton. At Long Island, White Plains and Fort Washington, just previously, he had displayed great bravery and daring at the head of his regiment; but he lacked coolness, sound judgment and prompt decision, and, above all, experience as a general officer. In the hour of battle he always sought the post of danger, and to the Americans "he was terror personified."

His full name was "Colonel Johann Gottlieb Rall," not "Rahl," or "Roll," as written erroneously. He was born in June, 1725, and was always a soldier. He served in the Seven Years' War in Germany and afterward against the Turks. In 1764 he was a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Hessian service, and in 1772 the name of his regiment was changed to the "Grenadier Regiment Rall," and he was appointed Colonel and Commandant thereof. He landed in America August 25, 1776, and two days afterward took part in the battle of Long Island. He distinguished himself at Fort Washington November 16, 1776, carrying the American works there with the bayonet, and was then promoted to the command of the Hessian Brigade and ordered to Trenton.

In the action at Trenton, though surprised and doubtless half-intoxicated (or more), he quickly mounted his horse and essayed to rally his soldiers. He dashed hither and yon, as if dazed, but was soon grievously wounded twice in his side and fell from his horse, and then, leaning on two of his soldiers, was assisted out of the street and into the little Methodist Church, then standing on Queen (now Broad) and Fourth (now Academy) streets. Soon afterward his whole force surrendered, and he was then placed on a bench and carried from the church through Church alley to his own headquarters on King (now Warren) street, where St. Mary's Cathedral now stands.

Here Generals Washington and Greene called to see him in the course of the morning, and conversed briefly with him (through an interpreter) and took his parole of honor. He begged General Washington to treat his men well, and this, of course, was granted. General Washington also addressed him a few words of consolation and regret; but he died on the evening of December 27. The Hessian records say that he was buried in the Presbyterian Churchyard on Second (now East State) street; but his grave, if there, is unmarked, and its whereabouts unknown. In 1838, in digging there, many Hessian buttons were found, but nothing to identify poor Rall. Lieutenant Kinen, of his regiment, wrote this epitaph, which, however, was never placed over his remains: "Hier liegt der Oberst Rall, mit ihm ist alles all!" (Here lies Colonel Rall, with him all is over!)

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

THE Soldiers' Monument at Springfield, N. J., stands in a little cemetery long unused, but hallowed with the dust of many patriots of the olden time, including a number who laid down their lives at the Battle of Springfield and other conflicts of the Revolution. The little plot was on the estate owned by Messrs. Flemmer and Felmley, florists, one of whom is a descendant of a Hessian prisoner captured in the war. His ancestor was glad of the opportunity thus offered him of ceasing an involuntary service, and, on his liberation, he became an earnest citizen of his adopted country. Most patriotically, these gentlemen offered the plot to the New Jersey Society of the Sons of the American Revolution as a site for a monument, and it was accepted and occupied.

The exercises were held Oct. 19, 1896. Hon. John Whitehead, the President of the Society, received the gift of the site from the donors, and in an eloquent speech thanked them, and presented a richly engrossed copy of resolutions expressive of appreciation of the generosity of their action. The assemblage then adjourned to the historic old church nearby, where appropriate exercises and addresses followed in memory of the Battle of Yorktown, of which it was the anniversary. The Society then proceeded to Hobart Hill, Summit, where the monument to the "Old Sow" was dedicated.

THE "OLD SOW."

THE "Old Sow" was a cannon placed upon the summit of the Short Hills during the Revolution. Its purpose was to call out the Minutemen of the interior for defence in case of an attack from the direction of New York, which was in the hands of the British forces. Numerous signal stations to the eastward were so placed as to readily observe any movement of the enemy, and communicate the warning to the Short Hills station. The alarm was then sounded by the booming of the gun, or flashed at night by a burning tar barrel, which could be seen over a wide region. In 1777, and again in 1780, the army of Washington was encamped in the neighborhood of Morristown, and the gun and beacon then became important aids in its movements.

The site of the signal station was marked with appropriate exercises October 19, 1896, by the New Jersey Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. William Parkhurst Tuttle gave a history of the spot as well as of its identification. The latter was made in his presence in 1855 by Richard Swain, who, throughout the Revolution, was a lad living close by, and who was an eyewitness of the facts narrated. Reference was also made by Mr. Tuttle to the testimony of Colonel William Brittin, who, as an officer of the State Militia in 1818, had removed the gun, and who, in 1855, pointed out the spot it had occupied. In addition, abundant proofs were cited from Revolutionary letters, maps and other documents.

TRENTON BATTLE MONUMENT.

By General James F. Rusling, Trenton, N. J.

(Historian N. J. Society S. A. R.)

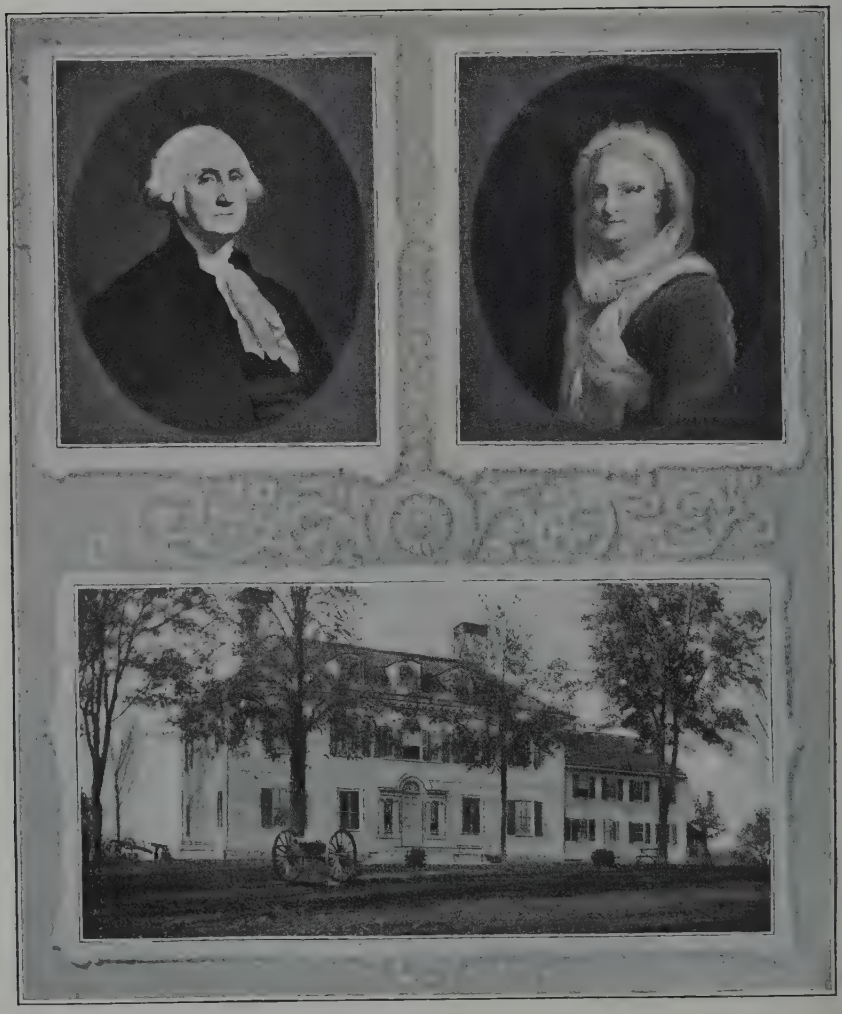
THE Trenton Battle Monument Association was organized March 8, 1844, to commemorate the great victory by the Continental Army over the British troops at Trenton, N. J., December 26, 1776. But not much was accomplished until May 7, 1884, when a new charter was obtained. On December 28, 1886, the association ordered the property to be purchased where the monument now stands at the junction of Pennington, Princeton and Brunswick avenues and Greene and Warren streets. This is the exact spot where Washington's artillery opened on the British and Hessians, and near the place where General Washington had his headquarters during the entire action.

This handsome and stately monument was erected by the joint efforts of the citizens of Trenton, the State of New Jersey and the United States. On April 14, 1887, the Legislature of New Jersey passed an act appropriating $15,000 to the erection of such a monument, provided the association first raised $15,000. On March 3, 1891, the Congress of the United States passed a like act appropriating $30,000, provided the association first secured a like amount. On July 3, 1891, the association reported officially that they had raised over $15,000 and, thereupon, both the New Jersey and United States appropriations became due and payable. On September 20, 1891, the ground was broken for the monument; on December 26, 1891, the 115th anniversary of the battle, the cornerstone was laid with impressive ceremonies, and on October 19, 1893, the 112th anniversary of the battle of Yorktown, the monument was finally dedicated with patriotic addresses by distinguished citizens of New Jersey and other States, a parade of the National Guard, New Jersey, and delegations of State officials and troops from New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, etc., of all participating in the battle originally.

This monument is from a design by John H. Duncan, of New York (designer also of the Brooklyn Arch and Grant's Mausoleum, at New York City), and the style is Roman-Doric—modeled after Trajan's Column, at Rome. The shaft is white granite. The entire structure is 150 feet high, and is surmounted by a bronze statue of General Washington, thirteen feet high, presented by the State of New York. He is represented as he appeared at the beginning of the battle, in full Continental uniform, with glass in hand, surveying the flying Hessians, and with his right arm extended, pointing to them. On the base of the monument—twenty-nine feet eight inches square—are bronze tablets, depicting the Continental troops crossing the Delaware, the opening of the battle, and the surrender of the Hessians, and also the memorial inscription. At its doorway are two bronze statues, life-size, of private soldiers—one from Marblehead, Mass., and the other from the Philadelphia Troop of Light Horse—also presented to the association. An electric elevator carries one to the summit of the monument, and at night thirteen electric stars on the top remind you of the thirteen original States of the Union.

This monument, the outcome of many years of effort by the association and its officers, is worthy alike of the great event it commemorates and of American art and architecture. Much credit for it is due especially to the late General William S. Stryker, long President of the association, first President of the New Jersey Society of the S. A. R., and to the time of his death one of its most zealous and enthusiastic members.

Trenton Battle Monument.



Washington's Headquarters at Morristown, N. J.

WASHINGTON'S HEADQUARTERS AT MORRISTOWN.

(President of the New Jersey Society of the S. A. R.)

DURING the disastrous campaign of 1776 many consultations were had between Washington and his Generals, relative to the place where the patriot army should encamp during the coming winter. Various locations were suggested, but after a careful deliberation Morristown was selected. This locality had peculiar advantages for the purposes of the army and its leaders. It was situated in the midst of a county filled with enthusiastic and zealous supporters of the patriot cause. Morristown was then a small village of, perhaps, three or four hundred inhabitants, scattered along the banks of a small stream called the Whippany River and upon the tableland rising up from the valley. To the west and north and southwest the country was broken up into valleys and high hills, the elevations sometimes deserving the name of mountains. To the east and southeast it overlooked the Valley of the Passaic and was admirably adapted for perceiving any approach of the English troops coming up from New York and Staten Island, where they were then encamped.

Washington reached Morristown January 6, 1777, with his exhausted troops—ragged, shoeless, almost naked and famishing. The season was exceedingly inclement; a driving snow storm set in with terrific violence; the troops were without tents, and, being about three thousand in number, the inhabitants were unable to provide them with sufficient shelter. Numerous parties of them encamped in the open air, cut down branches off the trees, formed circular stockades, built large fires in the center and lay huddled together with the pitless snow drifting upon them, shivering until morning.

Washington did all that he could to relieve his troops from their miserable situation; the citizens received them with open arms, opening their houses, furnishing them with food and fully evincing their patriotism by numerous deeds of kindness.

At this, his first visit to Morristown, the Commander-in-Chief made the "Arnold Tavern" his headquarters, remaining there until near the coming summer. This edifice was situated on the west side of the Green, was a frame building of three stories high, with a hall running through its center. It is still in existence, but has been removed to another part of the town and is now utilized for the purposes of a hospital.

Washington visited Morristown again in 1779-1780, when he made the "Ford Mansion," one of the most elegant structures in the country, his headquarters. This mansion was built by Colonel Jacob Ford, Jr., a distinguished officer of the Revolution, who died in January, 1777. Colonel Ford had made a contract with Congress for the delivery of large quantities of powder and had erected a powder magazine on the banks of the Whippany, where many tons of gunpowder were manufactured. The English were desirous of accomplishing two designs; one, to seize the person of Washington, and the other to break up this powder mill. They made several efforts in this direction, all of them failing. While attempting to make their way to Morristown on one of these attempts the battle of Springfield was fought and the British driven back with considerable loss.

In the month of December Mrs. Theodosia Ford, the widow of Colonel Jacob Ford, and the daughter of the Rev. Timothy Johnes, D.D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, at Morristown, welcomed her distinguished guest within the walls of this dwelling. It was situated in the northeastern part of Morristown on an elevated hill in a commanding position, and overlooked the ground in different directions as far as the eye could see. Here Washington was joined by Lady Washington, as she was then called, who spent the winter with him. He was surrounded by the bravest and best of his generals, and received the visits of many distinguished foreigners. The house was filled to its utmost capacity by the military family of the General and then was not sufficient for the shelter of all of them, many being obliged to live in rude buildings and in quarters obtained elsewhere.

The mansion is still in existence, in the same condition that it was when Washington was there, and many articles of furniture used by him are still in its rooms. The property remained in the ownership of lineal descendants of Colonel Ford for three generations, the house never being changed while receiving the repairs necessary for its preservation. Some years since the dwelling and several acres surrounding it were purchased by a body of patriotic gentlemen, who formed themselves into an association under an act of incorporation of the Legislature of New Jersey. The house has been preserved with pious, patriotic care, and is now filled with many hundred mementoes of Washington and of the times of the Revolution. Its doors are open to all visitors, and competent persons are on hand to escort them through the rooms and give the history of the various objects found there.

Annually, on the birthday of Washington, the members of the association and their friends and visitors gather within its sacred walls and celebrate the day with appropriate ceremonies.

JOHN WHITEHEAD.

PRESIDENT OF THE NEW JERSEY SOCIETY OF THE S. A. R.

JOHN WHITEHEAD, L.L. D., was born at Jersey, Licking County, Ohio, in 1819. His father emigrated from New Jersey in 1814; his mother was born in Connecticut, and went with her father's family to Ohio about the same time that her husband did. The Whiteheads of New Jersey are descended from John Whitehead, a "Freeman," of New Haven, Connecticut, where he was found, a prominent citizen, as early as 1630. His son came to Elizabethtown, as it was then called, about 1668, and was one of the most influential of the immigrants who settled that place. This son Isaac, was Clerk for many years of the town meetings at Elizabethtown, was Secretary of the first Colonial Legislature, and continued in that office also for many years. Some idea of his influence and of the confidence in which he was held may be gained from the fact that the town meeting of Newark once resolved that a controversy which had sprung up between the town and some owners of land within its borders should be submitted to his arbitrament, and that his decision should be final. His son emigrated into Morris County, and reared his home near Morristown. He married a Condit, a member of that large and highly respectable family which has spread itself into almost every State of the Union, and has, perhaps, given more members to the various State Societies of the S. A. R. than any other family.

Mr. Whitehead claims eligibility for membership in the S. A. R. from two great-grandfathers on the paternal side—one, Onesimus Whitehead, a private from Morris County; the other, Jonathan Condit, a Captain from Essex County.

The father of young Whitehead died when his son was not quite five years old, and his uncle, the Hon. Asa Whitehead, a leading lawyer of New Jersey, adopted him, educated him and prepared him for the same professional life the uncle had so successfully followed.

John Whitehead secured his Attorney license from the Supreme Court of New Jersey in September, 1840, and his Counsellor's license followed a few years later. From that time until the present, with a short intermission, he has been actively engaged in the practice of the law at Newark, New Jersey, but for the last forty years he has resided at Morristown, the home of both his Whitehead and Condit ancestors, and where his wife, who is still living, was born.

While never neglecting his duty to his numerous clients, Mr. Whitehead has devoted much of his leisure hours to literary pursuits, to the cultivation of which he has been impelled by his mental characteristics. In some of these he has been enthusiastic, especially in that of history. He has been quite a prolific author, delighting to use his brain and pen especially in the domain of his favorite study. A series of articles written by him on the history of the English language appeared several years ago in the "Northern Monthly." Many others, being sketches of men and scenes in Newark fifty years since, were published in a local newspaper in that city; sketches of the lawyers of Morris County of half a century since, and a review of the case of Fitz John Porter, were printed by a newspaper in Morristown. His articles on Fitz John Porter's case attracted much attention in various parts of the country and were highly commended. Fugitive pieces on other subjects from his pen have appeared in magazines and newspapers.

History being his favorite study, it was but natural that he should employ himself in that branch of human knowledge. He finished in 1897 for publication The Judicial and Civil History of New Jersey, an elaborate production of over five hundred pages, and in October, 1901, the history of the Passaic Valley, written by him, was also published. This, his last literary work, was finished after he entered his eighty-second year.

Early in his public life Mr. Whitehead was deeply interested in the establishment of a common school system, and to this great work, in connection with some other citizens of the State who sympathized with him in his views, he labored earnestly for many years, until at last success crowned his efforts. For ten years he was Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Education of the City of Newark, where he was then residing. When he entered the board there was only one schoolhouse in the city, a most meagre edifice, costing only about three or four thousand dollars. Now, scattered all over the city are many costly and elegant school edifices, provided with every appliance for the education of the youth of the town.

But his friends believe that what Mr. Whitehead considered to be the crowning effort of his life is the establishment of a public library called the Morristown Library and Lyceum. To this institution he has given the best years of his long life and devoted the very best faculties of his nature. The institution at first assumed very modest proportions, but as it advanced in its history it grew and secured the favor of many benevolent citizens, who listened to the appeals made in its behalf, and now a stately structure costing sixty thousand dollars graces the main street of the city of Morristown. In it are gathered on its shelves more than twenty thousand volumes, all of which, except such as have been presented to the institution, have been selected by its faithful friend. He is now the President of the organization and watches over its interests with patient care and constant attention.

He was an original member of the Newark Library Association and of the New Jersey Historical Society, of which he is a life member.

Although firmly attached to the political organization to which he has given his allegiance, and fully believing in its principles and doctrines, he has never sought political office.

In 1890 he was elected President of the New Jersey Society of the S. A. R., and has been continued in that position until the present. In 1894 the National Society elected him one of its Vice-Presidents; this office he now holds.

His presence and voice are always in evidence at the annual meetings of the National Society, and notwithstanding his advanced years, few are more active and enthusiastic in their devotion to the principles which are the foundation of this patriotic association.

In 1899 Wilberforce University conferred upon him the degree of LL. D.

MADISON ALLING.

MADISON ALLING, Newark, New Jersey (10743), and life member New Jersey Historical Society, is the younger son of Wm. Robinson and Emma Louise Downing Alling. His father was born at Madison, Indiana; entered the employ of Thos. Hunt & Co., New York City, and is proprietor of Alling & Co., manufacturing jewelers, founded in 1842 by Isaac A. and Joseph C. Alling. William is the son of the sixth John Alling, who graduated from Princeton College, 1817, studied law under Counsellor Elias Van Arsdale and removed to Indiana. He was direct descendant of Roger Alling, born in England, emigrated to New England, 1639, and settled in New Haven, 1639. Records show he at once took a lead in affairs of the Colonies, and November 29, 1641, was admitted a member of the bar. His first recorded act is found in his signature to the Plantation Covenant, June 4, 1639. He was often called upon to appraise estates and damages, to act as arbiter in the settlement of disputes, held many offices of trust, was a Custom House Officer, a Collector of the "Colledge Corne," a Sergeant in the First Military Company, was the first and only elected Treasurer of the Colony, until chosen a Deacon in the First Church in 1669, which office he held until his death. Lieutenant Samuel Alling, 2d, oldest son of Sergeant Samuel, 1st, and grandson of Roger, 1st, born in New Haven, 1668; removed with family to Newark, 1701, and in 1703 Samuel Alling was "one of ye Judges for ye Inferior Court of Common Pleas for ye County of Essex, New Jersey." The residence of Lieutenant Samuel Alling became the Alling Homestead, northwest corner Broad and Market Streets, and originally contained six acres. On this corner five generations of Allings lived and died. It was known as "Lieutenant John Alling Corner," and later was owned by his grand-daughter Matilda Alling Crane, then by her daughter S. M. Crane, who was a grand-daughter of Captain J. C. Crane, fifth generation from Jasper, who, with Captain Robert Treat, were active settlers of the New Haven Colony, 1667, Newark. S. M. Crane died April 24, 1892, leaving a portion to her cousin Madison Alling. Captain Joseph, Lieutenant John, Isaac, Lewis, Pruden and Samuel Alling were in the Continental Army. John Alling, a Minuteman, was in the Regt of Artificers, commanded by J. Baldwin of Massachusetts, and the others were New Jersey Minutemen and members of Wheeler's Company of Grenadiers, April 17, 1776, three months prior to the Declaration of Independence.

One cold winter's day, toward the close of the war, Lieutenant John, with some of his Company, gave a warm reception to a party of British soldiers who were on a foraging expedition. Just in front of the homestead the skirmish attracted the nonogenarian, Deacon Samuel, to a window, from which he shouted to his grandson: "Give it to 'em, John!" upon which one cried out: "Shoot the old devil"; but his honored head was spared, and at the age of ninety-five, his tombstone tells us, he went to rest, "adorned with every Christian grace." (See Alling Gen., pages 56-103.)

Capt. Joseph Alling is referred to in a paper brought from Washington by the Hon. Alex. M. Pennington, which is now in the Newark Historical Library.

"This is to certify that Capt. Joseph Alling has delivered me an enlistment roll. Wm. Burnet, Nov. 13, 1775."

The original monuments of Captain Joseph, Lieutenant John and Samuel Alling are now in Madison Alling's plot at Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, overlooking the Passaic River.

JOHN JACKSON HUBBELL.

JOHN JACKSON HUBBELL was born in Newark, June 16, 1853, was educated at the Newark Academy and Princeton University, and received a thorough preparation for a professional life. He read law with his distinguished father, Algernon Sidley Hubbell, and at the University of Leipsic, and obtained the degree of LL. B. from the Columbia College Law School. He was admitted to the New Jersey bar as an attorney at the February term, 1877, and as a counselor at the same term three years later, and in September, 1896, was admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

Since his admission Mr. Hubbell has successfully followed his profession in his native city, where he occupies a high place among the leading members of the bar. He has done considerable literary work, including magazine articles on travel in Europe, an article on the celebrated Passion Play of Ober-Ammergau for the Newark "Daily Advertiser" in 1880, and an address on the Battle of Red Bank before the New Jersey Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, of which organization he is a prominent and active member, and of which he has been Registrar for many years.

Mr. Hubbell was one of the original delegates sent by the New Jersey Society to the meeting at Fraunce's Tavern and participated in the formation of the National Society.

ELIAS OSBORNE DOREMUS.

HON. ELIAS OSBORNE DOREMUS is a member and one of the managers of the New Jersey Society, S. A. R., and was born in East Orange, N. J., Jan. 17, 1831. His first ancestor in America was Cornelius Doremus, who came from Holland in 1686, and settled at or near Acquackanonck, now Passaic.

Peter Cornelius Doremus, the father of E. O. Doremus, was born April 9, 1807, married Julia A. Osborne, and died June 30, 1869. Dr. Doremus' maternal grandfather, John H. Osborne, married Rhoda Baldwin, daughter of Zophar Baldwin, who served in the Essex County Militia in the Revolutionary War, and whose ancestor, John Baldwin, Sr., was a signer of the Fundamental Agreement.

Elias Doremus is a Republican in politics, and for many years has been a conspicuous citizen and a man of large influence in Newark and Essex County. He served seventeen consecutive years—seven years as President—of the Board of Freeholders. In 1873 he was elected to the New Jersey House of Assembly, and served two terms.

Mr. Doremus is President of the American Insurance Company of Newark, a director of the Newark City National Bank, a member of the New England Society of the Oranges, and a member of the New Jersey Historical Society.

Mr. Doremus was married in 1865 to Harriet, daughter of William Peck, and has two children now living—Fannie, widow of George F. Bassett, and Frederick Halsey, partner in the firm of George F. Bassett & Co., wholesale crockery, New York City.

PHILEMON LYMAN HOADLEY.

PHILEMON LYMAN HOADLEY is a member of the New Jersey Society, S. A. R., and was born at Collinsville, Lewis County, N. Y., Dec. 6, 1845.

The original American ancestor of this family was William Hoadley, who came to Saybrook, Conn., from England in 1663, and later settled in Branford, Conn., where, in 1666, he bought the home lot of Rev. Abram Pierson, when the later removed to New Jersey, and became the first Presbyterian minister in Newark.

Philemon Hoadley, the grandfather of Philemon L. Hoadley, was born in Branford, Conn., in 1755, married Mary Rogers, served at Ticonderoga as a soldier of the American Revolution, and died at Collinsville, N. Y., in 1811. His son, Lyman Hoadley—father of Philemon L. Hoadley—was born in Westfield, Mass., in 1781, married (2d) Charlotte Eliza Cowles, served in the war of 1812 and died at Collinsville, N. Y., in 1861. They had two sons, Philemon L. and Rev. James H. Hoadley, D.D., the latter a Presbyterian clergyman in New York City.

Philemon L. Hoadley acquired an academic education in Oneida County, N. Y., and removed to Newark, N. J., in 1871. He is a director and Vice-President of the American Insurance Company of Newark, a Republican in politics, a member of the Presbyterian Church, a member of the Revolutionary Memorial Society and a life member of the New Jersey Historical Society. He married Mary Olmstead, of Camden, N. Y., and has four children—Frederick, George O., Alliene and Helen Maronette.

JOSEPH HENRY SHAFER.

MR. SHAFER has been an enthusiastic and honored member of the New Jersey Society of the S. A. R. almost from the time of its organization. His name is found among the first hundred members, and, since his election, he has been persistent in his interest in the Society and zealous in the performance of the duties involved in his membership.

He is a Jerseyman through several generations of both paternal and maternal ancestors. His paternal great-grandfather, in America, was Caspar Schaffer, who emigrated from Germany and settled at Stillwater, N. J., in 1711. He made his home there in an unbroken wilderness, his nearest neighbors being wild beasts and Indians. That home at first was a rude log cabin, built around the stump of a large tree, smoothed off on the top and used as a table, on which were served the meals of the family. The next object of this newcomer into this wild locality, after securing this shelter for his family, was to provide the means of their sustenance. So the ground was cleared, ploughed and harrowed, seed sown, and its product reaped and garnered. When his grain was harvested, his ingenuity was taxed to build a mill and utilize the water of a small stream near his cabin for water power to drive his mill. So a dam was reared, a pond raised and the wheel of the mill was set in motion. It was a rude affair, of small capacity, but enough flour could be ground, perhaps two or three bushels daily, for the needs of his family. In process of time other settlers made their appearance in the neighborhood; they were few in number, but they too must be fed, and the capabilities of the mill were taxed to meet the demands even of the sparsely settled vicinity.

Caspar Schaffer was a German, and his love of personal independence, which he had inherited from his Teutonic ancestors, impelled him to union with the Colonists in their contest for freedom. His son, Abraham, in 1777, enlisted into the army and marched to Morristown, where Washington and his army were encamped in that eventful year.

Caspar Schaffer was, at one time, a member of the Legislature of New Jersey. Before he emigrated to America he had lived near the Rhine in the Palatinate, one of the richest provinces of Germany. He was the father of Isaac Schaffer, and he was the father of Peter Bernhard Shaffer, who was the first to Anglicize the surname of the family and write it Shafer. Peter Bernhard was Colonel of a regiment of Warren County Militia, and was also an elder in the Presbyterian Church at Hackettstown, N. J. Colonel Peter Bernhard Shafer married Amelia L., daughter of Abraham Fairchild, a member of a distinguished family of Morris County, all of whom were ardent and pronounced Whigs in the Revolution. Abraham Fairchild served during the whole of the war, and took part in many important engagements, among which were Trenton, Princeton and Springfield. After his return to his home, at the close of the war, he was commissioned a Justice of the Peace of Morris County and an Ensign in the first militia company of Hanover, in 1785, by William Livingston, the war Governor of the State. Through these two revolutionary heroes, Mr. Shafer claimed eligibility to membership in the New Jersey Society of S. A. R.

Mr. Shafer is in the prime of his life, hale and hearty, and is still as busy as ever. His life has been a quiet and uneventful one. He has not suffered himself to be distracted by ambitious plans for political preferment, nor by any factitious demands upon his time or his efforts. He is of unassuming manners, but genial and accessible to all. His friends are well chosen, and return his friendship with esteem and confidence. Many unostentatious acts of kindness, wisely performed, denote that his good judgment is rarely at fault. He has been thrice married, first to Miss Julia Remsen Ely, to whom were born five children, only two of whom survive. His second wife was Julia N. Budd; of her two children, one is deceased. His third wife was Miss Adelaide M. Smilie, who is living.

NEW JERSEY SOCIETY.

THE wave of patriotism which swept over the country, consequent on the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the first inauguration of George Washington as President of the United States, resulted in the establishment of the patriotic Societies of the Sons of the Revolution and of the Sons of the American Revolution. Both have accomplished much in their independent lines of activity and each is entitled to great honor for their success in stimulating the patriotism of the citizens of the Republic. The New York Society of the S. R. was the first in the field, being organized in 1888. It then claimed the right of forming other societies, auxiliary to itself. This assumption was, in a measure, admitted by a very few citizens of New Jersey, who desired to associate themselves into an organization with objects and aims similar to those of the Empire State Society, and who applied for a charter. The application was denied, and the gentlemen from New Jersey who were interested in the movement determined to form an independent organization, having the sphere of its operations within their own State. These gentlemen were very few in number, numbering about five, but their enterprise commended itself to the judgment of many others who were eligible for membership, and soon a strong society was formed. At first the same name as that of the New York Association was adopted, but, objection being made to this, the present title, that of the Sons of the AMERICAN Revolution, was selected.

The New Jersey Society thus formed has the honor of being the first to bear the appellation now so dear to all members of the various State Associations who are working under it.

The idea which underlay the whole movement and impelled the New York organization, so excellent and patriotic, was by no means new. In 1876 a very similar association was formed in California under the leadership of Colonel A. S. Barnard, which is still in existence, represented yearly in the National Society and known as the California Society of the S. A. R.

It is a matter of proper pride on the part of the New Jersey members of this great organization that their State should be the first to enter the field as a representative independent organization, claiming distinctively descent from the heroes of the AMERICAN Revolution.

It was wonderful to witness the alacrity with which other States in the Union responded so promptly to the call of patriotism in the formation of State Societies who marched under the banner of the Sons of the AMERICAN Revolution.

It very soon became manifest to some of the wise members of the New Jersey organization that the time had arrived when a National Society should be formed by representatives of the State Associations, and from New Jersey proceeded the first call for the formation of this National Society. The call met with universal approbation, and a strong and well-organized body of delegates from the various State Societies came together and a National Association was formed with great unanimity, which has since annually met at different parts of the country.

The New Jersey Society was formally organized April 30, 1889, by the election of General William S. Stryker as President, with a most efficient body of officers. General Stryker was one of New Jersey's most distinguished citizens, a lineal descendant of General Washington's guide at the Battle of Trenton. He was the holder of many offices of trust and confidence, from the State, from corporations and from private individuals, and was obliged, very soon after being elected President, to resign. He was succeeded by Governor Robert Stockton Green, then the Chief Magistrate of the State, who claimed eligibility to membership as a descendant of Richard Stockton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He held office until December 26, 1889, when Josiah Collins Pumpelly was elected President, who was succeeded, December 26, 1890, by John Whitehead, who has held the office until the present.

The Society at first held its annual meetings on December 26 in each year, the anniversary of the Battle of Trenton, but lately has changed the time to January 3, when it commemorates the Battle of Princeton.

It has a membership of more than four hundred, and is adding every year to the list.

Four sons of soldiers at one time were enrolled, three of whom are now dead; one of them, Caleb Baldwin, dying at the advanced age of over one hundred and one years. One survives, Mr. John Atwater, and still hale and hearty with a promise of many years yet to come. One member, Mr. William H. Sampson, was admitted to membership in virtue of his lineal descent from a Massachusetts woman, Deborah Sampson, who, disguised as a man, became a soldier in the ranks, served for two years with great courage, but being wounded was obliged to disclose her sex.

The Society is no social club, banded together for amusement or pleasure, selecting its members from a privileged class. It is in all respects democratic, opening its doors to all who can comply with certain prerequisites, which are always demanded from every applicant.

Lineal descent from an ancestor who assisted in establishing American Independence during the War of the Revolution in any one of the following capacities:

1. A military or naval officer.
2. A soldier, sailor or marine.
3. A member of a Committee of Correspondence, or Council of Safety or other similar body.
4. A member of a Provincial or of the Continental Congress.
5. An officer in the service of one of the original Colonies or States or of the National Government, representing or composed of these Colonies or States, provided such service would render the official specially liable to arrest and punishment.
6. Any recognized patriot actually arrested and punished for giving aid and comfort to the patriotic cause, provided that such ancestor shall have always maintained an adherence to the Colonial cause and shall not have gone over to the enemy. Each applicant must also be of good moral character and be recommended by some member of the Society or well-known citizen. These requirements are all constitutional.

The Society has erected two suitable and substantial monuments; one, in a graveyard attached to the Presbyterian Church, near the battlefield of Springfield, where are buried a general officer and some privates who were killed at that contest. The other is near Summit, a short distance from Springfield, at the spot where was placed a beacon and signal gun, used to warn the Minutemen of the neighborhood of the approach of the enemy, especially while Washington was at Morristown. Both gun and beacon were used when the British moved toward Morristown, intending to capture Washington and the patriot army and to destroy a powder mill, near the Headquarters of the General.

A sum is appropriated yearly for the erection of substantial monuments at the graves of Jerseymen soldiers in the Revolution who are buried within the borders of the State. Recently arrangements have been made with the New Hampshire Society to erect a monument at the grave of General Enoch Poor, a soldier from the last-named State, who died during the Revolution in Bergen County and was buried at Hackensack in that county.

The membership of the Society is representative, coming from all classes of society, including Governors, Members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme Court, Vice-Chancellors, professional men and patriots from other ranks in the community, who all work together in harmonious enthusiasm, honoring their State with loyal pride in its past history, in its glorious record in the stormy times when war devastated its land, but when its men and women were true to the cause of liberty, and rejoicing that they are the descendants of such heroes.

CAPTAIN JOHN CALDWELL CALHOUN.

CAPTAIN JOHN CALDWELL CALHOUN, Class of '63, South Carolina College, inherits one of the most illustrious ancestries in America. He was born near Demopolis, Marengo County, Alabama, on his father's plantation, July 9, 1843. He is the grandson of the distinguished South Carolina statesman, John C. Calhoun, whose wife was Floride, daughter of John Ewing Calhoun, United States Senator for South Carolina in the 7th Congress, and who died in 1802. His eldest son, Andrew Pickens Calhoun, was the father of Captain Calhoun and one of the largest cotton planters in the South before the Civil War, who devoted himself entirely to agricultural pursuits. The origin of the family has been distinctly traced back to the reign of Gregory the Great, and connects with the Earl of Lexon in Dunbartonshire, Scotland, and one of the younger sons of King Conock of Ireland, who came to the same region at that period. The name of Conock soon became corrupted into Colquohoun, Colquhoun, Colchoun and finally Calhoun. The first ancestor who obtained the barony of Colquhoun in Dumbartonshire, was Umphredies, who lived in the time of Alexander Second, and his posterity have enjoyed successive possession ever since. His son Robert, who lived in the reign of King David, was ordered by that king to storm and take the castle of Dumbarton, which was strongly fortified. His written reply to the king was "Si je puis" —If I can. He effected the capture of the castle by strategy. Collecting his trusted friends and followers, he arranged for a great hunt in the immediate neighborhood, which drew out temporarily from the castle most of the defending warriors and retainers, and when the chase was at its height he suddenly sounded the recall of his clan and hounds and took unresisting possession of Dumbarton Castle, of which he was subsequently created Earl. For this deed of personal valor and warlike strategy, the crest was bestowed upon him. This consists of a Stag's Head, indicative of the chase, supported by two ratch hounds, with the motto, "Si je puis," and below this the words, "Snock Locken," the war cry of the Colquhoun Clan.

The cognomens of James and Patrick have had the preference for eldest sons in the family. Their first settlement was in Pennsylvania and from thence they removed to the waters of Kenhawa, Wythe County, Virginia. They were driven from there by the Indians after Braddock's defeat, and established Calhoun Settlement, in Abbeville County, S. C., February, 1756. Their settlement here was again devastated and broken up in 1760 after a desperate encounter with the Indians, in which James, the youngest son, and his mother were slain. Subsequent to this, Patrick, the youngest son, father of the celebrated statesman and great-grandfather of our subject, was appointed to the command of a body of Rangers by the Provincial Government for the defence of the frontiers at the time of the Revolution, and rendered conspicuous and sanguinary service in fighting both Indians and Tories in defence of his country.

In succeeding years his son, John C. Calhoun, the eminent statesman, was Chairman of the Congressional Committee that declared the War of 1812 with England. The above Patrick's wife, Martha Caldwell, of Charlotte County, Virginia, had three brothers who served valiantly in the Revolutionary War. The eldest was murdered in cold blood by the Tories, the second was slain in the battle of Cowpens. where his body bore the marks of thirty sabre wounds, and the third was imprisoned by the English for nine months in the dungeons of St. Augustine, Florida.

On his mother's side, Captain Calhoun's lineage goes back to the reign of King William III, at which time a census of the officers of the Court and Government, both civil and clerical, shows the name of William Green (in 1693-4) among the select body guard of one hundred under command of Charles, Earl of Manchester, in daily waiting upon the king. They were required to be men of the best quality and not less than six feet high. Their attire consisted of scarlet coats to the knee, scarlet breeches, richly mounted with black velvet, broad crown caps with velvet bands, and distinguished by ribbons of the king's color. Robert, the son of the above William, was born in 1695, and emigrated to Virginia with his uncle, Sir William Duff, a Quaker, about the year 1717. Sir William settled in what is now King George County, Virginia, and acquired large landed possessions. Duff Green, son of the above Robert, was next in line of maternal ancestry. He married for his second wife, Ann, daughter of Col. Henry Willis, founder of Fredericksburg, Virginia, whose wife, Mildred Washington, was aunt and godmother of Gen. George Washington, which thus brought his children into blood relationship with the Father of his Country. Similar ties also exist with the Lees, Lewises and Henrys of Virginia.

John Green was appointed a captain of the Culpepper Minutemen, in the War of the Revolution, and had reached the rank of Colonel of the First Virginia Regiment when leading the advance of the storming party at Great Bridge. He was also seriously wounded in the engagement at Mamorouk. The previously mentioned William Green, who is next in direct maternal line of Captain Calhoun's ancestry, was the youngest son of the above Duff. He became a Revolutionary soldier at the age of fifteen and was with Washington at Valley Forge in the winter of 1777-8, and afterward with General Morgan at Cowpens. He married Ann Marshall, who was a cousin of Chief Justice John Marshall, and also of the celebrated Humphrey Marshall of Kentucky.

Next in line was Gen. Duff Green, the noted diplomatist, soldier and editor of General Jackson's time, who served with General Harrison's command in the War of 1812. General Duff Green's maternal grandfather was Markham Marshall, whose wife was Ann Bailey, and these resided for some time in the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, from whence they removed to Wayne County, Kentucky. It is said that the descendants of Ann Bailey and Mildred Washington include more distinguished names than any other families in America. General Duff Green of Kentucky was the father of Margaret Maria Green, who was his second child, and Colonel Calhoun's mother. Her mother was Lucretia Edwards, a sister of Ninian Edwards, a distinguished jurist and first Governor of Illinois.

The first ten years of Captain Calhoun's life were spent on his father's plantation in Alabama and most of the subsequent six years at Fort Hill, the ancestral estate, with the baronial surroundings incidental to Southern plantation life at that period. His first educational training was under Rev. John L. Kennedy, a man of note and great force of character, in a little pine-log schoolhouse called "Thalian Academy," near the family home. Inheriting a close resemblance to his mother's mental, moral and physical characteristics, the warmest affection and most devoted love grew up between them, which increased in breadth and intensity until her decease in July, 1891, and was revealed more fully in documents that came to light for the first time after her death. It is to her noble life and efficient training that Captain Calhoun attributes whatever he has accomplished that is worthy of record. The motto she indelibly stamped upon his mind was to always avoid doing anything his conscience could not fully approve. When his mother married, she was a leading belle in the first circles of Washington.

In the fall of 1860, at the age of seventeen years, young Calhoun entered the South Carolina College at Columbia as a sophomore. In the subsequent spring of 1861 the Civil War broke out, and he immediately volunteered for the Confederate Army in a company of cadets, which hastened to Charlestown, where they arrived at the time of the bombardment of Fort Sumter. After the cadets were disbanded he proceeded to Columbia and joined Capt. Tom Taylor's company, which formed a part of the Hampton Legion Cavalry, of which he was appointed Color Sergeant. He was, however, discharged on account of his extreme youth. Hastily returning to his home, he organized a fine cavalry troop of 160 men and was on his way to the front within one month of his discharge. His company was assigned to Adams' Battalion, commanded by Major James P. Adams, and afterward merged into the Residence of the Calhouns, and where the subject of this sketch was reared.

Fourth Regiment, South Carolina Cavalry, under command of Col. B. H. Rutledge, which was one of the regiments composing Gen. M. C. Butler's Brigade (since United States Senator from South Carolina), and it was under this commander Captain Calhoun continued to serve until the end of the war. When Lee surrendered, he returned to Fort Hill, only to find his ancestral home devastated, and the entire fortune of the family swept away, in addition to which was the recent death of his father, that imposed upon him the immediate care and support of his widowed mother, together with provision for and the education of his young brothers, Andrew, James and Patrick, and sisters, Margaret and Lucrecia. As evidence of the heroic fidelity with which he discharged the dual obligations of substitute father and brother toward his young brothers and sisters, the following extracts from the last will of his mother, found among her effects after her death, and addressed to Captain Calhoun personally, show one of the highest tributes ever given by a loving mother to a loyal and devoted son:

"My Darling Child.—Life is uncertain and last night I thought I might be dying and determined not to let another day pass without putting my wishes in a form that they might meet your eye. Do not feel that you are in any way bound to do as I say, but if it meets with your approbation and departed spirits are permitted to watch those on earth, I shall continue to bless you even in heaven— * * * * * I have taught the children to look to you as the means that has given us shelter, food and clothing, since your father's death, therefore as the above love token would be but a small item, let them feel that to you they are indebted for the greatest blessing in life—education. * * * * * As all our silver was sold from us but some few small items, I think it best to name a piece to each one, as the easiest way of dividing and retaining them in the family, and I wish them to be secured from sale forever, even if they have to be named to a child of each, or in case of no issue, must be named by the owner to some favorite nephew or niece, and in that way commemorating how easy it is for riches to take wings and fly away, and how blest I have been in having you act as you have, and they in your fatherly care."

Captain Calhoun courageously assumed the life of a planter after the war, with restricted means and under absolutely changed conditions of labor, and by his energy, industry and integrity produced the resources to efficiently discharge the obligations of nature and affection.

Captain Calhoun rapidly became recognized as a leading citizen of New York. He was elected a member of the Manhattan, Reform, Lawyers', New and other clubs in the metropolis, of the Metropolitaan Museum of Art and of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. He was one of the chief originators of the Southern Society.

Captain Calhoun was one of the originators of the Sons of the American Revolution Society, and has always taken a keen interest in whatever incites Americans to loyal pride in their forefathers. In 1897 he was appointed Special Ambassador to France by the Sons of the American Revolution, to confer with the President and Cabinet of the French Republic and also with the representatives of descendants of Lafayette, Rochambeau and De Grasse and of the Society of Arts, Science and Literature, asking their co-operation in commemorating the 119th anniversary of the signing of the treaty between France and the Colonies.

As a result of his services, at a large banquet given subsequently by the Sons of the American Revolution Society at Delmonico's, New York, President Faure and all the above-named representatives cabled messages direct to the Society, which were read to the assembled guests and afterward published in the annual book of the Society. In appreciation of the courteous and diplomatic manner with which the whole matter had been conducted by him, he was also subsequently presented by the Sons of the American Revolution with a beautifully engraved and illuminated set of resolutions in acknowledgment of his efforts in behalf of the Society and country.

Captain Calhoun was also one of the Committee to receive Admiral Dewey, and of the Committee of Five having the entire management of the affair.

At the present time Captain Calhoun is the principal owner of the Baltimore Coal Mining and Railway Company, a corporation of Baltimore County, New Brunswick, controlling the cannel coal fields of that region. His oldest son is the managing director of the mines. In 1870 Captain Calhoun was married to Linnie, only daughter of David Adams, of Lexington, Kentucky, and also a grandniece of Richard M. Johnson, once Vice-President of the United States. Their four eldest children died at early ages, and the remaining four are James Edward (1878), David Adams (1881), Julia Johnson (1884), while the name of the illustrious grandsire is now perpetuated in the person of the eighth child, John Caldwell Calhoun (1887), of the fourth generation.

George W. Van Vredenburgh

GEORGE WARD VAN VREDENBURGH.

GEORGE WARD VAN VREDENBURGH, son of William Townsend and Matilda Burns Van Vredenburgh, was born November 8, 1858, at San José, Santa Clara County, Cal.

Mr. Van Vredenburgh is connected with many of the families prominent in the early history of New York. His ancestor, William Isaacsen Van Vredenburgh, the founder of the family in America, came from Holland in the ship "Gilded Beaver," in 1658, and is descended from the distinguished family of the Van Vredenburch at The Hague. In 1664 he married Appolonia Barrents, daughter of Jacob B. Cool—they were members of the Old Dutch Church in New York in 1668.

Lieutenant John W. (5) Van Vredenburgh, great-grandson of this William Isaacsen Van Vredenburgh, served three years in the War of the American Revolution, and was an officer of Colonel Lashers' Regiment. In 1755 he married Marytje Van Wagenen.

Wm. J. (4) Van Vredenburgh, son of Lieutenant Van Vredenburgh, was for many years a prominent citizen of Onondaga County. He was a member of the Assembly for Onondaga County, 1805-1806; Justice of the Sessions, 1804-1805, and again in 1808. He was given charge of the Colonial MSS. Land Papers of New York, also the State Survey of Military Tract and the land ceded to Massachusetts. He married (1) Elizabeth, daughter of Platt Townsend, of Oyster Bay, and (2) Mary Rosier Gilzean.

Mr. Van Vredenburgh traces his ancestry to Reynier Schaats, a surgeon of Albany, who was murdered by the Indians at the Massacre of Schenectady, in 1690, and to his father, the Rev. Gideon Schaats, originally engaged as Minister of the Colony of Renssalaerwyck, but in 1657 was appointed, at the request of the inhabitants of Fort Orange and Beverwyck, Minister of the latter place. He also traces his ancestry to Dr. Johannis de la Montagne, who came to New Netherlands from Holland in 1637. He was a member of Kiefts Council, Commissioned General and Vice Director of Fort Orange until 1664. Through this line Mr. Van Vredenburgh descended from the de Forests, the Vermilyes and other Huguenot and Dutch families of New York.

Mr. Van Vredenburgh is a chemist, educated in New York City, and for many years was largely associated with the wholesale and retail drug trade.

In 1889 he placed on the market a patent propeller wheel, which was extensively used by harbor tugs and towboats. In 1893 Mr. Van Vredenburgh married Miss Marie Breene at St. George's Church in New York City, and, although he is still a young man, he is a large property owner and bank stock holder and has built up an extensive business in the manufacture and sale of proprietary medicines. He is a man of exceptional business ability, and has always been an active sportsman, greatly interested in athletics; he is a member of many clubs, including the New York Athletic Club, Suburban Riding and Driving Club, the Colonial Club of New York City, the Larchmont and New York Yacht clubs. He has always been a daring yachtsman, and is at present the owner of the sloop yacht "Vision," which was built for a cup defender.

MILTON HARLOW NORTHRUP.

MILTON HARLOW NORTHRUP, journalist, born April 3, 1841, in Smithfield, Madison County, N. Y.; graduated with honor from Hamilton College in 1860, and received degree of A.M. from same institution in 1896; admitted to the Bar in 1863, but never practiced; on the staff of Brigadier-General John A. Green, Jr., National Guard, State of New York, as Aide-de-Camp, with rank of captain in 1864-1865, the closing years of the Civil War; adopted journalism as profession, acting for five winters as newspaper correspondent with the Legislature in Albany or with Congress in Washington; in 1870 became editor and part proprietor of the Syracuse Daily Courier, continuing in that capacity for twenty-four years. In 1876, while a correspondent and committee clerk in Washington, he was made secretary to the Special Committee of the House of Representatives which, with a like committee on the part of the Senate, prepared the bill creating the Electoral Commission, which decided the Presidential dispute between Tilden and Hayes. The story of the committee's work was told by Mr. Northrup in the Century Magazine of October, 1901. Mr. Northrup was twice postmaster of Syracuse, in 1888-1889 and again in 1893-1897, by appointment of President Cleveland. In 1872 he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Baltimore. In 1892-1893 he was president of the New York State Associated Press. His father was Rensselaer Northrup, a native of Massachusetts, and his mother Clarissa Judd. His grandfather, Amos Northrup, and his grandmother, Betsey Stedman. His great-grandfather, a Revolutionary soldier, was Amos Northrup, of Berkshire County, Mass.

JAMES MEAD BELDEN.

JAMES MEAD BELDEN, of Syracuse, N. Y., son of Augustus Cadwell Belden and Rozelia Jackson Belden, and descendant of Richard Bayldon, of Yorkshire, England, who settled in Wethersfield, Conn., in 1635, was born in Pompey, Onondaga County, N. Y., July 10, 1852.

Among his colonial ancestors are Thomas Cadwell, of Hartford; William Beardsley, of Stratford; Henry Burt and Edward Stebbins, of Springfield; Joseph Chamberlain, of Hadley; Thomas Wells, of Wethersfield, and Stephen Hart, of Farmington. His ancestors who served in the Revolutionary War were Moses and Augustus Belden, of Northfield, Mass., and John Cadwell, of Hartford, Conn., who held one of the eleven original Revolutionary War grants of land in Fabius, N. Y. Mr. Belden was educated at Dr. Reed's School, Walnut Hill, Geneva, N. Y., and at Cornell University, at Ithaca. He married, October 24, 1878, Jessie Van Zile, daughter of Oscar E. Van Zile, of Troy, N. Y. He was on the staff of General J. Dean Hawley, and later on the staff of General Dwight H. Bruce, with the rank of major, remaining with this brigade of the National Guard until it was transferred to Elmira. Mr. Belden is a member of the Society of Founders and Patriots and president—1900-1901, 1901-1902—of the Syracuse Chapter Sons of the American Revolution.

WILLIAM K. PIERCE.

MR. WM. K. PIERCE, President and General Manager of the Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company, is a living representative of that class of young men of the present generation whose indomitable thrift, energy, excessive enterprise and general information, combined with a remarkable degree of good, solid judgment, has placed his company far in the lead of enterprises of a similar nature in this country.

He was born and has always resided in Syracuse, attended the public schools, and afterward a private school, where he was prepared for college, entering Cornell in the class of 1873, and pursuing his studies in the scientific course. On the completion of his studies, his father suggested a European trip, which he quickly embraced, remaining abroad nearly two years, studying the French and German languages, and at intervals embracing opportunities to travel and study the people and see the wonders of the Old World, all of which tended to broaden and expand his ideas and prepare him more thoroughly for a perfect business education. On his return from Europe, he decided to take law as a profession, registering and commencing study in one of the law offices in Syracuse. He studied but a short time when he decided to give up law and devote his exertions to business enterprises, and entered the crockery house of S. P. Pierce & Sons, where he remained two or three years, acquiring a general business knowledge. In 1876 he formed a partnership with his father and brother-in-law, under the name of Pierce, Butler & Pierce, doing a general wholesale business in gas, water and steam supplies, steam and sanitary engineering. By faithful and unremitting attention to business he was able, with the assistance of his partners, to largely increase the business, and, in 1886, owing to the retirement of Mr. Butler, he organized the Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company, with a capital stock of $200,000, and a year or two later, having purchased the large foundry and machine shop at Geneva, N. Y., there organized the Catchpole Manufacturing Company, with a capital stock of $100,000. Owing to the great success of these companies, through careful management in their business enterprises, and in order to simplify the business, he brought about a consolidation of the two companies in 1890, under the name of the Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company, with a capital stock of $600,000, the company then doing a business of over $1,000,000 annually, having built up this large and prosperous company since 1876, the first year they doing but $50,000 worth of business.

In 1882 he was one of the first to organize an electric light company in Syracuse, this firm obtaining a franchise and introducing the first electric lights upon the streets and in the commercial houses. Afterward their franchise and electric light business was consolidated with the present Thompson-Houston Electric Light Company of Syracuse, this company having assumed very large proportions from the simple beginning which was introduced here through Mr. Pierce and his associates.

Mr. Pierce has always been a conscientious worker, and, while greatly interested in politics, has never found time to devote any of his personal attention to its intricacies.

In 1880 he was appointed Captain on the staff of Brigadier-General Hawley, and afterward, in 1882, he was promoted to Major on the staff of General Bruce.

No young man in Syracuse has done more to promote its prosperity than Mr. Wm. K. Pierce. He has always kept up with and often far in advance of the times, and with keen foresight has readily taken advantage of and embraced all modern ideas for the advancement and progress of whatever he became deeply interested in.

Wm. K. Pierce was married on June 16, 1880, to Miss Eleanor B. Rust, daughter of Stiles M. Rust, of Syracuse. They have three children, two boys and a girl.

DOUGLAS NORVAL GREEN.

THIS branch of the Greene family in America descends from John Greene, who came from England and settled in Rhode Island in 1639. Dr. Henry Green, grandfather of Douglas N., was born in Rhode Island, and moved with his family from Sherburne, N. Y., to Pennsylvania in 1815, and acquired a wide reputation as a physician and public speaker. Norval Douglas Green, son of Dr. Henry, was born in Sherburne, Chenango County, N. Y., Sept. 1, 1808, and died at Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 17, 1901. He held several local offices, being the second Burgess (Mayor) of Providence, which is now part of Scranton, Justice of the Peace, Postmaster and Borough Treasurer. He married, first, Ann Eliza Vaughn, by whom he had six children, all deceased; his second wife was Charlotte, daughter of Captain Albert Felts, of Lackawanna, Pa., who was born December 8, 1810, and died November 14, 1884, and of their three children only Douglas N. is living. Douglas N. Green was born in Hyde Park, Luzerne County (now Scranton, Lackawanna County), Pa., October 8, 1844, and prepared for college at Madison Academy, Waverly, Pa., but being early trained to commercial pursuits, decided to abandon a collegiate education and enter upon a business career. He enlisted in the army, and after the expiration of his term of service, in 1863, he became connected with the coal department of the D., L. & W. R. R. Co. at Scranton, where he remained until April, 1869. Since then he has been identified with the coal interests of the Delaware and Hudson Company. On June 1, 1890, he formed a partnership with Edward J. Millspaugh, of Utica, as Millspaugh & Green, and removed from Scranton, Pa., to Syracuse, N. Y. They are sales agents for the Delaware and Hudson Company's coal throughout a large portion of New York State and part of Canada, with offices at Syracuse, Utica and Rochester. Mr. Green was three times elected without opposition to the City Council of Scranton, served one term as President of the Select Branch, and was a member of the Board of Health of that city for two years. He was married, October 21, 1869, to Miss Emma C., daughter of Joseph J. Posten, of Scranton, and they had three children, one only surviving, Joseph Douglas, born February 3, 1874, and a graduate of Princeton University, class of 1895. Mr. Green is a charter member of Syracuse Chapter Sons of the American Revolution, and was President of the chapter from October, 1897, until October, 1899. He was also a member of the Board of Managers of the Empire State Society S. A. R. for one year. He is a member of the following societies and clubs: Sons of the American Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, Society of Descendants of Colonial Governors, Grand Army of the Republic, Transportation Club of New York City, Fort Schuyler Club of Utica, and the Century, Citizens' and Onondaga Golf clubs, of Syracuse. He is a Director of the Utica Cold Storage and Warehouse Company of Utica, a member of the Executive Committee of Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, a Trustee of the Syracuse Free Dispensary and an elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Syracuse.

CHARLES WELLS WOOD.

MR. CHARLES WELLS WOOD, through his mother, Sylvia Jordan, is descended from the Jordons and Daniels of Connecticut, and the Kittelles, Carrs, Braytons, Fishes, Phillipses, Freeborns, Almys, Tattersalls, Slocums and Greens of Rhode Island.

His father, Reuben Wood, was referred to by a local historian as "the most genial, lovable, whole-hearted, best and favorably known Syracusan in America." His pastime was fishing, in which, through study and observation, he became so expert that he was referred to as an "authority on fish culture," and was chosen to represent the United States in the International Fly Casting Tournament in London, 1881, in which international tournament he won for America many trophies over all competitors.

Mr. Wood was descended from Dr. Samuel Wood, an English physician and philanthropist of Danbury and Norwalk, Conn., and from his grandson, the old colonial, Captain John Wood.

Through his grandmother, Mr. Wood is a direct descendant of the Breeds, the owners of the site on which the battle of Bunker Hill was fought.

Mr. Wood attended Syracuse University, 1880-1882, and Williams College, 1883-1884, securing from Williams the degrees of A.B., 1884, and A.M., 1887. He was President of his class at Syracuse University, 1882, President and Secretary of the Philologian Literary Society, and Secretary of the Adelphic Union at Williams College; Director of the Western and Central New York Association of Williams Alumni, 1890, and President, 1885; Secretary and Treasurer, 1886-1901, of the Williams Alumni Association of Syracuse; Secretary and Treasurer of Central New York Williams Alumni Association, 1901-1902; Secretary and Treasurer Alumni Chapter of Zeta Psi, from 1885; Treasurer of Grand Chapter of Zeta Psi Fraternity, 1888-1889-1890; First Presiding Officer of the first convention of the Good Roads Congress of New York; Treasurer of the New York State Good Roads Association; for three years a Committeeman on Membership of the Chamber of Commerce; a National Good Roads Committeeman, L. A. W.; the Vice-Consul of the State Division L. A. W., 4 years; Secretary Syracuse Chapter Sons of American Revolution, 1900-1901-1902; on the Library Committee University Club; President Syracuse Tennis Association, 1885-1890; member Nominating Committee Williams College Trustees, 1899; member Sons of American Revolution, University Club, Zeta Psi Club, Williams College Association, Beaver River Fishing Club.

CHARLES WALDO HASKINS.

CHARLES WALDO HASKINS, C. P. A., Dean and Professor of Auditing and of the History of Accountancy in the New York University School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance; President of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants; President of the Board of Examiners appointed by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, under the Act to regulate the profession of public accountants, and senior member of the accounting firm of Haskins & Sells, of New York City, Chicago and London, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., January 11, 1852. He received his primary education in private schools, and subsequently entered the Polytechnic Institute, of Brooklyn, where he was graduated in 1867. He served an apprenticeship of five years in the accounting department of the importing house of Frederick Butterfield & Co., in New York City. He then made the tour of Europe, and while abroad spent some years in the schools of Paris. Returning to New York, he entered Wall Street, forming a connection with the banking and brokerage firm of his father, Waldo Emerson Haskins, his intention being to become a member of the New York Stock Exchange. The growing importance of professional accountancy decided him to devote himself to this department of commercial and financial activity; and entering the accounting department of the North River Construction Company, then building the New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railway, he soon had supervision of the construction accounts of that company. Upon the completion of the "West Shore" he became its General Bookkeeper and Auditor of Disbursements; and when the road was absorbed by the "New York Central," in 1886, he entered the profession of public accountancy upon his own responsibility. In the prosecution of his professional work he has held, incidentally, several important administrative offices, among them the Secretaryship of the Manhattan Trust Company, and of the Old Dominion Construction Company; the Comptrollership of the Central of Georgia Railway, of the Ocean Steamship Company, and of the Chesapeake and Western Railroad, and the Receivership of the Augusta Mining and Investment Company. In 1893 Mr. Haskins and his present business partner, Mr. Elijah Watt Sells, were appointed experts under the Joint Commission of the Fifty-third Congress to revise the accounting system of the United States. Senator Proctor, of Vermont, who had spent much time with them in going over the details of their work, declared in the United States Senate, on July 15, 1894, that "these experts are men thoroughly competent, experienced and skillful, and have been extremely careful and conservative in their methods." The methods they suggested were put into immediate operation; their work was officially attested by all of the accounting officers of the Government Departments; and a saving to the Government of more than six hundred thousand dollars a year was effected.

Prior to the adoption of the charter consolidating Greater New York, Mr. Haskins was placed at the head of the committee of experts to examine the accounts of the City of Brooklyn. At the close of the Spanish-American War his firm was selected by the United States authorities to investigate the finances of the City of Havana, and, later, the accounts of the Island of Cuba. The firm also has been several times engaged by the city government of New York to supervise the investigation of irregularities in the various municipal departments, and has had numerous important engagements revising and improving the methods of accounting in a number of corporations, institutions and municipalities. Early in 1901 the Treasury Department of the United States Government engaged the firm to examine and report upon the system of accounts of the Bureau of the Mint, with a view to making a complete revision thereof; and in the same year the City of Chicago awarded contracts to it, first for the investigation of the special assessment accounts of that municipality from the date of the Great Fire of 1871 to March 1st, 1901; and secondly, for the introduction and establishment of a scientific system of keeping these accounts in the future.

The professional accountants of the State of New York having inaugurated a movement which resulted in the passage, in 1896, of an Act to regulate the profession of public accountants, a Board of Examiners was appointed by the Regents, and Mr. Haskins was chosen President of the Board. In the following year the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants was organized, and Mr. Haskins was elected President.

A further agitation on the part of the professional accountants of the State of New York resulted in the foundation, in 1900, of the New York University School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance. Mr. Haskins was called to fill the Chairs of Auditing and History of Accountancy; and upon the organization of the Faculty he was chosen Dean. In 1900, while abroad, Professor Haskins devoted considerable attention to the study of European accountancy, as connected with the higher commercial education; and upon his return he addressed numerous gatherings and conventions of educators and professional accountants on this and cognate themes. He has been frequently mentioned in connection with the nomination for the Comptrollership of the City of New York, an office for which he possesses in an unusual degree all the essential qualifications and many of the popular requisites.

Professor Haskins is an Honorary Member of the Association of American Railway Accounting Officers of the United States. He has taken an active part in the work of organizing a number of patriotic societies, and has been Treasurer-General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is a member also of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, of the Society of Colonial Wars, of the Military Order of Foreign Wars, and of the Manhattan, Democratic, Riding, Country, Westchester, and New York Yacht Clubs of New York; of the Metropolitan Club, of Washington, D. C.; of the Piedmont Club, of Atlanta, Ga., and of the New York Historical Society and the American Historical Association. He is also a member of the Committee on Uniform Municipal Accounting of the National Municipal League; member of the American Economic Association; of the American Academy of Political and Social Science; and of many other societies interested in the moral aspect of accountancy.

WILLIAM CUMMINGS STORY.

WILLIAM CUMMINGS STORY, son of James Monroe and Anna Terry Story, was born in New York City on the second day of January, 1851. His ancestor, William Story, came from England about 1637 to Ispwich (Chebacco), Mass., with his wife, Sarah, daughter of Reginald Forster, whose ancestry is traced through the Forsters, of Northumberland County, England, to Alfred the Great, of England, Charlemagne, and Anacher, Great Forester of Flanders.

Mr. Story is a descendant of Deacon Isaac Cummings, a prominent landowner in Topsfield, Mass., in 1638, also of Ensign Thos. Howlett, one of John Winthrop's twelve associates in the settlement of Ipswich, Mass., in 1633. He served in the Pequod War in 1636-1637, and was first Deputy to the General Court in Boston, Mass., from Topsfield, 1664. Another ancestor, Deacon John Burnham, of the Burnham family, of Hatfield Court, Hertfordshire, England, came in the ship "Angel Gabriel" to Essex, Mass., in 1635; served in the Pequod War, and in 1639 received a grant of land for service.

Mr. Story traces his ancestry also to Captain John Low, Rear Admiral of a fleet of ships which arrived in Massachusetts, 1630, and to John Proctor and Thomas Boreman, of Ipswich, 1635, and Thomas Varney, Boston, 1664.

Mr. Story was in the dry goods commission business in New York City for many years, retiring in 1893. He is a member of the Rockaway Hunting Club. In 1881 he was married to Daisy Allen, granddaughter of Stephen Allen, who was Mayor of New York City in 1821-1823. They have three children—Allen Lawrence, Harold Van Vredenburgh and Sterling Porter.

GEORGE DENNIS BANGS.

NEW YORK CITY.

GEORGE DENNIS BANGS, general manager Pinkerton's National Detective Agency. Born, Chicago, Ill., September 13, 1856. Son of George Henry Bangs and Margaret Kirkpatrick; grandson of Josiah Dennis Bangs and Augusta Brooks; great-grandson of Joseph Bangs and Mary Warner; great^2-grandson of Deacon Joseph Bangs and Desire Sears; great^3-grandson of Allen Bangs and Rebecca Howes.

A descendant of the "Mayflower" pilgrims, Elder Wm. Brewster and Stephen Hopkins, and of Governor Thomas Prence, who came on the "Fortune," the second ship to arrive at Plymouth. His ancestor, Edward Bangs, arrived on the "Anne," the third ship with pilgrims to Plymouth. His wife, Emma Wilder Holmes, is also a descendant of Elder Brewster.

HON. WILLIAM THOMAS WARDWELL.

EX-TREASURER of the Standard Oil Company, was born at Bristol, Rhode Island, February 1, 1827.

Paternal line—Son of William Taylor Wardwell by Mary Hawes.

Grandson of Captain Allen Wardwell by Abigail, daughter of Hon. Josiah Smith of Bristol, a Revolutionary soldier and descendant of Colonel Benjamin Church and Hon. William Brenton, Colonial Governor of Rhode Island. Colonel Church was a son of Captain Richard Church by Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Warren of the "Mayflower."

Great-grandson of "John Wardwell, gent," of Bristol, by Phebe, daughter of Lieutenant Jabez Howland, son of Hon. John Howland by Elizabeth, daughter of John Tilly, all of the "Mayflower."

Great-great-grandson of William Wardwell, son of Uzal, son of William Wardwell or Wardell, who came to Boston in 1633 from Lincolnshire, England, where he was born in 1604, a descendant of a Norman family whose English surname was taken from an old Watch Tower that stood on the northern borders of Westmoreland, where "Watch and Ward" were kept, from whence signals were given to Moothay Beacon on any inroad of the Scotch. Hence Ward All, Wardell and Wardwell.

The Arms of Wardwell, from which our engraving was made, are hereditary from their Norman ancestry.

They were found in a window of Bosworth Church, Leicestershire, England, with twenty-seven other allied and kindred families quartered upon the same escutcheon. The American Wardwells are unquestionably entitled to their use as an illustration of the Crusade Origin of this old Anglo-Norman family.

Maternal line: Mary Hawes was the daughter of Hon. John Hawes, long time Collector of Port of New Bedford, Massachusetts, by Mercy, daughter of Captain Thomas Taber, direct from Hon. Philip Taber of the Colonial Council of Plymouth, whose wife was a daughter of Francis Cooke of the "Mayflower."

Captain John Hawes was the son of Captain Shubael Hawes, Revolutionary soldier, by Elnathan, daughter of Robert Wrightington, a Revolutionary soldier.

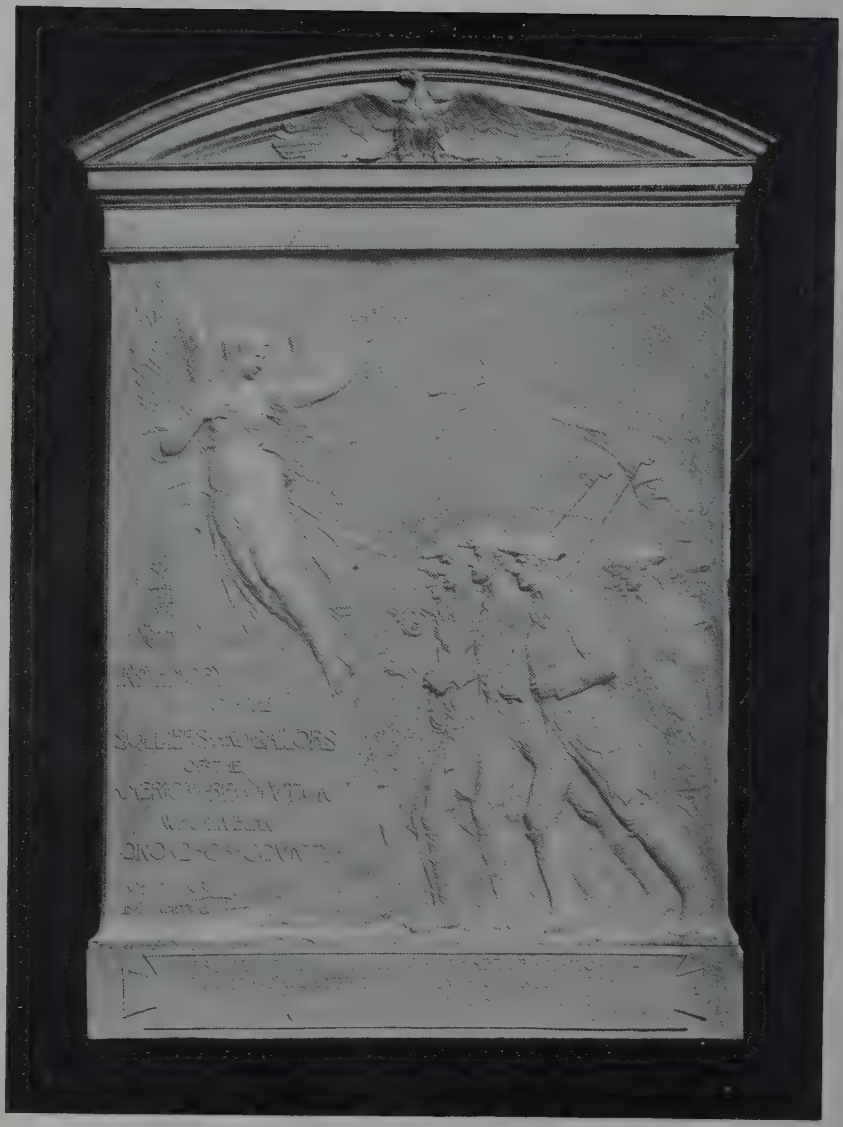
Grandson of Samuel Hawes by Elizabeth, daughter of Lettice Jenny of Plymouth.

Great-grandson of Hon. Benjamin Hawes, Lawyer, of Martha's Vineyard, Massachusetts, by Desire Smith.

Great-great-grandson of John Hawes of Yarmouth by Desire, daughter of Captain John Gorham by Desire Howland, daughter of Hon. John Howland and Elizabeth Tilly of the "Mayflower." Captain Gorham died from disease contracted at the Battle of Swamp Fort, Rhode Island, in King Philip's War.

Great-great-great-grandson of Edmund Hawes of the Knightly family of Hawes, of the reign of Edward III. (1328-1377), who came in the ship "James," 1633, settled at Yarmouth, where he died January 9, 1693. He was Deputy to the Court at Plymouth, and served as Town Clerk of Yarmouth seventeen years.

In the display of Heraldry it is written: "He beareth azure, a fess wavy between three lions passant Or. This is the Coat Armour of John Hawes of London, who draweth his descent from William Hawes of Walsham, of the Willowy, in Suffolk, which William was seized of lands there time of Edward III."



Tablet to be unveiled on the United States Government Building at Syracuse, N. Y., June 17th, 1902, the One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, in memory of the Onondaga County Revolutionary Soldiers and Sailors.

NEW YORK.

EMPIRE STATE SOCIETY.

THE Empire State Society was organized February 11, 1890, originally as the New York State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, but as an incorporation of that name had been made by others than those who wished to form an alliance with the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Society was incorporated, April 8, 1895, as the Empire State Society, S. A. R.

The Society has been fortunate in the number of prominent men who are on its rolls, notably the President of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt; Hon. Robert B. Roosevelt, Hon. Elihu Root, Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, General Horace Porter, General Nelson A. Miles, General Fred. D. Grant, General Thomas Wilson, Charles A. Dana, and many others whose names are well known. It has held many patriotic exercises and done much good work in the preservation of historical relics.

A monument erected at Dobbs Ferry, under the auspices of this Society, to commemorate, did much to awaken others to like deeds.

The preservation of Stony Point on the Hudson, the scene of Mad Anthony Wayne's capture of a British fort at this place, and its acceptance by the State of New York as a public park, was mainly due to the efforts of this Society.

The erection of a tablet at Fort Washington, New York City, was another notable event, and the preservation of the Morris House, Washington's headquarters in New York City, has been its work for the past year.

It has asked the city to purchase this fine old relic of Colonial days, which was built in 1758, and is in an excellent state of preservation, for the purpose of using it as a museum for Colonial and Revolutionary relics. There is sufficient space on the grounds to erect a fireproof building adjoining the old mansion, wherein such a collection could be shown and form a historical center that would draw visitors from all parts of the country.

The Society has presented to the public schools of the city the framed steel engraving of Stuart's Washington; it has published several year books and patriotic addresses. Two congresses of the National Society have been held in the State that were notable gatherings.

Its meetings have been enjoyable affairs, mainly due to the presence of the ladies.

Headquarters have been secured at 239 Broadway, opposite the City Hall Park, where a good reference library can be consulted by its members, and it extends to all compatriots from other State Societies a cordial invitation to visit these rooms when in New York.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

Thomas M. Anderson.

Brigadier-General U. S. A., Major-General Volunteers.

Vice-President General National Society, S. A. R., 1894-5-6-7-8-1900.

THOMAS McARTHUR ANDERSON.

THOMAS McARTHUR ANDERSON, a native of Ohio, a lawyer by profession, entered the military service in April, 1861. He rose from a private of Volunteers to a Major-General of Volunteers, and from a Second Lieutenancy in the Regular Army to a Brigadier-General. In the War of the Rebellion he served in the Army of the Potomac, was twice wounded and twice brevetted. Subsequently he had the usual frontier service. During the Klondike excitement he commanded a district in Alaska. Then he commanded the first expedition to the Philippines, and had a notable correspondence with Aguinaldo. He commanded the land division in the capture of Manila. In the Filipino insurrection he commanded the First Division of the Eighth Army Corps, winning the battles of Santana, San Pedro-Macate and Guadalupe, capturing seven pieces of artillery and nine hundred prisoners. General Anderson organized the joint society of Oregon and Washington of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and was its first President. After the segregation of the two he was retained as President of the Oregon Society until ordered to the Philippines in May, 1898. He was for seven terms Vice-President-General of the National Society. He is a Companion of the Commandery-in-Chief of the Loyal Legion, a G. A. R. and a Thirty-third Degree Mason. He has been for a number of years an occasional contributer to current periodical literature.

OHIO SOCIETY.

THE Society was organized April 22, 1899. The preliminary meeting was held in the office of Governor J. B. Foraker, at the Capitol, Columbus, April 11, 1889. At an adjourned meeting, held April 22d, it was resolved to organize an Ohio Society of the Sons of the Revolution, and the following were elected executive officers:

President, Rev. Wilson R. Parsons, of Worthington.

Treasurer, Henry A. Williams, of Columbus.

Secretary, A. A. Graham, of Columbus.

All residents of Ohio who could trace their genealogy to men who served in the Revolution were invited to become members and to attend an adjourned meeting to be held in Columbus June 4th. Considerable interest was awakened, and the matter was given wide publicity throughout the State by the newspapers.

The annual Congress at Louisville, Ky., April 30, 1890, gave an impetus to the work of recruiting the Society in Ohio, which had now become a branch of the S. A. R. The Rev. W. R. Parsons, having taken the position of secretary expressly for the purpose of pushing the business of organization, entered upon the task of holding meetings in the principal cities of the State, and creating therein local chapters of the State Society. The first meeting was held in Cincinnati, May 28, 1890, and was attended with excellent results. The meeting was held at the Burnett House, and the Rev. Dr. Parsons at this meeting spoke of the objects of the Society. He said that there were in the State 10,000 people who were direct descendants of soldiers of the Revolutionary War. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and efforts were made to secure a large membership for the Ohio Society. The policy thus begun has been pursued, until every part of the State has been covered, with grand results, as can be seen with the membership of over 425 members.

A National Convention has been held at Cleveland, Ohio, and a Congress for the purpose of combining the two Societies, the Sons of the Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution, was held at Cincinnati.

OREGON SOCIETY.

MAINLY through the efforts of General Thomas M. Anderson, U. S. A., the Society was organized June 6, 1891, by about twenty gentlemen of accepted eligibility, meeting in Grand Army Hall, Portland. They adopted a constitution and by-laws, and elected officers; the Society grew rapidly and had many members in the State of Washington, who were formed into a chapter at Seattle. On June 17, 1895, the compatriots residing in Washington feeling the need of a State organization, were demitted from the Oregon Society and formed the Washington Society, with some sixty members. Both of these societies have been very prosperous and have accumulated valuable libraries. Their annual banquets have been successful and have brought the patriotic precepts of our ancestors to the public notice.

116 MEMBERS.

Organized June 6th, 1891. Annual meeting February 22nd, to commemorate Washington's Birthday.

Independence Hall, Philadelphia, Pa.

INDEPENDENCE HALL.

INDEPENDENCE HALL, Philadelphia, comprises three main buildings: A central structure—the State House, with offices adjoining—and two separate buildings, one erected for the City and the other for the County of Philadelphia.

The central building was designed and built by Andrew Hamilton, a barrister of Philadelphia. The two others, the lots for which he procured, and for the erection of which he created a trust, were not built until after the close of the Revolution. The whole together has a frontage on Chestnut street of 396 feet, and was at the time of its completion the largest building for State and municipal purposes in the country.

On the 11th of August, 1732, Mr. Hamilton exhibited a plan and elevation of the house or building—the central building as it now stands.

On the 15th of September, 1735, Mr. Hamilton took his seat as President of the Assembly in the State House, then so far finished as to admit of occupancy by that body.

On the 20th of December, 1735, Mr. Hamilton conveyed to Trustees two lots, one at the corner of Sixth street and one at the corner of Fifth street, for the City and County of Philadelphia, for the erecting upon the same two buildings by the City and County. "The buildings to be of like form, structure and dimensions, one for the use of the City for holding its courts, and one for the use of the County for like purposes." In these last days of his life work, he thus secured one harmonious design for the whole structure as it now stands.

While still in the completion of this work (1741, August 4), Mr. Hamilton's life work ended. At this time the whole main building as it now stands and the wings were externally complete.

In 1741, November 4, the tower was raised with the usual jollities on the occasion. In 1742 the offices were entirely finished.

In 1745 the Assembly room was finally completed.

In 1747 the western chamber on the second floor was finished for the Governor's Council. In 1750 a building was carried up on the tower with a suitable place to hang a bell.

The material of the building is brick, stone, marble and wood. The coignés are Westchester serpentine, faded by age; it is a green stone used now in large quantities. The marble came from quarries near the Schuylkill; it is a blue and white marble; the bricks are of the red clay of Philadelphia.

All these have lasted in a remarkable manner, the marble only being in any measure affected by long exposure to the weather. The roof was shingled. All the rafters were of oak, and came from near the City; the greater part of these remain. The workmen were of various nationalities.

The central building, the State House, is one hundred and seven feet in length and forty-five in width; the first floor is divided into two rooms, each forty feet square with ceiling twenty feet high; these rooms are divided by a hallway twenty feet wide, extending from north to south through the building to a broad stairway which gives access to the second floor; the room on the east side is on the left and the room on the west side is on the right as you enter from Chestnut street; the second floor is divided into one room called the long room, extending one hundred feet on Chestnut street by twenty feet in width, and a west and east room of the same width on the south side of the building; the ceilings of these rooms are sixteen feet in height; the steps of the stairway are six feet in length with a rise of six inches.

The room on the east side first floor is the Declaration Chamber; on the west side, the Supreme Court room of the Province; the long room on the second floor was the banqueting room for colonial entertainments; the east room on this floor was occupied by the Clerks of Assembly, and the west room by the Governor's Council.

The dimensions of these two buildings were the same—and in every particular the external construction in style and material was the same. Each building was fifty feet wide, divided centrally by a doorway, and sixty-five feet eight inches long.

The Congress of the United States occupied the County building from its third session, 6th of December, 1790, until the seat of Government was removed to Washington in 1800; Washington was inaugurated in this building for his second term as President of the United States, March 4, 1793, and John Adams was inaugurated here for the same office March 4, 1797; the Representatives in the congress occupied the lower floor, the Senate occupied the floor of the second story.

The Supreme Court of the United States held its first session on the second floor of the City building, beginning first Monday, 7th February, 1791; John Jay, John Rutledge and Oliver Ellsworth were the Chief Justices during the period of its occupation, which continued until the 15th of August, 1800.

REVOLUTIONARY GUNS

THAT BY ACT OF CONGRESS HAVE BEEN PLACED IN THE CUSTODY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY OF THE S. A. R.

THE War Department having decided to discontinue its use of the "Allegheny Arsenal," located at Pittsburgh, Pa., ordered certain Revolutionary trophies to be transferred to other arsenals. Among these trophies were certain brass cannon, captured at Saratoga and elsewhere, which had probably been here for a hundred years. Very few people were aware that the arsenal contained such things.

The Pennsylvania Society S. A. R. at once took steps to secure the custody of these guns, with the intention of placing them on exhibition in the Museum of the Carnegie Institute in Schenley Park.

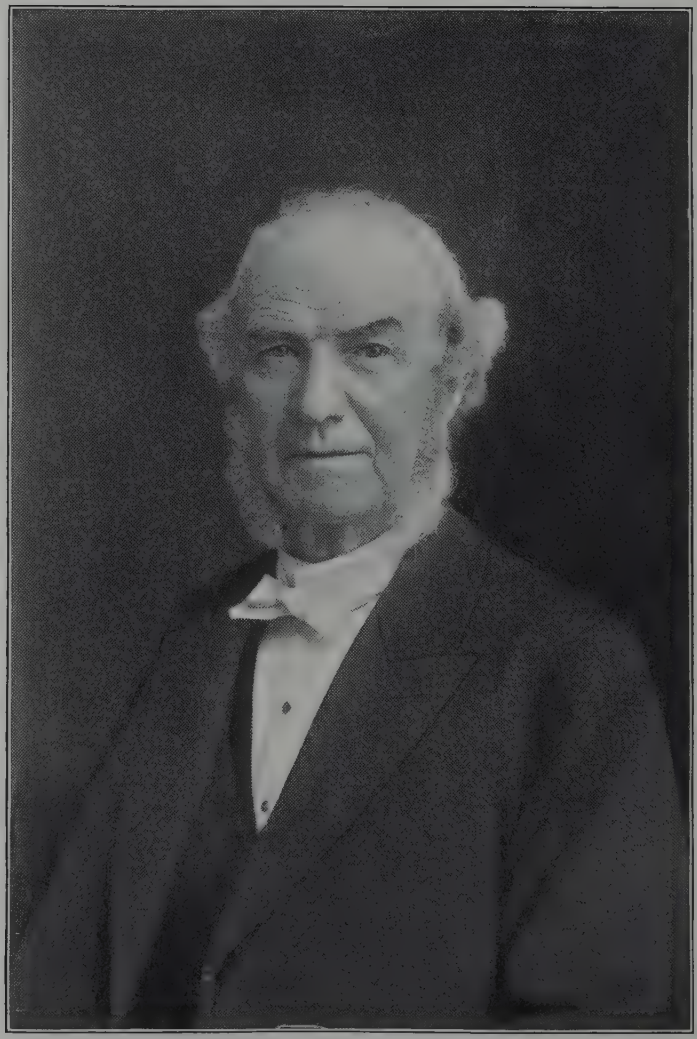
The War Department, having been applied to, replied that it had no authority to let those trophies go out of its custody. Hon. John Dalzell, Member of Congress, then, by his personal influence, secured the unanimous passage by the House of Representatives and Senate of a joint resolution loaning one four-pound bronze gun, French; two three-pound bronze guns, English, and four six-pound bronze guns, English, to the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. This resolution was approved by the President March 12, 1902.

Said guns are more fully described as follows: One three-pounder bronze, inscribed "Surrendered by the Conventions of Saratoga, October 17, 1777" (incised); also "I. & P. Verbruggen-Feccrunt, 1776," in relief around the breech; also, one three-pounder bronze, mate of above, same make—1775; also two six-pounder bronze guns with English crown and "Z" and "^{3}G.R."—all in relief on top; also "W. Bowen Fecit, 1761," in relief around the breech; also, one six-pounder bronze gun, with English "Crown" "^{2}G.R.," all in relief; also "W. Bowen Fecit, 1755," in relief around breech; also one six-pounder bronze gun, no inscription; also one four-pounder bronze gun (French) with "Dariar Freres, Paris," incised on end of the breech.

The six-pounder guns weigh about 600 pounds each. The four-pounders about 500 pounds. The three-pounders about 200 each.

These guns are now deposited with the Carnegie Institute, where thousands will see them weekly.

Revolutionary Guns preserved by Pennsylvania Society, S. A. R.



Col. William Anderson Herron, Deceased.
President Pennsylvania Society, S. A. R.

COL. WILLIAM ANDERSON HERRON.

COLONEL WILLIAM ANDERSON HERRON was President of the Pennsylvania Society Sons of the American Revolution at the time of his death, which occurred May 6, 1900. He was one of the original members of the Society, and his continual and loyal efforts were appreciated by his compatriots. He was born in Pittsburg, Pa., July 7, 1821. The son of John Herron and Claraissa Anderson Herron, and grew up with the city, and was one of its most influential and stable citizens. He was heavily interested in the lumber and coal interests, for which Pittsburg was noted before the steel industry supplanted all else, and was successful in his business. His original ancestors were from the North of Ireland, and of sturdy Scotch descent. They first located in Cumberland Valley, Pa., "Herron's Branch," then came to Pittsburg.

He was educated in the private schools and the Western University at Pittsburg. His first occupation in life was in the coal business on the river, then he entered the glass manufacturing and foundry business. He held the position of clerk of the courts of Allegheny County, Pa., for six years, and was United States pension agent for four years.

He afterward embarked in the real estate business, at which he continued for nearly forty years. In 1876 he associated his sons—R. H. Herron and J. W. Herron—in the firm, and they now carry on the extensive trust left them by their father.

At his death, he was attorney and agent for Mrs. M. E. Schenley, the largest land owner in Pennsylvania. Among the large properties with which he was connected were the Schenley estate, various banks and trust companies; in fact, his interests were varied and extensive. He was a member of the Duquesne Club and the Business Man's Club. He married Louisa Jeannette Hills, October 22, 1843, in Pittsburg, and had seven children, four of whom died. Those living at present are Sallie A., R. H., and J. W. Herron.

His paternal ancestor, who served with valor in the War for Independence, was Captain James Herron, of Colonel Hazen's Pennsylvania Regiment.

His maternal grandparent was William Anderson, an orderly sergeant, in the Pennsylvania Line.

PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY.

COLONEL ALBERT J. LOGAN, PRESIDENT.

THE Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was organized at Pittsburg on November 23, 1893. Its charter members were: Major Howard Morton, Colonel Wm. A. Herron, Captain Alfred E. Hunt, Dr. Harvey B. Plumb, Thomas Stephen Brown, Hon. Joseph D. Weeks, Henry D. Sellers, Mansfield A. Ross, Dr. Hugh Hamilton, Dr. Robert B. Mowry, Wm. H. Milchsach, Geo. H. Bailey, John H. Page, John H. Page, Jr., Benjamin Page, Oliver O. Page, Elisha G. Patterson, William G. Park, Roger Sherman, George M. Laughlin, Henry A. Laughlin, James Laughlin, Jr., Robert C. Hall, John C. Porter, Albert J. Logan—all of whom were at the time members of the District of Columbia Society. Colonel W. A. Herron was the first President.

The progress of the Society was not as great as might be desired, owing to the fact that the early membership was principally made up in the Western part of the State, which, in Revolutionary days, was largely a wilderness and had but little share in the Revolutionary struggle, and is, therefore, barren of historical sites and memories connected with that period, as compared with the Eastern part of Pennsylvania. The Society has, therefore, not had the opportunity of preserving and calling attention to historical landmarks, as many of the other State Societies have had. Recently we have been able to spread our membership to all parts of the State, having Chapters organized in Erie, New Castle and Philadelphia, and we feel that our influence is spreading and that in the near future much better work can be accomplished through the Society than has been possible heretofore. In our membership we have a great many prominent and influential citizens.

A number of our members in the Volunteer Army followed the flag in the war with Spain, the Society being represented by its members in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

In 1901 the Congress of the National Society held its meeting in Pittsburg, the headquarters of our Society. The honor of having this meeting at our headquarters was greatly appreciated by our members and was a great stimulant to the Society. It caused an interest in the work that was far beyond our expectation.

The representatives of the Society have taken part in many public patriotic demonstrations held in the State, joining with the Grand Army of the Republic in the celebration of Flag Day and the delivering of patriotic addresses to the children of the public schools on days set apart for that purpose.

RHODE ISLAND SOCIETY.

THE Rhode Island Society was organized February 1, 1890, at Providence. The first meeting was held by the request of the Managers of the National Society through the efforts of Wilson L. Gill, one of the assistant secretary generals, on January 24, 1890, in the city of Providence. At this meeting the following were present: Dr. Elisha B. Andrews, president of Brown University; Thomas A. Jencks, Amos Perry, Stephen Brownell, J. H. Southwick, Jr., Wilson L. Gill.

Dr. Andrews presided and it was resolved to proceed with the organization of a State Society in Rhode Island. On Saturday, February 1, about forty gentlemen met in the chapel of Brown University at Providence to organize. Dr. Andrews called the meeting to order, and referred to the fact that the Order was being welcomed both in the North and in the South, with the hope that by its operations the late civil strife might be forgotten. The Hon. Lucius P. Deming, of New Haven, Connecticut, the then acting President General of the Sons of the American Revolution, explained the history, purpose, and numerous benefits to be derived from the Society, and strongly advised its establishment. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following officers were elected:

President, Professor Elisha Benjamin Andrews.
Secretary, Theodore F. Tillinghast.
Treasurer, Olney Arnold, second.

The various celebrations are held yearly and the annual banquet on Washington's Birthday. Markers have been placed on over 200 Revolutionary graves, and a committee has been appointed in conjunction with the Sons of the Revolution for the purchase of the battle ground of the Battle of Rhode Island, for the purpose of transforming it into a park.

TENNESSEE SOCIETY.

A SOCIETY of the Sons of the American Revolution was organized in Tennessee, in the city of Nashville, December 2, 1889. The initiative was taken by the Hon. Robert L. Taylor, Governor of the State, who issued a call which was printed in the newspapers of Nashville, November 30, inviting the descendants of the men of the Revolution to meet at the Maxwell House to consider the propriety of organizing a State Society.

In response to the call and upon the day in question a number of gentlemen held a meeting at the Maxwell House. Judge W. S. Fleming was made Chairman and Joseph G. Branch, Secretary.

A resolution was adopted organizing the descendants of the men of the Revolution present into a State Society, and officers were elected as follows:

President—Rev. D. C. Kelley, of Nashville.

Secretary—Joseph G. Branch, of Nashville.

This organization included some of the most prominent and best citizens of the State, but the society failed of recognition by the National Society, though it received our dues and admitted to its Congress Dr. D. C. Kelley as Tennessee's representative. While a few were faithful, general interest waned and the society soon ceased to exist.

On April 21, 1899, a meeting was held in Nashville, for the purpose of reorganizing the Tennessee Society on such a foundation as to make it a credit to our State. There were present at this meeting the following gentlemen: Dr. E. E. Hoss, who was made Chairman; L. R. Eastman, who was made Secretary of the meeting, and A. V. S. Lindsley, General Gates P. Thruston, John T. Lindsley and Goodloe Lindsley. The applications for membership in the Tennessee Society of those present, and those of J. A. Cartwright, C. H. Eastman, John W. Eastman, Roger Eastman, W. E. Metzger, Geo. C. Paine, S. S. Roche, Flournoy Rivers, Dr. J. M. Safford, Dr. D. C. Kelley and Jno. P. Williams, were presented and approved, and the Tennessee Society was organized with the election of the following officers:

President—Dr. E. E. Hoss.

Senior Vice President—General G. P. Thruston.

Vice President—Dr. J. M. Safford.

Secretary and Treasurer—L. R. Eastman.

Registrar—Goodloe Lindsley.

Historian—Flournoy Rivers.

Chaplain—Dr. D. C. Kelley.

The applications of the seventeen members were approved by the Registrar-General, and a charter was received from the President-General recognizing the Tennessee Society.

At the annual meeting in 1900 the same officers were elected, except General G. P. Thruston was elected President and Colonel J. B. Killebrew was elected Vice President. The officers for the year 1901 are:

President—Colonel J. B. Killebrew.

Vice President—Colonel A. S. Colyar.

Vice President—Colonel A. S. Reaves.

Secretary and Treasurer—L. R. Eastman.

Historian—Jno. H. De Witt.

Chaplain—Dr. D. C. Kelley.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

The State Society has increased in membership from 17 at the date of organization to more than 100 members at this date.

On March 12 and October 7 of each year special meetings are held and banquets given to commemorate the anniversaries of the battles of Guilford Court House and Kings Mountain, respectively. The annual meeting is held October 7, to commemorate the anniversary of the battle of Kings Mountain.

A larger percentage of the diplomas and medals of honor given by the National Society to members for service in the war with Spain have been received by members of the Tennessee Society than those of any other State, the number being 22 per cent.

Nearly all of the early pioneers of Tennessee fought either at the battles of Kings Mountain, the Cowpens, or Guilford Court House, the engagements which made Yorktown possible, and many of them were at Yorktown at the surrender of Cornwallis. From June to August, 1780, about 400 Tennesseeans, with General Charles McDowell and his Carolina troops, fought the battles of Cedar Springs and Musgrove's Mills, defeating the British in both battles.

Tennessee has received but a small proportion of her population from foreign immigration, and our white population is almost entirely of Revolutionary stock.

Tennessee is the only State where the early settlers took its territory from populous, warlike, savage Indian tribes, held and settled it in advance of army posts, and without any military aid from the General Government.

It was the first settlement in the United States that formed, according to Theodore Roosevelt, the first really republican government of modern times. This was done at Watauga some time before the battle of Kings Mountain.

L. R. EASTMAN.

TEXAS.

THE Society was organized December 8, 1896. In this State of upward of three million population, covering an immense area, it has been found hard work to get much of a membership together, as little of the Society is known throughout the State.

Its present president, the Hon. Ira H. Evans, of Austin, Texas, was very much interested in the publication of the National Register, and advocated its adoption at the last Congress. He has made a contribution of a copy to each of the public libraries of the State of Texas, and this will, no doubt, largely augment the membership of his State. There is room in this large State for local chapters, and if each locality could form such organizations the membership would be what Texas should have.

Texas had its own Revolution and its own Declaration of Independence in 1836, which was caused by emulating the deeds of their ancestors who fought at Lexington and Yorktown, and the membership exemplify grandly the deeds of their ancestors in the far West.

VERMONT SOCIETY.

By President Julius J. Estey.

THE Vermont Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was organized at the Capital of the State April 2, 1889. The founders of the Society were: William Seward Webb, Theodore Safford Peck, George Grenville Benedict, Edward Alonzo Chittenden, Charles Spooner Forbes, William Paul Dillingham, Levi K. Fuller, Howard Fremont Hill and William Allen Chapin.

From this small beginning the Society has had a substantial growth each successive year, until now it has a membership of over three hundred. The first President of the Society was Edward A. Chittenden of St. Albans. His successors have been as follows: Redfield Proctor of Proctor, Levi K. Fuller of Brattleboro, Zophar M. Mansur of Newport, William P. Dillingham of Waterbury, Edward C. Smith of St. Albans, John G. McCullough of Bennington, Urban A. Woodbury of Burlington, Daniel W. Robinson of Burlington and Robert J. Kimball of Randolph.

Julius J. Estey of Brattleboro is now serving his second year as President. The office of Secretary has been held since the organization of the Society by Charles Spooner Forbes of St. Albans, and the office of Registrar has been held for the same period by Henry Leonard Stillson of Bennington. Milton Kendall Paine of Windsor was the first Treasurer, who held office until his death in 1896, when he was succeeded by the present Treasurer, Clarence L. Smith of Burlington. The Society has had some notable anniversary meetings and banquets. Every alternate annual meeting is held at Montpelier, during the session of the Legislature, when some distinguished speakers address the members of the Society. During the past year the Society has undertaken the work of locating the graves of Revolutionary soldiers buried in Vermont, for the purpose of compiling and publishing a roll and marking the graves. During the year 1901 the graves of some 250 Revolutionary soldiers were located within the borders of the State.

The present officers of the Society are as follows: President, Julius J. Estey of Brattleboro; Vice-President, Fletcher D. Proctor of Proctor; Secretary, Charles Spooner Forbes of St. Albans; Treasurer, Clarence L. Smith of Burlington; Registrar, Henry L. Stillson of Bennington; Historian, George Grenville Benedict of Burlington; Chaplain, Rev. M. L. Severance of Bennington; Managers, Hiram Carleton of Montpelier, Frank L. Greene of St. Albans, John W. Tittcomb of St. Johnsbury, William E. Hawks of Bennington, Frederick E. Burgess of Burlington, H. Edward Dyer of Rutland, Frank E. Alfred of Newport and George H. Gorham of Bellows Falls; Delegates to National Congress, Julius J. Estey of Brattleboro, Redfield Proctor of Proctor, William P. Dillingham of Waterbury, Charles S. Forbes of St. Albans and C. H. Thompson of Brattleboro.

The Vermont Society at its last meeting voted to purchase a sufficient number of copies of the National Register to supply each Public Library in Vermont with a copy.

VIRGINIA.

THE Society was organized July 7, 1899, at Richmond. The State of Virginia, distinguished as the birthplace of a long line of famous Americans and associated with relics of the Revolution, was a proper surrounding for an organization of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The movement was set on foot in the city of Washington in February, 1890. The Congressional delegation from Virginia was invited to take part in the organization of the Society. On February 10, several of the Congressmen from Virginia held a conference at the Capitol in the city of Washington. This resulted in an understanding that the persons present should constitute themselves a committee to organize a Society in Virginia, and to proceed with the work without delay. Upon February 28 the committee reassembled at the Capitol, a constitution and by-laws were adopted, and the following officers were elected:

President, Hon. William Wirt Henry, of Richmond, a grandson of Patrick Henry.
Vice-presidents, General William H. F. Lee, M. C., of Burke's Station, and Colonel George Washington Ball, of Alexandria, the latter the nearest male relative of George Washington then living.
Secretary, Thomas Nelson Page, of Richmond.
Treasurer, Joseph Poryall, of Richmond.
Registrar, J. William Jones, of Richmond.

In the month of June following the National Society delegated Lieutenant J. C. Cresap, U. S. N., of Annapolis, Secretary-General of the Order, to proceed to Richmond and reorganize the Society. Professor G. Brown Goode, Ph.D., of the Smithsonian Institution, Registrar of the District of Columbia Society, was invited to co-operate. These gentlemen visited the city of Richmond in June and the reorganization took place July 7, 1890.

WASHINGTON STATE SOCIETY.

THE Washington State Society is among the youngest of the State organizations, having perfected its organization in 1895. Largely through the efforts of Colonel, now General, Thomas M. Anderson, U. S. A., and for many years Vice President-General of the National Society, there was organized in the city of Portland, Ore., June 6, 1891, the Oregon and Washington Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, with about twenty members.

The first chapter in Washington was organized in Spokane by Colonel J. Kennedy Stout and others February 1, 1894, and on September 25, 1894, at the suggestion of Compatriot Arthur S. Gibbs, of Seattle, the organization of Seattle Chapter No. 2 was perfected, while Alexander Hamilton Chapter No. 3 was formed at Tacoma, October 9, 1895, by Compatriots Arthur Newton Thompson and Benjamin L. Harvey.

With the organization of these chapters it was deemed wise to perfect the formation of a State Society, and a meeting was called for that purpose at Seattle on June 25, 1895, to which about twenty-five members responded, and at which time plans were perfected, constitution and by-laws prepared, and application made to the National Society for charter and recognition, which being granted, thirty-one members of the old Oregon and Washington Society were demitted to the new society and the charter list closed September 7, 1895, with fifty-nine compatriots. The following were elected:

President—Colonel Simon W. Scott, Seattle.
First Vice President—Colonel J. Kennedy Stout, Spokane.
Second Vice President—Hon. George Hunt Walker, Tacoma.
Secretary—Mr. Arthur S. Gibbs, Seattle.
Treasurer—Mr. Irving Tomlinson Cole, Seattle.
Registrar—Dr. E. Weldon Young, Seattle.
Historian—Mr. Wm. F. Babcock, Seattle.
Chaplain—Rev. Arthur Newton Thompson, Tacoma.

Board of Managers—Hon. Cornelius H. Hanford, Seattle; Hon. Jas. H. S. Bartholomew, Monte Cristo; Mr. Augustus V. Bell, Seattle; Mr. Benjamin D. Crocker, Walla Walla.

Delegates to National Congress—Hon. John F. Gowey, Olympia; Ex-Governor Lyman E. Knapp, Seattle. Alternates—Hon. Millard T. Hartson, Spokane; Hon. Herbert Stanton Griggs, Tacoma.

The following year Compatriot Scott was re-elected President, and at the third annual meeting Colonel J. Kennedy Stout was elected.

Dr. E. Weldon Young was elected President at the fourth annual meeting and re-elected last year. The present officers of the Society are:

President—Dr. E. Weldon Young, Seattle.
First Vice President—Hon. Overton Gentry Ellis, Tacoma.
Second Vice President—Hon. John Lawrence Wilson, Spokane.
Secretary—Hon. Chas. S. Gleason, Seattle.
Treasurer—Mr. Augustus V. Bell, Seattle.
Registrar—Mr. Ell. S. Smith, Seattle.
Assistant Registrar—Mr. Wallace Burges Beals, Seattle.
Historian—Mr. Wm. F. Babcock, Seattle.
Chaplain—Rev. Edwin Mortimer Randall, Jr. Seattle.

National Register Sons of the American Revolution.

The society now numbers 141 members and has lost 7 members by death, and demitted 6 to other societies.

The Washington Society has not only commemorated several Revolutionary anniversaries by appropriate meetings and services, but in 1896 offered first and second cash prizes of $25 and $10 each to the pupils in each of the high schools and colleges in the State for the best composition on "The Principles and Lessons of the American Revolution."

The following year they presented to each high school in the State of Washington a fine copy of Gilbert Stuart's Athenæum portrait of George Washington, together with a facsimile of the Declaration of Independence, both suitably framed, and this year, 1902, the society has again inaugurated a competition between all pupils of the high schools in Seattle, Spokane and Tacoma, giving cash prizes of $35 and $15 for the best essay on "Dramatic Events in the War of the Revolution."

In 1899 the Registrar, Secretary and Historian were instructed to prepare, edit and publish the beautiful society register recently issued, one of the best of the various year-books yet published.

The society has also acquired by purchase and donation about sixty volumes of State archives and other books giving record of ancestral service. The names of two living sons are shown on the records of this society, Mr. Wm. Pike, now deceased, and Mr. John N. Wallingford, a resident of Seattle.

The prospects for the future of the society are bright, and the membership seem determined to spare no efforts to quicken the patriotic conscience of the citizenship of the Pacific Northwest.

WISCONSIN SOCIETY.

ON December 27, 1889, the Governor of Wisconsin, at the request of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, appointed a committee of Wisconsin gentlemen to organize a branch of that society in Wisconsin. The organizing meeting was held at the Plankington House, Milwaukee, January 14, 1890. On February 25, 1890, a permanent organization was effected, a constitution adopted, and officers elected to serve until the annual meeting. The date of the annual meeting was fixed for May 29, this being the date of the admission of the State of Wisconsin into the American Union. On June 25, 1891, the headquarters of the society were permanently established at Milwaukee. The society, especially in recent years, has been regular in holding its meetings, and the interest of the managers in the monthly assemblies of the Board of Managers has been sustained.

The society has been largely instrumental in the celebration of Flag Day on every June 14. Prizes have for several years been offered to members of the graduating class in Wisconsin High Schools for essays upon themes connected with the American Revolution.

Joint meetings have occasionally been held with the Daughters of the American Revolution, at which speakers from abroad have delivered addresses and the patriotic and historic spirit of the members of both organizations has been stimulated.

This society is now in a flourishing condition and is striving to do better work with each coming year.

CHARLES KINGSBURY MILLER.

CHARLES KINGSBURY MILLER is a lineal descendant of Joris Janssen de Raplejé, a Huguenot, who was a great-grandson of Colonel Gaspard Colét de Raplejé, an officer in the French army in the service of Francis I. and Henry II., until the year 1548, when King Henry deprived him of his commission, because he joined the Huguenots, and he then fled to Holland. His son, Joris Janssen, born in Amsterdam, came to America in the ship "Unity," in 1623. First settled at Fort Orange (Albany), New York, and three years later moved near the present site of the United States Navy Yard, Brooklyn, where, as one of the first white settlers, he built and inhabited the first loghouse on Long Island. Mr. Miller is sixth in lineal descent from Christopher Almy, of Rhode Island, whose father, William, of the County of Kent, England, first settled at Lynn, Mass., in 1629, and in Rhode Island in 1635. Christopher was elected Governor of Rhode Island in February, 1690, but "declined the honor for reasons satisfactory to the Assembly."

Charles Kingsbury Miller, of Chicago, Ill., was born April 15, 1850, at Lodi, N. Y., where his father for a number of years was a general dry goods merchant. In 1858 the family moved to Illinois, and Mr. Miller received his education in the public schools of Chicago. In 1877 he established the newspaper advertising agency of Charles K. Miller & Co., from which he retired some years later. He is a member of the Union League Club, Chicago. One of the vice-presidents of the Raplee and Rappleyé Family Association, New York State. A member of the Executive Committee of the American Flag Association, and of the Flag Committee of the National Society Sons of the American Revolution, chairman of the Flag Committees of the Illinois S. A. R. Society, and Society of Colonial Wars, in the State of Illinois.

Mr. Miller has labored energetically and continuously since December, 1894, to secure flag legislation. He has obtained from President Roosevelt, and the former Presidents of the United States, Grover Cleveland, Benjamin Harrison, and William McKinley, and ex-Vice-Presidents of the United States, Adlai E. Stevenson and Levi P. Morton, and President Sanford B. Dole, of Hawaii, favorable indorsements for a national flag law, and also letters of outspoken support in advocacy of flag legislation from a number of the most distinguished statesmen, officers of the army and navy, and professional men of our country. Mr. Miller has written and published a number of flag pamphlets, which have been widely circulated. He has done extensive work in gathering authentic information, written articles for the press, and aroused public interest to promote the cause of flag legislation. Committees have been organized by patriotic and military associations, and the work of developing public sentiment carried on, till it culminated in the organization of "The American Flag Association," February 17, 1898, in New York City.

At the present time twenty States, representing over one-half of the entire population of the Union, have enacted flag legislation, and it would be little less than unpatriotic to doubt that, in the near future, the Congress of the United States will enact a flag law.

Member of the Flag Committee, National Society, S. A. R.

C. W. Raymond.

Judge U. S. District Court.

JUDGE CHARLES W. RAYMOND.

JUDGE CHARLES W. RAYMOND was born at Dubuque, Iowa, the son of Captain William M. and Mary E. Raymond. His father, while Captain of Company E, Fifty-second Indiana Volunteer Infantry, lost his life at the Battle of Nashville. Young Charles being left without a father or an estate, was by the mother put upon a farm in Woodford County, Illinois, when he was twelve years of age, under an agreement that he should work for his board and clothing until he was twenty-one years of age, when a team and farming utensils should be given him, with which to begin the struggle of life. After serving an apprenticeship of four years the young man became desirous of obtaining an education, and followed his mother to Onarga, Illinois, where he entered the public schools. While here during vacation he worked as tow boy in the flax mill, earning enough money with which to finish his common school education. He then taught school and studied higher branches at Grand Prairie Seminary at Onarga. He then removed to Watseka, the county seat, and obtained work in the County Clerk's Office at $1.25 per day. He then became Court Bailiff, Deputy County Clerk, Deputy Circuit Clerk, Master in Chancery, and County Judge, holding court for a time in Chicago for Judge Carter.

He and President McKinley were warm friends and acquaintances from the fall of 1885. When the campaign for delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis was on, the President asked him to stand as one of the delegates from the Twelfth Congressional District. He at once took part in the campaign, and was one of the leaders in the fight for McKinley instructions at the Illinois State Convention in the spring of 1896. At that time he was President of the Republican League of Illinois, and contributed much to advance the interests of McKinley in that State. As soon as Mr. McKinley became President, he tendered to Mr. Raymond the position of United States Civil Service Commissioner, which had formerly been filled by Theodore Roosevelt. This position Mr. Raymond declined, desiring to devote his entire time to the practice of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1886, and became one of the leading lawyers in Illinois, and was named by President McKinley as Judge of the United States Court for Indian Territory in June, 1901, and at once entered upon his duties, with official headquarters at Muskogee, Ind. Ter. His name was sent to the Senate by President Roosevelt, and at once confirmed.

Mr. Raymond has for the last twenty years taken a leading part in the political campaign in Illinois, and made speeches for the Republican party in nearly every county of his State. He is a great friend of Congressman Cannon, in whose district he resides.

He is a member of the Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and was one of the delegates to the National Convention in New York City in 1900, and also at Pittsburg in 1901. He is a member of the Loyal Legion, and belongs to the Illinois Commandery.

WILLIAM WATTS JONES WARREN.

WILLIAM WATTS JONES WARREN was born in Lyme, Conn., April 13, 1844. The son of Dr. W. W. J. and Maria E. (Peck). The name of Warren seems to have existed as far back as the time of Pepin and Charlemagne, and was borne by the French nobility previous to the Norman Conquest of England. The first of the name in England was William, first Earl of Warren, who rendered such valuable service to the Conqueror at Hastings. That nobleman chose for his seat the beautiful village of Lewis, in the County of Essex, and was afterward made Earl of Warren and Surrey. The American ancestor was John Warren, who arrived in New England in 1630, settling in Watertown, Mass. Moses Warren, the first, was commissioned a captain in the Revolutionary War by Governor Jonathan Trumbull in 1777. Moses Warren, the second, great-grandfather of the subject of this sketch, was made a deputy land surveyor of Connecticut in 1796, and assisted General Moses Cleveland in laying out the city of Cleveland, Ohio. The towns of Warren, Trumbull County, and Euclid, Ohio, were named in his honor. Mr. Warren's mother, Maria E. Peck, was a daughter of Ezra Peck, granddaughter of Joseph Peck, who served as second lieutenant under Captain Van Duersan and General Waterbury's Brigade during the Revolution, and a descendant of William Peck, one of the founders of the New Haven Colony.

The Warren family is also descended from Richard Warren, the Mayflower pilgrim. Mr. Warren is a descendant, on the maternal side, of Captain Benjamin Church, the conqueror of King Philip.

Mr. Warren completed his education at the Lyme Academy. He resided upon a farm until he was eighteen years old, when he began his business career in New York City. In 1867, he became associated with John S. Hulin in the stationery business, two years later engaging in manufacturing, upon a limited scale, as a member of the firm of Stewart, Haring & Warren, at present known as Stewart, Warren & Co., still doing business at 29 Howard Street, New York City, where from a small beginning his concern has advanced to be one of the leading manufacturing stationers of the metropolis. Mr. Warren is a veteran of the Twenty-third Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y. He is connected with the Freemasons, Royal Arcanum, New England Society, Society of Mayflower Descendants, and where he is best known as one of the Executive Committee of the Sons of the American Revolution, and an earnest worker of the Empire State Society, S. A. R.

He married, in 1868, Georgiana Cock, of New York City. They have four children—Amy Halliday, wife of William S. Titus, of New York City; Myron Perry, student of Yale class of '96; Willis Ogden, student of Yale class of '99, and Helen Evangeline Warren.

CHARLES HENRY KING HALSEY.

CHARLES HENRY KING HALSEY was born July 2, 1850, in New York City. Son of the Rev. Charles Henry, an Episcopal clergyman, and Eliza Gracie King. Mr. Halsey was educated at Elizabeth, N. J. His first occupation was in a broker's office, and from that to the National City Bank from 1873 to 1882. Then to the National City Bank of Elizabeth as paying teller. He was later made vice-president of the First National Bank November, 1901, and secretary and treasurer of the Union County Trust Company February, 1902, when that company bought out the First National Bank. Mr. Halsey was a member of the City Council 1881 to 1883, during which the important measure was passed "The Settlement of the City of Elizabeth's Debt." Among the large companies with which Mr. Halsey is affiliated are, as director and officer of the First National Bank, the Elizabeth Ice Company, Union County Trust Company, and Citizens' Building and Loan Association, and others. He is a member of the Elizabeth Athletic Club, Elizabeth Club, Royal Arcanum, Provident Union, and Foresters. He was married October, 1885, to Helen Kettle, of Elizabeth, and his children are Alfred Dwight Halsey, Eliza Gracie Halsey, and Helen Isabella Halsey.

VINCENT MAURICE MUNIER.

VINCENT MAURICE MUNIER, D.D.S., was born December 2, 1866, in New York City. The son of Charles Vincent Munier and Lora DeCamp. His father was engaged in the banking business. His original ancestors came from France and Holland, a number of whom are buried in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery at Tarrytown. He was educated in the public schools of New York City, and went into the dry goods commission business, from whence he entered the New York College of Dentistry in 1884. He has practised dental surgery for the past seventeen years, and is very proficient in his profession. He is a member of the Dental Society and for many years of the Alumni Association of the New York College of Dentistry. He is a very earnest worker, and a member of the Board of Managers of the Empire State Society, Sons of the American Revolution. Also of the Baptist Social Union and of the American Historic and Scenic Preservation Society. He married Mildred Cushman, a descendant of Richard Cushman, one of the Mayflower passengers, September, 1898.
